FREE STATERS DO NEW MURDER

Five Soldiers May be Death Victims as Result of Irish Crime Outbreak

DUBLIN, Mar. 22.—(By A. P.)—State repression from the mutiny within the Free State army are growing louder.

The latest development at Queens-town in which a detachment of British soldiers on leave fired upon by men in Free State uniforms created a sensation in the capital and the Cosgrave immediately telegraphed a denunciation of the "cowardly crime" to the British prime minister.

One British soldier was killed and 21 were wounded, four so seriously that they are not expected to survive. The party, of about 50 men, consisted of 10 British men's wives and children, had just returned to Queens-town from Spike Island, the British naval base, when a big motor car drove up to the pier and the four uniformed occupants opened fire with a machine gun.

The car then drove away. Free State troops were sent in search of the assassins, who are reported to have shouted "No No-Brits" as they drove away. General Toole, one of the officers at the head of the Free State army, is dead, and is still at large.

Owen O'Duffy, Free State commander in chief, immediately sent staff officers to Queens-town for an investigation.

LONDON WALKS IN NEW STRIKE ON TRAMWAYS

First Day of Trouble Finds Public Suffering Wide Inconvenience

LONDON, Mar. 22.—(By A. P.)—Tramway and omnibus services shut down today as a result of a strike of employees for higher wages and a sympathetic walk out by the omnibus men.

The street car drivers were hundreds of night workers employed by newspapers, hotels and central railway who depend on the trams to reach their homes, as railroads here shut down soon after midnight for some hours.

The biggest tramway system attended in that run by the London County Council, which has 145 miles of track, but several private omnibus systems, were also involved, and these are spread over a wide area, serving districts far beyond the total London area.

About 3,500 omnibuses are tied up, depriving not only London itself but many rural and semi-rural areas of cheap transportation. At many of the bus routes are many thousands, especially in the city.

It is estimated that the trams and buses together carry nearly 7,000,000 persons daily, and although this total includes many streetcars and others who have alternative railway routes, who depend absolutely on the cheap street car system for their daily road travel and must otherwise walk, there is a possibility that many of the employees may strike in sympathy.

NEW PROPOSAL HERE TALKED

Question of Religious Education in Schools is Being Discussed

Corning parents are deeply interested in the movement now being discussed for the promotion of week-day religious education among the children of the Schools of District 9, recently brought before the Board of Education through a petition signed by a large group of the clergy and prominent laymen of several of the city's churches.

The matter is a topic of general discussion wherever groups of people gather and many questions arise regarding the system as it is carried out in other cities in co-operation with the schools and its possible application in Corning.

One of the most common inquiries is "Just what does co-operation mean with the public schools for religious instruction and does this co-operation mean that the school shall be responsible for or teach religion?" By this co-operation is meant that the public school authorities shall assign to the pupils, upon the definite request of the child's parents or guardian, a portion of the school time to be given up to religious instruction at a time and place that is agreed upon by the parent and the school officials. This cooperation does not mean that the school is responsible for the teaching of religion. Instead it makes religious instruction course entirely apart from the school.

The school is not asked to recognize religion or to have any part in its teaching. Schools are simply asked to co-operate with the parent in assigning a part of the child's time, preferably taken from the study periods, to secure the added advantage of religious instruction. Religious instructors feel that neither the public school nor the home is adequately equipped to teach religion, which, however, must be a very important part of the school child's curriculum if the highest moral standards are to be upheld in the community.

Another common argument that is brought up is why this training could not be offered after school on Saturdays and Sundays. The answer to this question is given out in the bulletin on religious education by the Episcopal Church authorities "stating that to have a real and compelling force in education and must be considered by him as a part of his business, and that the child's respect and approval of his parents and of his own children to grow up with that religious instruction is of little value. It is put on with their Sunday clothes and continues." "The time after school on Saturdays has come to be recognized by the child as his own recreation time. Whatever taken from this play period and deprives him of something, naturally arouses its opposition to it.

"To relegate religious education to this time entirely puts the whole vital subject upon a wrong basis in the eyes of the child whose right attitude toward it is of paramount importance. Experience is convincing that an added interest in religious instruction during vacation, that is time outside of school hours."

ACCUMULATE QUICKLY NEW YORK.—Raymond Tapia, 22 years old, fell six stories from the roof of a building and died, only to be placed under arrest as an "aerial burglar." Tapia alighted on a pile of coal in a yard, a circumstance which undoubtedly saved his life, the police said. He suffered internal injuries and a fractured leg. Asked how he came to the roof, Tapia told the police two men had lured him there and then attempted to rob him. He was knocked off, he added, when he put up a fight. Detectives searched his rooms, however, and claim to have recovered several thousand dollars worth of furs and gems stolen in recent robberies. They said they believed Tapia entered apartment by swimming on a rope from roof, lowering himself to opened windows.

LAMBERT STARS AGAIN WITH 7 BASKETS IN EXTRA PERIOD TILT

Pope Lands Four While Scott Registers Two; Big Center Made as Best Pivot Man in Tournament

The Painted Post High School triumphed again last night in the sectional basketball tournament in Rochester when the basketball team defeated the Williamson High school five 25-24 in an extra period game. Lambert was the star for the locals.

By winning last night the Post again qualified for the finals this afternoon with Charlotte which also won last night. This game will decide the winner to meet other sectional winners at Syracuse.

The Rochester team, which defeated Charlotte High will play Painted Post High on the Monroe Junior High school gym court this afternoon to determine which team will represent this section in the state basketball tournament. On the same court last night the Rochester team defeated Cuba High 31 to 17, and Painted Post eliminated Williamson High, Wayne County champion, after an extra period, 23 to 24.

As may be judged by the score, the Williamson team was not as well as a juggler. Certain it is ball game could stand two such contests in one evening.

Ballerger Steves One of the Painted Post players until Harry Ballinger, husky right guard, took the game in hand and sank a long shot with less than half a minute to go, that same shot putting the game in Post's hands. Although Painted Post won the time that Harry took his chance has always been the van, the margin in their favor was never more than four points.

At the end of the first quarter Painted Post led 8 to 7. Williamson was tied 8 to 7. At the end of the second quarter the score was 12 to 11. At the three-quarter mark, it was 16 to 13 and at full time it was 22 all, thanks to the following:

The FAN AWAKES
There's a look in his eye that you've seen before, the look that means that the other man or to meet the other man's rush. And this is a fairly common fault in most games.

"The trouble with most golfers," says Jim Barnes, "is lack of balance. The moment they swing the clubs, they lose their balance. You can't hit anything unless you are set to go through with the swing. You can't apply power on an unbalanced footing."

THE RICKETY FOUNDATION
A fast-stepping, clever hit-and-duck boxer is rarely a hard hitter. He is shifting so constantly that he is rarely able to set himself for one solid walk.

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 22.—After a wild first inning in which they corralled five runs, the Philadelphia Americans, playing the Howard County team at the Montgomery, Ala. training camp yesterday, found split opposition in the winning "Hans" Stevens who is signed to report to the Boston Red Sox in June. PENNS IS LEADING Cornell placed four, Columbia three, Pennsylvania and Princeton one each.

OUT OF THE GAME
CHICAGO, Mar. 22.—Arnold Chase, Chicago National center, will not play until the season opens. Surgeons yesterday found a chipper bone in his ankle and wrenched muscles of the leg, received in a practice game at the Madison Island camp last Monday. The Cubs yesterday won an exhibition game from the Vernon Tigers 3 to 2.

THE DIVIDING LINE
The dividing line between success and failure, in the mind of the public, is usually a mile wide. Upon the line, in actual measurement, it is often less than half an inch, often completely dependent upon a raw turn of luck. Victory and defeat are treated as if they were direct opposites. It is frequently true that a man who is a little better than the other or the better team loses the final score, as a comparative test, means nothing.

CADETS DEFEAT THE SHAMROCKS

Hang up 38-15 Score and Now Look for Game for City Championship

Last evening at St. Mary's Gym, St. Mary's Cadets emphatically defeated the Shamrocks by a score of 38 to 15.

The Cadets completely outplayed the Shamrocks in all parts of the game. O'Brian of the Cadets, alone, had enough points to defeat the Shamrocks, with nine baskets to his credit.

For the Shamrocks, Joe McGuire was the shining light. This is a young left hander that gives both arch and ankle valuable support, light or loose, as the individual case, and affords protection to the arch of the foot, and to the ankle as well. These protectors should be worn in all practices. When the ankles have been definitely injured or weakened, then they should be strapped with adhesive as will be described later. In individual cases, local orthopedic braces are valuable. However, the elastic ankle bandage is the most costly preferred, and the most satisfactory one for stock or routine purposes. Surgeon's adhesive tape bandage is the most valuable support for badly weakened ankles, but taping takes lots of time, quite a bit of skill in application, and is expensive.

That to the care of the foot and ankle, the knees are of most importance, and should be well protected. Serious injury to the knee may be incurred from falls on the hard floor. Infections, often serious and incapacitating, frequently follow "floor" bruising and abrasions, resulting from falls. The common used elastic knee bandage, or support, does not afford sufficient protection. It is mainly useful as a support to the joint and as a guard. The best knee protector is the padded knee. Regardless of variety, the chief point aimed at, protection, should be secured. The type I have last recommended has given me the greatest satisfaction. TRACK MEET IS ON TODAY

Cornell and Yale Clashing at Ithaca in First Indoor Track Contest

ITHACA, Mar. 22.—Inter-collegiate track meets, including two championships, will meet in the Cornell Drill hall today, when the Yale and Cornell teams will engage in an indoor meet. It will be the first time that Yale has met Cornell in an indoor track contest, as well as being the first time that Cornell has met Yale in an indoor track contest.

The Cornell Athletic association is already making plans for the entertainment of the visiting athletes and for accommodating the large crowd which will turn up for this engagement.

Since the inauguration of indoor track meets at Ithaca, it is possible a few years ago with the opening of the state drill hall that Cornell athletes have come to regard their indoor track meets as interesting and exciting of the whole indoor season. The Yale meet in Ithaca is a new mark of interest in such events here not only because it will be the first Cornell-Yale track meet made the trip to Ithaca but also because the Blue has won the indoor track meet in the past.

Close competition in nearly every event in the program is assured. In a few Yale has outstanding stars whose names are well known to Cornell fans. The Blue, there is the pole vault where Schuler of Yale has set a brilliant record. He tied for first at the recent indoor inter-collegiate meet at 12 feet 8 inches and last year won both the Harvard and Princeton meets.

The broad jump Yale will feature Comins, inter-collegiate champion, who has set a record of 44 feet 11 inches of the record, at the inter-collegiate championship meet last spring. Comins is also a second man in the 100-yard dash, and has made his mark in the 220 and 440.

YICHTERS GO GAMING
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 22.—After a wild first inning in which they corralled five runs, the Philadelphia Americans, playing the Howard County team at the Montgomery, Ala. training camp yesterday, found split opposition in the winning "Hans" Stevens who is signed to report to the Boston Red Sox in June. The score was 2 to 2 in favor of the Athletics.

PENNS IS LEADING
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Mar. 22.—The elimination bout of the inter-collegiate wrestling tournament held today at Yale rallied Penn State led by player seven in the semi-finals or one in each of the seven scheduled in the final round. Cornell placed four, Columbia three, Pennsylvania and Princeton one each.

OUT OF THE GAME
CHICAGO, Mar. 22.—Arnold Chase, Chicago National center, will not play until the season opens. Surgeons yesterday found a chipper bone in his ankle and wrenched muscles of the leg, received in a practice game at the Madison Island camp last Monday. The Cubs yesterday won an exhibition game from the Vernon Tigers 3 to 2.

SNOW COMES EAST
OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 22.—The snowstorm that has blanketed Oklahoma under one of the thickest coats in its history, is centered over the eastern part of the state. Snow reported in Oklahoma City reaches for a total snowfall in a 24 hour period for one month were broken, with a fall of 23.14 inches.

THE DIVIDING LINE
The dividing line between success and failure, in the mind of the public, is usually a mile wide. Upon the line, in actual measurement, it is often less than half an inch, often completely dependent upon a raw turn of luck. Victory and defeat are treated as if they were direct opposites. It is frequently true that a man who is a little better than the other or the better team loses the final score, as a comparative test, means nothing.

My Basketball Methods

By Dr. Walter E. Mesenow, University of Wisconsin

Some basketball coaches do not permit the use of ankle braces or support whatever except to make the ankle definitely sprained or weakened ankles. I prefer to make the ankle brace of a piece of unbleached muslin about two inches wide and three feet long wrapped in a square eight around the instep and then around the ankle, such as the track men apply them. This is a good left hander that gives both arch and ankle valuable support, light or loose, as the individual case, and affords protection to the arch of the foot, and to the ankle as well. These protectors should be worn in all practices. When the ankles have been definitely injured or weakened, then they should be strapped with adhesive as will be described later. In individual cases, local orthopedic braces are valuable. However, the elastic ankle bandage is the most costly preferred, and the most satisfactory one for stock or routine purposes. Surgeon's adhesive tape bandage is the most valuable support for badly weakened ankles, but taping takes lots of time, quite a bit of skill in application, and is expensive.

That to the care of the foot and ankle, the knees are of most importance, and should be well protected. Serious injury to the knee may be incurred from falls on the hard floor. POSTERS MAY MEET ELMIRA NEW CHAMPION

Should They Win Tonight They Would Clash with Queen City Basketers

Should the Painted Post quintet win its game with Charlotte today in the western district basketball championship at Elmira, it would meet the Elmira Free Academy team at 8 p.m. in the final round of the DeWitt High School at Norwich last evening for the championship and consolation games.

The Elmira team, which won a score of 36 to 12 and by virtue of this victory the Elmira team will represent the western district in the national championship at Syracuse on March 29.

The Elmira team will play the game which it held through out. In the second quarter, however, a critical moment was found its stride and shot baskets found this rapidly that it range up 12 points over the DeWitt team. The half ended with the Elmira team leading the game the two teams played over more even terms as the Elmira team, which was the victor in their lead and confined their activities to keeping the ball out of DeWitt territory.

SLATTERY GETS KO. OVER NICK VOLPETTIE

SYRACUSE, Mar. 22.—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo's sensational 7-foot-4-inch boxer, added another victory to his list of knockout victims here last night when he knocked out Nick Volpettie, Wilkes-Barre fighter, in the second minute of the second round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Volpettie took the count after being knocked down three times, twice in the first round and once in the second. He never had a chance against the Buffalo boy and landed hardly one or two punches. Art Warden, of Buffalo, won from Frankie Anderson in a six-round bout. Joe Hall, Buffalo negro, won from Young Hogan, of Birmingham, in the first round.

Lockwood, for N. H. S., was leading score with four points, while Harick threw three points. Ewars and Harrison each netted two points. For Horrell, King, McGrooso and King each gathered six points.

DEMPSEY WILL PROMOTE BOUT

Will Lend Financial Aid in Carpenter-Gibbons Match

CHICAGO, Mar. 22.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, has become the financial backer of Floyd Fitzsimmons, owner of home arenas in Michigan City, Ind., and Benton Harbor, Mich., to assist Fitzsimmons in staging a 10-round bout between Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul and Georges Carpentier, ring king of France, on July 4.

Fitzsimmons confirmed reports today that he was negotiating for a match between Gibbons and the Frenchman either at Benton Harbor or Michigan City, and said that he hopes to close it next Tuesday, when Jack Curley, representing Carpentier, is scheduled to sign for the Frenchman. Ed Stansbury, manager of Gibbons, expressed the terms.

Fitzsimmons said that Dempsey had assured him of financial support. The Michigan City bowl is one of the best open-air arenas and has been the scene of several important contests before Fitzsimmons' name involved in financial difficulties.

Lynch, apparently by a shell of the fighter who won, lost and then retained the 113 pound crown within a few years, was a season boxer from start to finish. His exhibition was one of the poorest any titleholder has given in many years and the latest was a disappointment as a championship contest.

A wiry, relentless left jab to the chin, varied with a short hook to the ribs and a smashing right cross to the jaw that tottered the champion several times, were the battle for Goldstein. The challenger was the aggressor every round.

REPORTS ON JAP RELIEF

Contributors Interested in Expenditure for Japanese Aid

Contributors to the $6,000 fund which Corning offered through the American Red Cross for the relief of Japanese earthquake victims will have a share in the permanent health work which will be done in Japan in future years through the new hospital which will be built as a permanent memorial to the assistance which America gave the Japanese sufferers.

A complete account of the plans for the new hospital is given in this week's issue of The Red Cross Courier. The Japanese government has agreed to contribute the greater share of the suffering has been alleviated, plans to use $1,500,000 of the remainder of the American Red Cross Japanese Relief Fund for the erection of the hospital with a similar amount to be placed in an endowment fund for its permanent maintenance.

Before the earthquake there were 3,000 charity beds available in the hospitals of Tokyo. Now there are only 500 and the memorial hospital will provide 200 more.

The article in the Red Cross Courier outlines the great relief work which the American people carried on through the agency of the Red Cross. The administration of American relief by the efficient Japanese organization saved American Red Cross the heavy expense of transporting aid maintaining large units of relief personnel in Japan. In a few weeks the American people had contributed to the relief fund a total of more than $1,000,000. This made it possible to provide the suffering Japanese with vast quantities of food, clothing, medicines and housing material which met the emergent needs of the situation.

At the present time, since the immediate needs of the people have been met the government feels that it could make no better use of the remainder of the American relief fund than by the erection of a hospital which will stand always as a monument to American generosity. With sickness so prevalent in Japan and the facilities for caring for the people so limited, the hospital will meet a long-felt need.

Report on Expenditures Exclusive of the $2,000,000 which will be used by the Japanese government for the erection of the American Red Cross memorial hospital in Tokyo, the total expenditures and commitments for Japanese relief on Feb. 22, 1924, amounted to $5,192,626.22. The purchases included $8,000 tons of rice, 1,850 tons of flour, 14,500 cases of milk, 42,000 cases and 200 barrels of fish, 60 tons of hardback, 5 tons of drugs, 2 portable hospital buildings, 11,000-600 feet of lumber, 5,000,000 bundles of shingles, 7 1/2 tons of galvanized iron and 200 tarpaulins. The clothing and bedding shipments consisted of 1,510,000 pieces, 100,000 pairs of shoes and 120,000 pairs of other footwear. Thirty thousand safety razor sets and 300,000 pieces of enamelware also were shipped. In addition to purchased supplies, 15,000 tin cans were donated in aid by Red Cross Chapter Volunteers. The Junior Red Cross gladdened the hearts of thousands of Japanese children by the preparation and shipment of large consignments of New Year toys.

WATCH "QUACK" NURSERYMEN

State College Expert Urges Farmers to Buy Stock from Established Firm

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Mar. 22.—"Buy your nursery stock from a firm with an established place of business and a record for fair dealing, or from an agent whom you know is thoroughly honest and reliable," is the statement of Paul Thayer, extension specialist in fruit at the Pennsylvania State College. "If you do not know where to secure good nursery stock, consult your county agent, who can suggest a list of reliable nurseries."

Recently a man from the western part of Pennsylvania reported that a nursery firm was selling trees which were budded instead of grafted and which were immune to San Jose scale and other pests. "The first year, harvest and sell the crop the third year, and return one-half of the profits to the growers," "Beware of a firm that makes such statements and promises," Thayer warned today. "It makes no difference whether the trees are budded or grafted as far as vigor and longevity are concerned. No trees are immune to San Jose scale or other orchard pests. The claim of harvesting and marketing the crop is ludicrous because one small boy with a half-bushel basket on his arm could harvest the crop the third year without emptying the basket."

Police Have Some Evidence That "Bobbed-hair Beauty" is Identified

NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—Numerous victims of the bobbed hair beauty who was arrested in court today to determine whether the woman was committed by the woman captured last night after an alleged attempt to hold up a Manhattan tailor and who later was identified by the police as the wife of Albert Guimaraes, friend of Dorothy Keenan, who was murdered last spring.

Guimaraes is now serving a three year sentence in the Federal prison at Atlanta for aiding the mails to defraud in a brokerage scheme. An expensive sable coat worn by the woman when she was arrested last night was compared by the police with the description of that stolen from the apartment of Miss Keenan the day she was released.

Police are searching the city for a man companion who escaped while the woman was being arrested. In a struggle with Charles Bernstein, proprietor of the tailor shop, the man freed himself and fled to the street, leaving his overcoat behind. A burglar's "sawney" was found in one of his pockets.

The police also captured a stolen corset in which the man and woman had driven to the tailor shop. The woman prisoner was tentatively charged with attempted grand larceny of a bolt of cloth from the tailor shop and possession of a stolen automobile. After being held for several hours, she was released on $1,000 bail.

You'll Get a New Spring Hat for Easter, Yet You Might Save That Money

Spring demands new Millinery—but not especially for its utility. Last fall's hat would serve for a covering. Curtains add nothing to the utility of a window, yet we insist upon having them.

In the same way your own personal printed stationery will carry no more pen and ink messages than a plain sheet of paper. But the latter is as out of date as yesterday's newspaper or last fall's hat.

The discriminating letter writer has her own personal printed stationery. Its fastidious appearance indicates instantly the individuality of the writer. The impression it conveys to the recipient is worth many times its small extra cost.

The Cost of Being Prepared It takes many thousands of dollars worth of equipment—buildings, machinery, wire and pipe—to furnish electricity to the people of Corning and surrounding towns. When you turn a switch all this equipment is working for you. As people move into the territory and new businesses develop to operate, your company must be able to furnish an increased amount of electricity. Its facilities must always be large enough to keep ahead of the demand. Your grocer or butcher carries a certain stock of goods. If new families move into the neighborhood he can increase that stock overnight. When your electric company wants to increase its output, it must build a new plant or enlarge an old one. This can't be done in a moment. It requires many months and sometimes years of work in advance. This is the answer to the question "why are electric Companies doing so much building?" We must be prepared to furnish all the fuel and light you want, so that the conveniences you have become so accustomed to, will be ready for you at any time. CORNING LIGHT & POWER CORP.

The Awakening Public Sentiment is Now Forming But Sudden in Expression For years, the sentiment of insurance buyers has been to carry as little insurance as would offer the absolutely essential protection that they must have. Experience, however, is a great teacher. Insurance buyers are now learning that unless protection is adequate it is poor protection, and as a consequence, public sentiment is expressing itself in more and more insurance. Each one of us has special insurance requirements and there is a particular policy that suits those requirements. May we help you in the selection? C. THREE WOMEN ARE RELEASED

Defendants Who Aided in Joel Summer Case are Given Suspended Sentences

After being held in the Bath jail for the past 10 days pending the imposition of sentence, Loretta LaDuke, Nellie Palmer and Beatrice Landis, the three girls who were arrested in connection with the cleanup of immoral conditions there which helped the police materially in the arrest and conviction of Joel Summer and his associates, the former who is now serving a jail sentence for keeping a disorderly house, since their arrested affidavits have been served against other places in this city which it is believed will lead to further developments in the future.

Before imposing sentence this morning Judge Wheeler asked District Attorney Cheney if he had any recommendations to make concerning the disposition of the girls. He stated that the three women had aided to a great extent in the effort to rid the city of two undesirable places, pointing out that the cases had hinged on the testimony of the women. Without their help, he said, the results obtained would have been impossible.

Before discharging the prisoners Judge Wheeler stated that when they first pleaded guilty he had in mind a heavy fine and a jail sentence as a punishment for their offense but that in view of the fact that they had been honest and frank in their many admissions, the fine would be omitted and the jail sentence suspended. He suggested to the women that they take up their residence in some town where they are not known and secure honest employment.

"There is still one case pending as a result of the cleanup during the past two weeks, the charges against Mrs. Lillian Holiday, of 71 East Market street, who is being detained at the Bath jail on charges with abduction.
