SENATE COMMITTEE'S WORLD COURT PLAN BEFORE CONGRESS

Senator Lodge Withdraws His Scheme Before Vote; Adhesion to Permanent Court is Endorsed

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., May 24.—(AP)—The market shows signs of soon making rally

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Edification of the United States to the permanent court of international arbitration is proposed by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The resolution adopted by the committee follows, as proposed by Senator Pepper, Republican, of Pennsylvania.

The committee action brings the world court technically before the Senate for the first time, but there is little hope in any quarter of a vote being taken.

The vote on the Pepper plan was 6 to 6, all the Republicans in the Senate voting for it, except Senator John J. Quinn, of California, who was recorded in favor, and the Democrats, present in opposition.

The proposal is that Congress pass an entirely new court, with jurisdiction over the entire world, to settle disputes between nations.

The plan approved by the committee recommends adoption of the Pepper plan as follows:

For adoption: Lodge, Borah, Brandeis, Moses, McCormick, Smith, and McMillan; against: Quinn, Robinson, Underwood and Walsh of Montana; Democrats.

Specific reservation is made also in the resolution with regard to the creation of the Monroe doctrine.

When the committee report was formally presented in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the committee, gave notice that there would be a minority report.

ONCE COAL MINER'S LAD, NOW ABLE ORATORThis is the story of a 11-year-old boy who furiously read a Bible in the coal mines.It is the story of a youth who read philosophy on a railroad track as boss of a section gang.Today many call him the great orator in Ohio, and tell of his stirring oratory.That is why persons motor to a wayside church, which has stood for 50 years in Cleveland, Ohio, to hear Rev. Robert Tipton.At 11 he toiled long hours underground, and his life in hisspare moments just because he was "Religiously inclined."

GOT WHAT HE DIDN'T WANT.

Among his neighbors in Hamburg, Carl Sternheim was known as a covetous, greedy man with a highly developed knack for getting the best end of a trade. Sternheim died last week. The day following the funeral he was buried in a box like a tombstone was placed on his grave. It read: "Here lies C. S.
He wanted everything excepting this."

FAILURES AT FORTY

At the President's Day luncheon given by the Rotary Club of New York City, 120 members testified that at forty they were nonentities in the business world and had not begun their success. Each man represented a different type of business, and the most popular belief was that the man who had not begun his success was to be about $50,000. In response to a questionnaire, the presidents wrote brief business biographies. Four men born in this town succeeded to one born in the New York, the biographies disclosed.Ways and means of getting on in the world were notably different—60 per cent of the executives began as salesmen, 15 per cent as farmers, some were bank messengers, farm hands, grocery clerks, telegraph operators, and bakers; helpers—one was a cabin boy on a sailing ship, one had got his first job in a factory or factory. Most of the men, 50,000, however, were between 45 and 49, and 45 per cent had an income of $1,000 or more.
But an impressive number later managed to find time and means for university training. Only one man in ten was supported and educated by his parents.Not all those who had received for success, but those that were given showed a wide range of selection—"constant industry," "never work too hard," "do anything that is not cut off,"—the suggestion of the general variety.This focus of human experience points to the conspicuous success that may be won after forty. Perhaps the added猛男 were in poor physical condition. Or the man may stand as fresh testimonial that at thirty a man suspects himself a fool, knows it at forty, and reforms his plan of life. But when one has been a failure, he is likely to mark the quick, and the dead are not likely to mistake Dame Opportunity for a hook-a-boat.—

TO THE EDITOR

Clothes And Morality

To the Editor:

Sir:—There are a few groups of people, who by man like F. W.
Packer of Syracuse, N. Y., who are identified as atheist. These men spend their lives investigating and studying animal and plant life, environment, heredity, anatomy, etc.
They are believers in the theory of evolution.
They see beauty in life in death and in everything about them.
They are sincere believers in the doctrines of Christ and receive from the teachings a divine inspiration that carries them on to one of these groups the writer belongs to.Most of us have read "Robinson Crusoe" and know how he survived, then shunned and finally companionship after he was shipwrecked on that desert island.
A great many of us are modern Crusoes marooned in city life, and without these groups, this Modem civilization provides for the first two, the third we have to seek for until we find, and we usually try to select one of the opportunities. This desire for companionship is part of our animal nature. It is based on biological factors and can be classified under the subject of animal behavior. Because of man's animal nature, it is necessary to place some metric scale for the benefit of society. Some of these are beneficial some detrimental, others nonsensical.Why criticize women's clothes if they put them on, the amount, the quality, the transparency, etc.? In savage countries every body pays attention to clothes—to without them is natural and convenient. The savage mind has not time to dwell on such trivial matters.
The Chinese, Japanese, and Danes, etc., are in agreement with the theory. It is the position of the Bush Terminal. A push can pajama sale in front of the night shirt brigade. James K.
Hackett is out east. So am I for that matter.I am a great Mellon, and I am

APPEAL HEARD IN WILL CASE

Son of John S. Sullivan Takes Action Before Appellate Division

An appeal in the Sullivan will contest, the trial of which was held in Surrogate's Court last Fall and resulted in a decision by Surrogate E. C. Smith and a jury that John S. Sullivan was incompetent at the time of making his will, and that the will should be set aside. The case was heard by the Appellate Division of Supreme Court in Rochester yesterday. Attorney H. A. Hemmings of this village was the defendant and his son, Elmer D. Sullivan, a son of the deceased and Attorney E. E. Cole, of Bath, was the proponent. Leroy Clark of Potsdam, who is named as executor in the will.

The case which was tried in the Fall was brought to the court by the son who will be his father's executor upon his death. The son brought up for probate the will which cut off the son without a cent and which left the $20,000 estate to three nieces recently. Father, Henry and family were in Court. Paul P. Sunday, Mrs. Kate Williams left Wednesday for Ithaca. The case was sustained at the time of making his will just a few days before his death. The objection was sustained at the trial and an appeal was taken by the executors of the will. Should the will be upheld, the son will inherit one-half of the estate.

ADIRONDACKS HAS HAD TOO MUCH RAIN LATELY

SARANAC LAKE, May 24.—The entire Adirondack mountain region is suffering from too much rain. As a result of nearly continuous showers and steady rains during the last week, conditions in some sections of the mountains are becoming alarming.

Streams are still in full flood, many being far over their banks. Dirt highways are almost impassable with mud and some of the bridges have been washed away.

Farmers are worried about getting in their crops as many of the lowland farms are under water and much of the land is too wet to work.

Last year at this time the Adirondacks were suffering from one of the worst floods on record, during which many serious forest fires occurred.
