CHICAGO, June 14.—(By A. P.)—General Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice president of the United States, was welcomed here today by a large gathering of friends and citizens. The general maintained his smiling but characteristic attitude of refusing to make a statement about his nomination, saying that he has something worthwhile to say.

The general returned from Marquette college, Ohio, of which he is a graduate of the class of 1889. Besides Mrs. Dawes, he was accompanied by his children, Mrs. R. Lloyd of Chicago, and Harry C. Butler, a business man of Dallas, Texas.

The general's home coming was as colorful as though he had come direct from the Cleveland nominating convention which he had just recently evaded. It was a gala occasion and combined with the national flag day he found the homecoming of the nation's first public buildings as though the display was exclusively in his honor.

Many of the flags actually were in his honor for his friends, and particularly for his neighbors. In Evanston, had planned a series of public buildings as though the display was exclusively in his honor.

The general's arrival at 9 a. m. was unexpected and only a few commuters at the station. These did not include his relatives, as it had been announced he would arrive at 10 a. m. Instead of an outpouring of citizens that had planned to shout their acclaim at 10 o'clock, only a few, including newspaper reporters, were at the station, and the general was compelled to wait for his own automobile. But he was not disappointed for he does not particularly like to be mobbed.

Incidentally this is the first time Symington ever has been a candidate for office. His name never has appeared on any of the party's tickets.

At the station he would not talk of the vice presidential nomination, but he was not disappointed for he does not particularly like to be mobbed.

Just when that will be, is not known.

At the station the general planned to go to his bank and attend to his business as usual. Later he was expected to go to the Evanston home and spend the remainder of the day in quiet.

COOLIDGE ACTS TO RAISE PAY

WASHINGTON, June 14.—President Coolidge today ordered that the salary of the 480,000 government employees be increased 10 percent to $10,000 a year, effective July 1.

The measure was taken in the closing minutes of Congress. The President's action not only will increase the salaries of government employees but will prevent a cut of $20 a month in salaries which faced the government because of the failure of the bill.

President Coolidge issued the order after a conference with Chairman Madden of the House Appropriations committee and Director of the Budget, Charles D. Ickes, pointed out that since the measure was the intent of Congress that the salaries be increased.

As called for in the classification act of 1923, any extra appropriation necessary to carry out the measure would be provided immediately upon the completion of Congress in December.

The action follows the result of the fiscal problems facing the administration. The result of the failure of two important appropriation bills.

Claims 1924 Brides Are 'Not so Pretty' and Has 'His Theory' on Subject

NEW YORK, June 14.—Modern hurried life is etching lines in the faces of this year's June brides, according to James Cannon, clerk of the Marriage License Bureau, through whose hands prospective brides passed at the rate of one a minute yesterday morning.

"Not so good," said Cannon of this year's crop. "I miss the last year when the girls were as pretty as the proverbial June roses. The girls' makeup is irrepressible—but this is a fact we're living in."

Whether the slightly shopworn look of present brides is responsible or not, that fact remains that on June 7, 1923, 500 more licenses were issued than there have been so far this June.

Sixty per cent of the women applied and were married.

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., June 14.—At least 25 persons died and probably many more in a terrific cloudburst that early today wiped out Carvers Bluff and Hunter, near here.

Incomplete telephone reports from nearby points said the two towns had been wiped out. Roads have been washed out and the telephone lines are all torn.

Telephone reports state that 12 are dead at Carvers Bluff and at least ten at Hunter.

All communication lines are down to Garden and Hampton, Tenn., which appeared to be in the storm area.

No word has been received from Fish Springs and Butler, Tenn., road-sized villages believed to be in the center of the devastation area. The cloudburst came as a climax to a day of heavy intermittent rains swelling streams already raging torrents and sweeping everything before them.

Concrete bridges were tossed aside in the highways and the Appalachian division of the Southern Railway is reported badly damaged between Fish Springs and Mountain City, Tenn.

"The sixty-eighth Congress has adjourned after voting down a resolution providing that the House and Senate should reassemble after the national conventions, and to give immediate consideration to measures providing for relief of agriculture."

"The other prisoners are Walter McComb, his wife, Paul Wade and James Mahoney. The police had to lead them down the door to enter the house."

Wade, who said he recently came here from Tulsa, Okla., was found hiding in a bedroom.

Mahoney was apprehended after a search of the house. He entered the house without seeing the detectives who had concealed themselves in the house.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Five men and a woman now in custody, one of them wounded five times, were declared today by Chief Morgan A. Collins to have been involved in the daring hold-up of a Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul train which was looted of valuable mail Thursday night.

The chief declared that some of the robbers had been identified, that the arrest of others was expected and that part of the loot soon would be recovered.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 14.—R. W. Cunliffe, city chemist, announced today that "gas bombs" used by the robbers who held up the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train at Roundout, Ill., contained formaldehyde.

The man gave his name as J. H. Wayne and said he had been shot by a woman near Hammond, Ind. He said he was Miss Margaret Ray. He also said he was wounded by a bootlegger.

The finding of the bills and of a blood-stained automobile crashed in the neighborhood where Wayne was found added to the police suspicion of his story.

TWO CLASSES PLAN DINNER

Junior and Seniors of the Northside High School Establish Precedent

Plans are being made by the members of the Junior and Senior classes of the Northside High School to hold a large banquet at the Methodist dining hall on June 20.

Through Supt. A. M. Hlodgett it has been possible to get Dr. Frederick Lent, president of Elmira College, to be the main speaker. This will be the first banquet of this kind the classes have ever held, outside of smaller parties which were held during the school year.

As is it such a large undertaking for the students themselves to carry on an affair of this kind, and as it is so near Bereas, the plans were left in the hands of Supt. Hlodgett and Mrs. H. M. Maltby. A committee consisting of mothers of the students who volunteered their services, and who will assist Miss Maltby are: Mrs. Theodore Bannister, Mrs. George Harrison, Mrs. Herbert Thrall, Mrs. Frederick J. Silas, Mrs. La Grange and Mrs. Myron G. Barlick.

Overheard on the Campus

"Now take this fellow Masterman," said the first college man, "He's about as handsome as a mud fence. But look at him!—he gets by like a race horse, he's a great favorite on the campus, and the lucky dog is in the best fraternity. How come?"

"Simple enough," answered the second college man. "When he came here he was a total stranger. But he didn't go unnoticed. He knew how to wear good clothes, and he always looked his best. He looked pretty good to the girls, at any rate, because he was rushed by three of 'em. Say, he wouldn't have reached first base if it hadn't been for his clothes. They gave him his start and he had enough pep to follow it through."

Every day the matter of personal appearance is becoming more and more important in business and social life. Many men have got started as a result of being well dressed. Many more keep going for the same reason. Clothes count.

GERANIUMS STOLEN FROM FIRE STATION FLOWER BED

Someone certainly needed flowers pretty badly when he would deliberately steal the plants from the flower bed at the rear of the Station No. 2 upon which the firemen have expended such a great amount of time and energy.

In an effort to beautify this particular bit of city property, Thursday night, four large geraniums were stolen from the flower bed practically destroying the attractiveness of one of the beds.

Hardly a pleasant thing to look forward to—still they will come as surely as one week follows another, if you continue to do your own washing.

Then why not try our service—everything washed sweet and clean and flat-ironed. The rest of the bundle returned ready to iron. And 3 years more of real living to you.

Friday the 13th Fails to Mar Class Day Activities, of Seniors At the Academy

Although it was Friday the 13th, the jinx in no way marred class day of the Senior Class at the Corning Free Academy yesterday. In opening President Gray introduced Capt. Sherman Howe, who exhibited the silver cup given to the C. F. A. by the Rotary Club for high school winning the largest number of points in the inter-school meet today at Quaker Park. Sweaters for the boys of the class were awarded, and a "C" in some major sport during their senior year, were presented to Eliza Gray, John Suffer, Thomas Hillman, Joseph McManis, Clayton Frawley and Harold Leachman.

In behalf of the Senior Class Miss Elvira Smith presented Miss Laura M. Meredith, a faculty advisor with a $20 gold piece as an appreciation of the valuable services rendered in the activities of the class.

The principle feature of the class day program was the court scene. In a much excited seat, sat the learned judge John Suffer. The attorney for the prosecution was the Hon. Eliza Gray, a lawyer of great repute and for the defense the famous Walter Murphy. The jurors examined and accepted were: James Murphy, who gave his occupation as a professional slacker, rope walker; Agnes Tabaney, typist; Margaret McCarty, running a gasoline service station; Florence Eick, a chauffeur; Helen Moore, professional basketball player; Celia Duerlein, fat lady in a circus; Esther Killgrew, a barber; Edwina Henson, bus driver; Elvira Smith was accepted after she assured Attorney Gray that she had no interest in Corning Building Company; Helen Cartmell was discharged for being easy on the court and Louise O'Brien released on account of being too young.

There were four minor trials before the major case was taken up. The first was the State against Jerome Dwight for speeding. When the judge heard the facts that he was driving a Henry he declared that it was impossible to travel 15 miles an hour in a Ford.

Exhibit C, Miss Craft's class room. No one could have taken the part of Miss Crafts more cleverly than did Miss Beatrice Burt. Mildred Williams, Eleanor Gray and Clayton Frawley made up the members of the class.

Exhibit D, Miss Allard's Class. In this class Dorothy Wreth acted the part of Miss Allard without a flaw. Helen Cartmell, Helen McManis, Gladys Kretschmar and Orville Eiler were in the class.

In the non-support case, "Empty Orbits during the Lyceum Course" was tried. The testimony of Nathan Wiershman was rejected. The testimony of witness Joseph McManis sustained.

The last charge was alienation of affections. There were two exhibits. First Miss Hopmug's class room with Gertrude Cunningham acting the part of Miss Hopmug. Those making up the class were Margaret McMillen, Eleanor Gray and Marie Louie.

Second—The disorderly conduct of some of the teachers while promenadeing the streets. It was an amusing exhibit and all did their parts admirably. Helen Hanley represented Miss Dollar, Harriet McCabe, Miss Benedict; Dorothy Wreth, Miss Allard and Madeleine Schneider, Miss Meredith.

Judge Suffer placed the question before the court of whether the divorce was granted or not granted. All members of the jury "flipped" a coin and responded in unison "granted."

The last will and testament read by Florence Louie follows in part: We the class of 1924 of the Corning Free Academy of the County of Steuben and State of New York, being of sound mind and memory do make, publish and declare this our last will and testament in the manner following, that is to say:

"First—We direct that all of our just and unjust debts as well as our funeral expenses be paid by our dearly beloved school mates, the members of the Junior Class.

Second—We give, devise and bequeath also real, residue and remainder of our estate, both real and unreal, personal and non-personal (except that to be otherwise taken care of in the following parts of this our last will and testament) to the classes of '25, '26 and '27. To the school we give the privilege of graduating from the said Corning Free Academy.

To the Sophomores, our sister class we bequeath; the right but never-the-less he said that he would sentence him to 10 years in the State Prison for not being "greenish." Miss Estelle McCarty who represented the Freshmen was declared guilty and sentenced to a minimum of three years and maximum of five years in high school. Intermission followed during which time the seniors sang songs and gave a "dumb show" performance.

"Mickey" McMahon, an ambassador of the Most August King of Spades, was escorted down the aisle hidden under a canopy carried by the King's attendants, John Koenig, Leonard Somers, Edwin VanDusen and Robert Hallahan. William Sutherland chanting "The Lord's Prayer" in a low, solemn voice heralded their coming.

The foreign visitors headed the president, a beautiful bouquet of Corning's home grown vegetables which was made up of beets, onions and radishes. A large box was also presented and requested to be opened before the audience. Judging from the many boxes and wrappers that was concealed in the big box and that the joke was yet to be unpacked President Gray discontinued looking further to the disappointment of the Junior, because the Seniors did not get the "joke" that would appear.

Miss Alice Suffer in behalf of the Junior Class presented the Senior Class with a large basket of pink roses which was very beautiful and appreciated. The court was then called to order for the major trial. The Senior Class used the Corning Free Academy for divorce. Before evidence was submitted the history of the class of 1924 was read.

On resuming the case Eliza Gray, prosecuting attorney, brought forth three charges against the "Non Support" and third "Alienation of Affection." To prove charge of cruelty he gave the following exhibits. Exhibit A, Mr. Thompson's class. Cascoo Harland portrayed cleverly by the part of Mr. Thompson. The members of the class were Frances Moran, Elizabeth Deuridin and Clayton Morrow.

Exhibit B, Coach Cramer's Class. Jack Lagerborn took the part of Cramer to perfection. The members of this class were William O'Neil, Frank Rice, Thomas Hillman and Cleland Barker.

Exhibit C, Miss Craft's class room. No one could have taken the part of Miss Crafts more cleverly than did Miss Beatrice Burt. Mildred Williams, Eleanor Gray and Clayton Frawley made up the members of the class.

Exhibit D, Miss Allard's Class. In this class Dorothy Wreth acted the part of Miss Allard without a flaw. Helen Cartmell, Helen McManis, Gladys Kretschmar and Orville Eiler were in the class.

In the non-support case, "Empty Orbits during the Lyceum Course" was tried. The testimony of Nathan Wiershman was rejected. The testimony of witness Joseph McManis sustained.

To the school we give the privilege of graduating from the said Corning Free Academy.

To the Sophomores, our sister class we bequeath; the right to hold a Junior "prom" provided that it be duly chaperoned and shall hold away no later than 3 o'clock.

"In the personal bequests we do give and devise the following generously contributed by various members of the Senior Class: Frank Rice bequeaths to Rumpers Weller the ambition pills given him by last year's Seniors; Claire Davis bequeaths his continuous line of smiles and metaphors and high sounding words to "Kona"; Stuart; Jack Lagerborn leaves his "Arrow-collar" handkerchiefs to "Buffy" Johnson; "Bud" Gray bequeaths his many dimes to "Bill" Sutherland.

The members of the faculty we bequeath the following: To Mr. Severn, a ten cent bag of pennies to Mr. Hopmug, a pair of rubber heels; to Miss Dollar, a foot stool to sit placed beneath her telephone; to Mr. Vanderhoof, a memorandum book in which to keep account of his various engagements.

The class prophecy by Eliza Gray was a masterpiece and particularly clever in describing the future occupations of the Senior class. It was full of good natured wit and humor.

The history of the class of 1924 by Miss Mildred Williams is entitled to high praise. Without waste of words she gave a detailed account of the class and its successes and narrated the ambitions of the class and all incidents stood out clearly.

The class day ended by all members of C. F. A. giving a cheer which was led by John Suffer. Words of high commendation have been heard for the program rendered and was very snappy and interesting.
