Five Home Runs in Two League Games, Imps Play Sunday

Not Entirely Sport BUT--

Leo Casey made a hit and walked in the game against the Yankees yesterday. O'Connell's outfielder knocked a drive of Casey's that looked like a sure hit.

Blum took a 14-0 trouncing yesterday. Clark, who was named for O'Connell and allowed four hits, two of which came in one inning with two down.

"Latty" Hewitt started for the Yankees but retired in the sixth in favor of St. Denis. O'Connell scored six runs in the sixth.

While Dick Gray, former Pittsburgh sports editor, who is trying to purchase land at Syracuse for a new ball park, is threatening to take the Syracuse International League franchise to Providence, there continues talk of "hitching" and possibly "blacking" Gray's local efforts to keep the franchise.

Really, there appears much feeling on both sides, for on one hand of graft in local professional baseball in Syracuse, the reliable news is that President Bartlett and the St. Louis Cardinal interests are ready to get money for the Syracuse franchise.

They don't care where the franchise goes providing they are paid for it.

Barry Packie, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the head coach in Syracuse for the season. So is under the management of Mack.

Mila Leagon, French woman champion, who has been indignantly denied that she was given a tennis racket.

"Although I was forced to abandon the game at Wimbledon in the Olympics, I hope to return to the game in 1928," said Mila Leagon. "I am now residing under the doctor's care."

How It Done In the Majors

By Frank Fisch

Chicago News First

The score is a tie and the bases are full with either one out or none out. What would be a good play to break up a rally?

When the bases are full, the runners very seldom look for a throw from the catcher to second.

With either the shortstop or second baseman taking the throw.

In consequence the majority of runners under these conditions always take a big lead off second and they are always moving towards third.

So it's a good thing for the catcher to signal a throw to the pitcher and then have him get the ball down to second.

It helps the pitcher out in this way and now and then one out, he is.

Fifth inning. One out. Score 6 to 4 in favor of the team in the field. Runners on second and third. How should the infield play in a situation of this kind?

The infielder should always play back in a situation of this kind and remember that it will take a quick hit to score both runners and if the infielder plays up it is never for the pitcher to get them then hit when they play back.

Another thing the position of the infielders takes into account is the fact that a ball hit to the infield is not always to be feared. If they were playing in such a situation, they would not be so sure of it.

But when they play back they frequently catch such hits. The percentage is with them on every possible play when they are back.

CARS CRASH AT KANONA

State Road, Truck and Auto
Owned by J. E. House
Collide

KANONA, Aug. 8.—A serious accident was averted here Tuesday evening when a truck, driven by an employee of the Kanona-Pontiac State road and a car, owned by J. E. House and occupied by him and Mrs. House, collided on the corner of Upper Main street going to the Erie station. The truck was traveling at a high rate of speed and on the wrong side of the road. The driver, however, with great presence of mind, swung the machine into a nearby telephone pole, breaking the force of the impact. The car was badly damaged but not so much as the truck, which was damaged with only a broken lens. Mr. and Mrs. House were uninjured except from shock and the driver of the truck also escaped injury.

TEXACO

See TEXACO First!

More motorists are experiencing the greater driving pleasure that comes when a smooth-running engine is smoothly urging the car ahead.

Many little things—all important—contribute to that ideal operation: Spark plugs that do not foul, snug pistons—and all valves, bearings and cams free from friction.

It is so simple a matter to have sweet, quiet, powerful engine action under your control; and it is so easy to keep a car on the road and out of the repair shop, merely by the consistent use of Texaco Motor Oil.
