Young Texas Cowboy Released From Bath Jail When Little God Shows Strength

HORNELL, Aug. 22.—That bolted door at lockup was evidently true for the heavily bolted doors of Bath jail have swung open for James Cooper, a dashing young cowboy from Cottonwood, Texas, and the chap called "cupid" appears to have been the agency that effected his release.

The new back in Hornell and happily reunited with his young bride.

A few weeks ago Cooper came east and met Miss Merle. Girls of this city. It was apparently a case of love at first sight, for despite the opposition of her parents they were married one day at Canisteo.

Up to this point the law had apparently been lenient, but now the little god, Cupid, began to show his strength. Sufficient to say that this week the parents yielded and agreed to allow the released Cooper from jail and the prospects are that the parental blessing will soon follow.

He was arrested on a charge of abduction and held to await the action of the grand jury.

Policeman Finds Aquatic Performer Who Believes Himself a Lifesaver

BINGHAMTON, Aug. 22.—Timothy O'Leary, 21-year-old of Bloomsburg, Pa., fell in the Susquehanna river at the foot of Fairbanks avenue and landed in jail on a charge of public intoxication.

O'Leary had imbibed too much raw liquor and wandered to the river bank.

Police headquarters was alerted of his plunge and Motorcycle Officer Frank Wakeman investigated. He found O'Leary emerging from the water.

"What are you doing here?" the policeman asked.

"I am saving a woman," the reply from O'Leary.

The sergeant informed O'Leary that he was drunk. He then took him to a cell in the police house.

O'Leary pleaded guilty before City Judge Benford.

Thus in police court and the judge was much amused at the report of Officer Wakeman to the effect that O'Leary had tried to save an imaginary woman from the river.

He was amused that the prisoner had been so proud, or in a friendly manner.

GRAPE GROWERS ENJOY OUTING

Ontario, Yates, Schuyler and Steuben Held Tour of Inspection

BATH, Aug. 22.—The annual outing of the grape growers of Ontario, Yates, Schuyler and Steuben counties, organized by the farm bureau of these counties was held recently. The morning was spent in a tour of inspection of the Ontario Vineyard, located on the west shore of Lake Keuka. James Wilson in charge of this vineyard and P. E. Gladwin in charge of a similar station at Fredonia conducted the visitors through the vineyard and explained the work which is being conducted there.

The meeting was called to order at 2:45 P. M. by James Wilson. Mr. Gladwin gave a summary of the experimental work done on grape fertilization in New York State during the past 16 years. The evidence accumulated clearly shows that an annual application of 150 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda pays big. Applications of phosphorus and potash either alone or together show no results. The very best results are to be had when nitrate of soda and acid phosphate are applied in combination. Mr. Gladwin pointed out that the benefits of fertilization are in a more compact area larger grape cluster rather than a larger number of clusters.

Acid phosphate is used largely for the growth of the cover crop and development of fruit. Nitrate should be applied two or three weeks before blooming. Speaking of fungicides, Mr. Gladwin stated that the home-made Bordeaux is the most economical and that the 4-10 mixture was the most effective.

B. K. Falvey, president of the Westfield Chautauque, Erie Grape Growers' Cooperative association, who had been engaged for the occasion to tell of his experience of the grape growers of the Chautauque in the marketing of their products which dated back to 1855.

Mr. Falvey stated that the big requirements in the development and conduct of a cooperative marketing enterprise was the absolute confidence of the membership. He also spoke of the importance of a united effort of the association and the individual member. The packing houses and the shipment of grapes should be in charge of the local associations but the selling must all be done by a central sales exchange. The grapes of the Westfield Association are pointed on the three day basis for the market grapes and a season pool for pressed grapes. The grape industry is largely

MISSING YOUNG MAN IS SOUGHT

Corning Police Asked to Locate Elkland Boy Believed in City

The local police received a telephone call from Elkland, Pa. last evening, asking them to locate a 21 year old man, who it was said had run away from home.

The report was made by D. C. White, of that borough, who stated that his son, 21 years old, had left home yesterday afternoon accompanied by two negro lads and that the party was headed for Corning. Nothing was seen of the trio here, however.

SAFETY FIRST BODY OUTLINES PLAN FOR SAFETY IN CORNING

Chairman Blunt Declares Efforts Will Be Made to Have Sane and Progressive Safety System All Year

The Safety First Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which was appointed last night for the discussion of plans and to map out a program of work to be carried out locally, Roy Blunt, chairman of the committee, who is also active in safety work at the Corning Glass Works, stated today that the aim of the committee would not be to have a safety week as is done in many cities but instead to have a sane and progressive safety year.

The Safety First Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which was appointed last night for the discussion of plans and to map out a program of work to be carried out locally, Roy Blunt, chairman of the committee, who is also active in safety work at the Corning Glass Works, stated today that the aim of the committee would not be to have a safety week as is done in many cities but instead to have a sane and progressive safety year.

"One of the most important phases of our work is the compiling and keeping of accident records," Mr. Blunt stated. "Not only to be able to see how they are being held in check but also to know how and where they are happening in order to apply effective remedies. This branch will be taken care of by Mr. Sharp, whose statistical experience and Red Cross service makes him exceptionally valuable to the committee. He is responsible for the plan of concentrating in time over emergencies as adopted by the National Red Cross."

The Corning Auto Club has been a most effective agency for safety, Mr. Blunt points out. "Not only in the city but for miles around having placed over 1,600 signs along the country, raising the removal of obstructions obscuring the view at dangerous crossings and circulating safety literature. Mr. Rutan represents the Auto Club on the council and is well informed with the bureau."

"Mr. Wallace represents the railroads on the council. He is the Pennsylvania division of the New York Central and spends six or seven days a week riding over the division in the interest of safety. "Major McCallahan has promised the co-operation of the city administration in this greatly needed movement, and the National Safety Council will help in any way needed."

"Our next step will be helping to form a Junior Safety Corps, and a last night the division of the National Safety Council will help in any way needed."

"The Traffic Officer Rowe late yesterday afternoon found a black leather brief case in the street at the corner of Pine and Market streets, which it was learned later was owned by F. J. Williams of New York."

Mr. Williams is an official of the Metropolitan Insurance company and had lost the bag from his automobile while turning the corner. The brief case was turned over to R. B. Mosler, the local manager of the insurance company.

89,675 BONUS CHECKS SENT

State Bureau Announces Over 11 Millions Have Been Paid to Date

Payment of $8,675 bonus claims totaling $11,584,722.84 by the state bonus bureau was announced today by the state adjutant General E. J. Westcott.

The average amount paid each claimant was $132.34. Although federal war records show that $18,000 residents of New York are entitled to a bonus from the state but a few more than 20,000 applications have been received.

A new high record was established yesterday when 3,274 checks were mailed. The highest serial check number mailed yesterday was 107,761 and the lowest was 5,584.

During the last three weeks the number of claims in dispute has been reduced to 2,100. Captain Frank S. Harris, director of the bureau, announced last night.

Greater speed could be made, the director declared, were it not for the mail being received at the bureau from applicants and their friends asking that certain claims be given preference.

"The commission has adhered to the rule that no claim shall be paid out of the regular order," said Captain Harris. "If exceptions are made, it will be permitted the work of the clerical force would be seriously interfered with and the highly desired average of claims disposed of could not be maintained."

Mr. Williams is an official of the Metropolitan Insurance company and had lost the bag from his automobile while turning the corner. The brief case was turned over to R. B. Mosler, the local manager of the insurance company.

FAIL TO SEE PLANET MARS

Rain Clouds Shut Off View; May Be Chance Later to Witness it

Impending showers that blackened the heavens prevented Corning folks from getting a view of Mars which in its swing came closer to the earth yesterday than in over 100 years.

The planet was supposed to reach its point of greatest nearness to the earth at 10 minutes and 29 seconds past 6 o'clock last evening.

At that time the sky was filled with clouds and even had the heavens been clear, it is said, the planet would have been too dim to see. However, need not abandon hope. For some weeks, it is said, Earth and Mars will stroll side by side along their orbits exchanging glances across the black void only 21,500,000 miles away.

Radio enthusiasts sat at their instruments until early hours this morning waiting for any unusual behavior of their instruments that would indicate that our nearest neighbor was attempting to communicate with its sister planet. It has been suggested by some astronomers that all broadcasting stations be silent last evening so that any signals that the Martians might send would not be interrupted. This project was not followed by all stations as there were some "bonnets on the air" during the evening.
