

EGYPTIAN TROOPS AT KHARTUM STAGE SERIOUS MUTINY

Situation in Entire Sudan at Tense Point With Outbreaks Occurring Among Natives in Widespread Areas

LONDON, Nov. 28.—(By A. P.)—The Egyptian embassy in London confirms the news from Cairo that the British army has sent troops at Khartoum, but adds that it considers that the outbreak was not a military one. It says that the battalion involved is not connected officially with the troubles in the Sudan.

A Masonic memorial service for the assassinated Sir, Sir Lee Sturges, was held at the Masonic Hall, 1, Great Marlborough Street. All the recognized lodges here, including the Egyptian, attended with their wives.

Lord Alenby, the British high commissioner, has expressed his interest in the Sudanese situation at dinner tonight on account of ill-

the Nile but that it is "a matter of Egypt in the Sudan."

The resolution protested that the British Government had not withdrawn the Egyptian troops from the Sudan to which it was entitled, and that it had categorically refused to do so.

"The government has no right to refuse to do so," it states. "It also protests against the action of the British military authorities in the Sudan, which, in the present situation, entered the Sudan with the intention of the perpetration of depredations and arrested the progress of the Sudanese."

Persia is ready to take whole Egyptian questions into consideration, according to the newspaper Ahram.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 28.—(By A. P.)—Twelve more persons were taken into custody this morning by the police in an effort to detain 25 in all as a precautionary measure.

Four prominent members of the Egyptian Nationalist party, with which former Premier Zagloul Pasha is identified, were arrested by the British authorities in Cairo today and may be turned over to the Egyptian government.

Former Premier Hussein di Pasha has issued a statement in which he reiterates the League and declares it is fully within the League's competence.

One of the British demands on the Egyptian government following the assassination of Lee Stack, the Sirdar of the Indian army, was the evacuation of the Sudan by all the Egyptian forces.

A Cairo dispatch last night, when the acting Sir

Official quarters in London last night. A party of British officers, who had been arrested, were taken to the necessary orders for the Egyptian troops declined to obey and offered resistance, declaring that they would not leave unless they received orders from the government.

The Egyptian troops then surrounded the Egyptians in the government at Khartoum. The British officers were asking that such orders be issued. The British officers then Egyptian troops were readjusted further but pointed out that the British government had a million men, whereas the Egyptian army had "unlimited" supplies. The British minister of the Egyptian government was the withdrawal to prevent bloodshed.

Second Letter Comes From Egypt Complaining of British Government

GENEVA, Nov. 28.—(By A. P.)

The League of Nations today received a protest from the Egyptian senate, condemning Great Britain's recent action in Egypt. The document is couched in terms similar to the protest received from the Egyptian chambers of deputies, characterizing the British demands for satisfaction for the assassina-

The League also received a letter from M. Hyman, president of the League's council, notifying the secretary general, Sir Erik Drummond, that Hyman had already received, direct from the president of the Egyptian chamber a copy of the protest distributed by that body to all the world parliaments and to the League.

M. Hymans received the corrected text of the message, whereas that delivered to the League had a line dropped out at Marseilles where it was repeated during the telegraphic transmission from Cairo to Geneva. The corrected text shows, by an extraordinary coincidence, the error affected one of the most important points in the message, namely an appeal for League intervention. Officials said today that the senate's protest makes no specific request for intervention.

In his letter to the secretary-general, M. Hymans did not indi-

ADVENT SEASON OPENED TODAY

Formal Observance is Confined Largely to Four Sundays by the Churches

The season of Advent is at hand and will be formally observed in the Episcopal, Lutheran and Catholic churches. The season actually began today, but the more formal observance is largely confined to four Sundays, and continues to a close with Christmas day. During this season the calendars of the Roman and Greek Catholic churches abound with special days and services.

The four Sundays of Advent as observed in the Catholic church and the Church of England were probably introduced into the calendar by Gregory the Great. St. Andrew's Day this year falls on the first Sunday in Advent, November 30. It is observed each year with special services. Ember days are observed in the Episcopal and Catholic churches on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, with special prayers in the church for the candidates for the priesthood and for the success of the church.

The Roman Catholic festival of the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary comes on Monday, December 8, and this will be a holy day of obligation for the faithful. It will attend mass that day. Special masses will be celebrated in all the churches.

Other special saint's days continue through the month, including the following: December 21, St. Thomas' day; December 22, St. Stephen's day; December 23, St. John the Evangelist's day; December 24, Holy Innocents' day. In the Episcopal Church Christmas and all three saints' days following it are observed with special services in the church. The Catholic church Christmas day itself is a holy day of obligation, with well attended masses.

STUBEN WOOL GROWERS MEET

Barn Meetings are Held at Prattburg, Canistota and Woodhull

BATH, Nov. 28.—There has been a good response to the call to the barn meetings held at Prattburg, Canistota and Woodhull last week for the benefit of the wool growers. F. E. Robertson, manager of the New York State Wool Growers Association, told of the present condition of the wool market, stating that we are now producing about a third of the wool consumed in the United States. There is a world shortage of wool and wool prices are higher in Europe and England than in this country.

Five years ago the 23 separate county wool growers associations banded together to form the state sales organization. Since that time the association has grown to the point where it is now handling a million pounds of wool. The dues of the association is that the fleeces are graded before they are sold which means with the approval of the millers.

Members are paid on the basis of the grade of their wools and receive the actual sales price minus the small charge of handling. The average net received to mem-

SEAL SALE OPENS IN CORNING AT AUCTION AT ROTARY MEETING

John H. Doherty Pays $1.36 For the First Seal; Proceeds Go to Support of Corning's Health Work

John H. Doherty officially opened the annual Christmas seal campaign Wednesday when he purchased the first seal at the Corning Club auction. Mr. Doherty paid 36 cents for the seal, before Rotarians would allow him to use the seal. The first of seals sold $20.25 from today's auction. Three thousand letters each bearing 100 seals were placed in the box care late Wednesday and found their way into Corning homes with the first trip of the mail man this morning. The seals are the support of much of Corning's public health and tuberculosis prevention work and have ever found a ready welcome in the homes of generous Corning folk. This year the Corning Public Health and Tuberculosis Committee celebrates its 15th anniversary.

Its record is one that any group might well be proud of.

Because the sale of seals is so widespread, every person in Corning who has ever purchased one may feel a deep personal sense of satisfaction in the accomplishments of the Public Health Committee. The record of its first 15 years of existence should certainly be an inspiration to workers of the future and a source of gratification to those who have taken an active interest in the work of the past.

The Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health of the Social Service Society of Corning is 15 years old, having been organized in 1914 to assist in the campaign for the County Tuberculosis Hospital and to assist the city nurse. The personnel of the committee has changed but the ideals of the committee have not and its work has continued always with the matters of public health and tuberculosis in the foreground. The committee has always stood ready to cooperate in any health movement and has been responsible for a great deal of interest in this city in matters of public health as its record will show. It is identified with county, state and national organizations interested in tuberculosis and public health. The work of this committee during these 15 years has been briefly as follows: In 1913 and 1914, this committee took a very active part in helping to finance the educational campaign carried on together with the Horrell committee and the State Charities Aid Association for the County Tuberculosis Hospital which is now an accomplished fact. In 1915, conducted a camp for eight tuberculous patients and a school for children. This camp was at Caton and Miss Hartman, city nurse, was in charge. In 1916, the present site of the Children's Fresh Air Camp was secured and the camp opened. It has been operated continuously each summer since and to date 259 children have had its care. It has attracted State wide attention. In the same year a study was made of the health of school children and the results presented to the Boards of Education. The result was the appointment of a school nurse in the schools of District 9, the value of whose services is tremendous, and families to every family with children in those schools.

In 1917, a nurse was employed to make a careful "After Five" survey to assist the City Health department to discover possible incipient tuberculosis as an aftermath of the flu. All the suspicious cases were urged to go to the Tuberculosis Clinic for examination.

In 1919, the buildings at the Children's Fresh Air Camp were completed. They are five in number, housing thirty children and two adults. The committee realizing the great value of education in health matters especially in children as a means of preventing the occurrence of tuberculosis, cooperated with the Women's Club in stimulating interest in nutrition.

In 1920, helped bring Miss Mabel Skilton, with Dr. Emerson, nutrition expert of Boston, to talk to mothers and teachers on the subject of "Nutrition of School Children." To reach the children in the vital matter of food, Cho-Cho, the Health Clown, was brought at about the same time to talk to all of the school children in a most fascinating way on what foods are good for them. In 1921, to further stimulate interest in the subject of prevention of tuberculosis in children, the committee conducted a poster contest in the 4th, 7th and 8th grades of the public schools, and useful prizes were awarded to the winners. This work was successful not only in the posters submitted, but also in the interest in the subject which it inspired. The funds required to carry on this work came mainly from the sale of Christmas seals. There is a growing support for the camp work activities of seals, but for educational work and other forms of preventive work the committee depends upon the sale of seals. The committee feels confident that its work has been constructive and of value to the community and comes with confidence to the sale of seals at this time, feeling that Corning people will want this sort of work to go on. Mrs. J. W. Bess, chairman of the Christmas seal committee has been identified with this committee since 1915. Robert L. Allison who serves as chairman of the Children's Camp committee has been identified with it since 1920.

During all of these years a special effort has been made to cooperate with the city nurse in her daily hand to hand contact with tuberculosis, supplying her with what medical supplies she needed special diets for her patients and providing special equipment for porch and home for them. Sanatorium equipment where needed, has been supplied on her request and other material relief. The school nurse has had the cooperation of this committee in that task is supplied, on her recommendation to children, not able to pay for it, but who need it. The committee is now having under consideration several projects to assist in the work of prevention of tuberculosis and in public health, also in the early discovery of the disease. Among them is the matter of a dental hygienist. Oral hygiene is one of the most important factors not only in the prevention of tuberculosis, but also in the preservation of health generally.

ATTENDED MEETING G. O. Clark, local Erie ticket agent and E. J. Kelly local freight agent were in Elmira Tuesday to attend the meeting and dinner at the Hotel Langwell for the freight and ticket agents of the Erie Railroad. At this meeting matters relative to the work on both freight and passenger departments were discussed.

CONDITION IMPROVED The condition of Frank H. Suiz, who has been in Corning Hospital for several days is greatly improved.

NOTICE The Audit Committee of the Common Council will meet Friday evening, November 28, 1924, to audit bills against the City of Corning, N. Y.

Harry A. Rood, City Clerk.

MILLER TRIAL

DECEMBER 10 Sonora Farmer Charged With Assault Third Degree on John K. Walton

BATH, Nov. 28.—Justice E. F. Gilson on Wednesday, upon motion of Cole & Knapp, attorneys for the defendant, set Wednesday, December 10 as the date for a jury trial of the case of the People vs. Harry Miller, a prominent farmer living near Bath. In the northeastern part of this town, Miller is charged with assault, third degree, the complaining witness being John K. Walton. Mr. Walton in his deposition alleges that some two weeks ago, while stopping with friends near Sonora, he was unwarrantedly attacked by the defendant in the highway; that the plaintiff as the result of the assault, suffered injuries which confined him to the bed for over a week, under the daily care of a physician. Miller, on the other hand, alleges that he attacked Walton only in self defense. According to Miller, a sale was left open through which Miller's horses went out upon the highway. Miller came along and meeting Walton, asked who was responsible for the gate being open. Words followed between the men, and Miller then alleges that Walton, who carried a window sash in his hand, struck Miller over the head with it. Miller retailed, and the fight was interrupted only when some ladies appeared, who screamed in terror that Walton was in an invalid and unfit for the treatment which Miller at the time had received. Miller, upon learning that Walton was an unfit subject for attack, alleges that he desisted and withdrew from the field. John C. Wheeler of Corning has been retained as Mr. Walton's attorney and will represent him at the trial.

MRS. TUTTLE IS WELL QUALIFIED TO SPEAK ON FOREIGN TOPICS

World Court and Other Matters of International Importance to Be Discussed at Woman's Club Dinner

In view of the fact that the American Peace Award Committee established by Edward W. Bok, donor of the famous Bok Peace Award, is attempting a nationwide educational campaign on the World Court during the next three months, Mrs. Frank Tuttle's address on "International Relations" to be given here next Tuesday will be most timely.

The Bok group in beginning the World Court drive is attempting to bring the discussion of American participation in the Court to every community. It is planned to hold meetings in at least 10 towns as possible and to draw up resolutions advocating American adherence to the Court which will be sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Mrs. Tuttle is unusually well fitted to give an audience a clear and concise explanation of the World Court and other matters of international importance, since she has only recently returned from Geneva where she was sent to study the situation. Her talk at the Woman's Club dinner Tuesday evening will cover this visit. Mrs. Tuttle is a brilliant speaker, and she is constantly in demand at gatherings of importance in New York. She is a member of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association of which she is the vice chairman and of the Woman's Pro-League Council in which she holds the position of chairman. She is scheduled to speak Wednesday at the conference on progress of international relations which will be in session for three days in New York, beginning Monday. This conference will be conducted under the direction of the New York Council for International Cooperation to Prevent War in progress for the coming Washington Congress of nine national women's organizations.

The dinner Tuesday evening at which Mrs. Tuttle is to be the speaker is in charge of the officers and directors of the Woman's Club. Mrs. C. L. Cook, president, Mrs. C. C. Corwin, Mrs. J. G. Gage, Mrs. Thomas J. Hart, Mrs. John S. Suffer, Mrs. P. J. Townsend, Mrs. E. J. Carpenter, Mrs. James W. Shea, Mrs. William G. Menahan and the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. James O. Sebring, make up the committee.

Canning Contest; Prize
$100 and Seal Jars

Miss Lucy Malby, instructor in Home Economics at Northside High School received word today that her class had won second prize in the national canning contest for schools and colleges where the subject is taught. The prize is $100 and a gross of one pint seal jars.

HABEAS WRIT IS DISMISSED

Justice Rodenbeck Holds Case of Bath Man Must Come up in Equity Court

The writ of habeas corpus issued by Supreme Court Justice Rodenbeck Tuesday against John Smith Brundage of Bath in which he was ordered to produce Charles and John Tommolio, infant sons of Viana Tommolio, was dismissed by Supreme Court here this afternoon on motion of Attorney Guy W. Cheney.

The proceeding was instituted by Mrs. Frances A. Morse of this city through her attorney to inquire into the matter of the present guardianship of the children. Mr. Brundage was appointed the legal guardian of the children by Surrogate E. C. Smith several months ago and the infants are now held in an orphanage.

Justice Rodenbeck held in his decision today that he did not have jurisdiction in the matter as he pointed out that the action was a case which should be brought in equity court. Attorney Cheney made a motion that his client be allowed costs in the proceeding, but decision on this motion was reserved until later.

ELKS GIVE ONE OF BEST DANCES IN LODGE HISTORY

Corning Lodge of Elks has never given a more completely enjoyable or successful party than the formal Thanksgiving Eve ball. More than 200 couples enjoyed the dance until 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

The ball room at the Elks home was beautifully decorated in keeping with the season. Decorative crepe paper was hung from the ceiling and was also used to shade the lights. A large number of guests from out of town attended the party.

COE ACTION IS STILL ON TRIAL

Negligence Case Not Expected to be Finished Until Next Week

Although it had been expected that the negligence action brought by Mrs. Ellen Coe of Watervliet against the Erie Railroad Company to recover $50,000 for the death of her husband, Joseph Coe, which has been in trial in Supreme Court here for the past week, would be completed today, indications now are that the case will probably continue for the greater part of next week. This will be the last case of the term, however, as all of the extra jurors were excused Wednesday afternoon.

The defense of the action continued today with employes of the railroad testifying in regard to the accident. Mr. Coe was killed on February 14, 1922, when the truck on which he was riding was struck by a west bound train at the Watervliet crossing of the Erie in Palatka Post.

The action assumed a peculiar angle today when John Winslow, claim agent for the railroad, was cross examined at length concerning an accident a year previous to the Coe accident when Smith Erwin of Erwin, who is one of the jurors in this case, was injured on this same crossing.

Mr. Winslow was called to the stand by Attorney John W. Hollis, who represents the railroad, to identify some photographs that had been taken of the railroad crossing at the Watervliet crossing of the Erie in Palatka Post. The claim agent's testimony was introduced in an effort to show that a warning sign concerning the hours of state operation had been posted previously to the Coe accident. The railroad had made a settlement with Erwin for his accident, although pictures of the crossing were taken at the time these pictures were introduced today.

R. John Storer, of this city, who was the undertaker called at the home of Mr. Coe's death, testified as to finding the man dead in the cab of the auto truck several hundred feet west of the crossing. Guy T. Westcott, also of Corning, testified as to taking photographs of the crossing.

Child Rump Canned Florist Loss. ALEX. — The recent cold snap cost Irsell H. Eisenberg, florist, $4,000. Mr. Eisenberg, who is the owner of the florist shop, said the loss was represented by the plants lost were palms, poinsettias and ferns. The loss was insured. Within five hours the temperature of the greenhouse dropped about 40 degrees and the flowers froze.

CHIEF HANMER LAUDS MOVE TO ESTABLISH BIG POLICE BUREAU

National Organization as Proposed by Commissioner Enright Would be of Great Value He Declares

The establishment of a National Police Bureau as proposed by Richard E. Enright, police commissioner of New York, formerly of Campbell, which was introduced in a bill, which will be introduced in December, would mean greater efficiency in the work of police departments the world over and prove a valuable aid to local police departments throughout the United States, Chief of Police Charles G. Hanmer declared.

Chief Hanmer is a member of the National Police Identification Bureau, which has headquarters at Washington. The local police have been aided by this bureau in identifying criminals several times. Chief Hanmer believes the assistance given to police departments would be more than doubled if the new proposed bureau were opened and merged with the identification bureau. The International Police Conference is another organization which has given the police in all countries of the world valuable aid. These are the reasons why a national police department members have proved that there is a great value in organizations which link the various police departments.

According to information received here the bill for establishment of the National Police Bureau supported by Commissioner Enright, would follow lines laid down at the International Police Conference in New York in 1922 and 1923.

"Experts on police methods and crime investigations generally declare the establishment of such a clearing house for information regarding criminals is a matter of prime necessity," Commissioner Enright said.

"The idea has attracted the attention of police officials and the law enforcement agents all over the United States and I am inclined to believe it has the support of very great civic organization that understands the value of such a service to the country at large—and in fact, to the whole world.

The bill, which is unlimited. Not only does it make a general reference to the central storehouse of crime records, fingerprints, photographs and other matters but there has recently been opened a wonderful

MINISTER IS HELD AGAIN

Rev. Benjamin Freed by Justice Rodebeck; Second Warrant Served; Damage Action

The Rev. Dale J. Benjamin, evangelist, arrested and jailed at Baiton on charge of endangering the morals of young girls was ordered by Justice A. J. Rodebeck, in Supreme Court here late Wednesday, discharged on the grounds that Justice of the Peace W. Q. Browning, who held the defendant, had no jurisdiction and that the arrest was illegal.

Following the dismissal of the minister he was immediately arrested again on charge of disorderly conduct by Sheriff Wier, the warrant being issued by Justice Browning.

Attorney James O. Sebring, who appeared for the defendant, announced today that he was bringing an action to recover $20,000 damages from Sheriff Wier and Justice Browning, alleging false arrest and imprisonment.

The hearing in the case was held on an order issued Tuesday by Justice Rodebeck in a habeas corpus proceeding, instituted by Attorney James O. Sebring in behalf of the defendant. The Rev. Benjamin appeared in court in custody of Sheriff Joseph W. Wier and District Attorney Walter N. Henwick of Albany county appeared for the prosecution.

This is a case that has attracted widespread attention. The Rev. Benjamin is an evangelist who held a series of meetings in Baiton during the month of October, during the month it is alleged he preached threatening letters and on the day he was scheduled to leave his automobile was taken from the garage and a coating of tar and feathers applied to it. Following an investigation on the part of the evangelist it is said that the source of the threatening letters was traced to three young girls of Baiton.

Later these girls made affidavits before a justice of the peace that they had been threatened by the Rev. Benjamin to them and had, therefore, committed a crime of endangering the morals of young girls. Benjamin was then committed to the county jail at Baiton, bail being fixed at $2,000, which he was unable to raise. The man has now been in jail since October 25, with no further action in the case until Attorney Sebring was retained to defend him.

District Attorney Renwick stated that he had not been informed of the habeas corpus proceeding until a late hour and that he had not been given an opportunity to look over the papers in the case. He requested that the
