CHAUTAUQUA IS AGAIN SUMMER MUSIC CAPITAL

CHAUTAUQUA, July 18.—Each year Chautauqua appears to present a musical program of which it can truly be said that it has no equal in the previous history of the institution. This year looks like one musical festival and next week will start a long engagement of the New York Symphony Orchestra, giving 28 concerts.

The appearance of the organization at Chautauqua each summer has become almost a fixture and has consistently given very fine pieces of music, awakening appreciative response from the thousands of visitors. Chautauqua does not regard the New York Symphony as an orchestra, but rather as an aggregation of first-class artists, all of whom take intense personal interest in the musical side of the institution.

The program July 21 to August 7 is even more attractive than the last year's. Conducted by Mr. Strossel, has chosen compositions of varied character and beauty. The program is a well-planned series of children's recitals. The program is arranged that each individual concert is a complete and well-balanced unit and the whole series constitutes a veritable liberal education in music.

Among the famous soloists with the orchestra this season will be George Barrer, considered by musical critics the world's greatest virtuoso on the flute; Ernest La Prade, a first violinist of the Orchestra and a member since 1915.

The choral program outlined in the most ambitious ever attempted at Chautauqua. Another feature will be the series of five artist's recitals given in the Smith-Wilkes Memorial Hall. There will be five concerts in which the following artists will participate: Ernest Hutchinson, Albert Strossel, George Barrer, Horatio Connell, Peter Johnson and Ernest La Prade.

High Foster of New York, rated as one of the most brilliant organists in the whole country will give nine recitals accompanied by well known soloists.

Augustin Smith of Boston University and Prof. Howard Lyman of Syracuse University will introduce the New York Symphony Orchestra, the Chautauqua Choir, the Chautauqua Junior Choir, the solo quartet, piano, organ and chimes, cantional choir, stereophonic art slides with music, Pasquet and procession features, congregational hymns, chants and responses.

The girl, who was only 20 years old, was shot while riding in a speeding automobile past a busy downtown street intersection. She said that she recently advised the girl's mother, who lives in Buffalo, to come to Buffalo and take her daughter home as she was evidently traveling in a bad way. The girl's mother came and pleaded with her daughter to come home but her daughter refused to listen and went to live in another rooming house, Mrs. Peeney said.

It was when she was riding in the car that she was shot. The girl and her mother were the only occupants of the car when he and one of the girls at Eagle and Elm streets.

SYRACUSE, July 18.—Just as necessary in the case of a baby as a bath is that of an automobile. When a fond mother parked a go-cart, one end of which was covered with an infant and the other by a youngster of two, she neglected to notice the paint on a scaffold above, applying brilliant red paint on the front of the car.

By the time she had finished her purchases and made an exit, an interested and amused crowd of spectators surrounded two paint-streaked babies, entirely oblivious of their neighbor's color. The mother, who was in the car of paint, above the coach was the cause; a heated argument by the mother's native tongue followed; a cleaner expert in paint removing was the probable result.

Leader Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGLY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright 1917 by The Leader to the McGraw-Hill

UNCLE WIGGLY'S BIG BOON

"Don't you wish we had something to do?" asked Nipper, one of Uncle Wiggly's little rabbit boys who were sitting on the grass.

"Yes, I wish we could have something to do," said Nipper. "I almost wish we had to go to school, don't you?"

"It wouldn't be so bad," agreed the other. "This vacation is long and we are sitting on the grass, and I don't think of new things to do all the while."

The two little rabbits hopped around, nibbling a bit of clover in one field and parsley in another, until at last they found a place where some ants lived. The ants were very busy, carrying food to their nest. And once a big daddy ant started to get down to work, the two little rabbits sat down on the ground.

"Oh! Look at that!" laughed Nipper. "What's that funny?" chuckled Nipper. He looked right at the ants. "I thought you thought he was going to have a seat."

"I've just thought of something to do," exclaimed Nipper. "Let's see if we can't get down to work. When we see him going to sit on his chair, we'll hop down on the floor! Ha! Ha!"

"Ho! Ho!" laughed Nipper and the two little rabbits laughed so hard that an old mud turtle came along and stuck his head and one of his shells and listened to what they were saying.

"Hurry along now, Skipper," called Nipper, when they had finished laughing. "We'll go play that trick on Daddy, Uncle Wiggly."

"And I'll go whisper something in the left ear of my dear old gentleman friend," said the mud turtle slyly to himself. He took a short cut through the woods and got to the below stung humped forest. For Skipper and Nipper stopped to play on the woodland path.

"Oh, ho! So, that's what they're going to do! It's!" laughed the bumpy one when the mud turtle gentleman told him. "Well, I'll play a trick on them."

So inside his trousers, where it wouldn't show, Uncle Wiggly put a large piece of the inner tube of an automobile tire, partly blown up with air, so it made a soft cushion on which to sit if he should tumble.

Race for Bating Brothers of Other Baseball Years Long Gone

Today, these famous rivals are battling for the lead with Speaker batting on extra trip to the plate. Cobb, who is second with .371, .400, Harry Rice of St. Louis is third with .399. Harry Heilmann of Detroit, is fourth with .293.

Ken Williams of St. Louis is threatening to chase Babe Ruth out of the league. Williams' home run bitter. He has connected with twenty-two, passing Menck of the Cubs for the home run honors of the league. They have the race on, and it is exciting.

Johnny Mostell of the White Sox added three more stolen bases to his record and is in the lead with twenty-nine without a double. He has a lead of three over George Slater, pilot of the Athletics, who has twenty-two. The figures include games of Wednesday.

Harvey has rung up twenty bases and is high in the race. Hornsby has made twenty runs and has won three games. He has doubles and five triples.

The Pirates broke the tie shared with Sparks by Adams of the Cubs for the bases on balls. Sparks has twenty-one, the lead with 13 while Sparks is trailing with 17.

Monday afternoon was given over entirely to a competition of Scout contests. The Ithaca team scored a 30 to 22 victory over the Gorton team. The Ithaca team was very individual even in every individual event while the Ithaca Scouts took all the team events.

Feeding Tiger Her Pastime

A favorite pastime of a certain famous man at any time any one had a miscellaneous group—such as a drowsy student was "Well, who Lord takes care of fools and drunks." Whether that be true or not is debatable, but it is certainly true that Providence or luck or some unseen force, call it what you wish, interested in the half of one young lady at the circus yesterday.

The press agent for the circus was showing a reporter through the menagerie during feeding time just before the afternoon performance was finished and due to his connection with the circus they were let inside the ropes separating the onlookers from the cages.

Seeing them in forbidden territory a young woman who had just come out of the main circus tent thought she would venture underneath the ropes also but she would see the others one better—she would feed the tigers. Choosing one of the most ferocious (one which the reporter had been warned to give plenty of room in passing its cage) in the collection of this young woman approached the beast and calmly offered it something which looked like a greasy cracker. The tiger had not been fed yet and was waiting for something to eat—something that would give him half-turn around the enclosure.

Seeing the cracker at the edge of the cage it sniffed at it and turned away disdainfully when it found the cracker was not meat. In turning, however, it knocked the cracker out of the cage and the young woman, not to be daunted in her effort to feed the tiger, calmly picked up the cracker from the sidewalk and as casually as a child feeds a kitten extended the cracker to the tiger, reaching her hand and arm into the cage to do so. The beast has no intent on watching for the keeper who was coming with her but she did not observe that or the cracker but continued to hold her head about a foot above the cage and waited until the patient patience was exhausted and she dropped it inside the cage.

Just then the keeper came up with the meat and the way in which the huge claws of the tiger reached out and clutched the huge slab of meat, dragging it into the cage, where the strong jaw snapped down upon it as if they would never release it, made one shudder before a think that just a moment before a tiger's arm had been in now holding the meat.

ELKS PLANS INITIATION TO BE HELD ON JULY 22

A big initiation service of Corning Lodge of Elks No. 1071, will be held Wednesday evening, July 22, to accommodate a large class of candidates. It was not planned to hold any initiation ceremony during the summer months but because of the candidates did not wish to wait until Fall and so the degree was arranged.

Exalted Ruler Arthur V. Hennel has announced that the Lodge will not hold any initiation this year but will hold the ceremony in the fall. The attendance at these outings has been dwindling until it is so small that it is very evident that the members are no longer interested. However, attention is called to the invitation of the Elms Lodge to attend its outing at Cold Brook Creek, August 19.

CORNING FIRMS SEEK RETURN OF ALLEGED EXCESS IN COAL RATE

Allege that Railroads Make Charges for Spotting Coal Cars to Sidetracks; Ask $10,000 in Repayments

Four Corning firms have filed complaints with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington concerning charges on coal shipments received since September, 1920, the total amount involved being something over $10,000. The complaining firms are Corning Glass Works, Corning Building Material Co., Corning Central Electric Corporation and the Steuben Coal and Supply Company.

The firms allege that the three railroads which run to the city have discriminated against Corning in making excess charges. Previous to September, 1920, at which time a 40 per cent increase in freight rates went into effect, the railroads had been paying switching charges of as much as 10 cents for spotting cars to the city sidetracks. The firms allege that the railroads have since then increased these charges to 25 cents, which they claim is an excessive switching charge and that such a charge is an unjust discrimination against the city and is illegal under the Interstate Commerce Act, as it gives their competitors an advantage. The four Corning firms urge the commission to investigate the matter and to order the railroads to stop this practice. They also ask that the bills of $10,000 be returned to the firms and that they be repaid the money that has been paid out since April.

The railroad will be given an opportunity to reply to these charges and after an investigation the commission will adjudicate the matter. The railroads have threatened to bring suit to recover the unpaid switching charges.

Former Corning Man Appeals to Sheriff to Investigate Alleged Theft

Peter Klein, aged 66, of Hornell, for many years a well known resident of this city, reported yesterday to Sheriff W. B. Pace that he had been robbed of about $300 in cash while working for a farmer near Hornell. Klein claimed that the money was taken from his pocket while he was working for the farmer. The alleged theft is being investigated.

Klein recently drew his paychecks which amounted to $300 from the bank for the purpose of buying some property. He went for a short time for a farmer about nine miles from Hornell and he told Klein that he had the money that overtook him was taken to his pocket. He claimed also that when he awoke yesterday morning the bank roll was gone from his pocket.

HABEAS WRIT BEING SOUGHT

Attorney Rogers Seeking to Get Order for Release of LeClair Decker

Supreme Court Justice B. D. Cunningham has been asked for a writ of habeas corpus in a proceeding instituted yesterday by Attorney Thomas P. Rogers for the release of LeClair Decker, of this city, from the Steuben County jail where he is being held pending the imposition of a sentence to Auburn prison imposed by Judge Brown at a special term of court here recently. Papers in the matter were made out last night and it is expected that the case will be heard at a special term of court in Rochester.

Decker pleaded guilty in County Court here last February to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $300 at the time and sentenced to not less than one more than two years in Auburn prison. The imposition of the jail sentence was suspended on condition that he refrain from intoxicants and Decker was placed in custody of Probation Officer Dearlove. Some time after the man was arrested here on a public intoxication charge and was sentenced to 60 days at Bath jail. This sentence expired about two weeks ago when Decker was taken for a violation of his parole and was then sentenced to Auburn.

RECALLS OLD CIRCUS DAYS

John Comosh Greets Old Friend Charles White Whom He Traveled With

John Comosh, veteran circus man, was probably the only man in Corning who attended the circus Thursday evening and felt homesick. Yet in talking to a reporter this afternoon about the circus he stated that when he entered the menagerie and walked around and then went into the Big Top everything looked natural, the canvas, the seats, the rings, even the odor was familiar but he felt somewhat lonesome, for none of his old friends were there, save one. Out of the vast number of circus friends Mr. Comosh has been acquainted with only one member of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus. He was Charles White, assistant house carter.

In talking over old times with him, he informed Mr. Comosh that he thought there were only seven of his old friends and pals left in the profession, many who were working in circuses within the last two years even, having passed on.

Mr. Comosh said that he enjoyed the performance very much and that he considered the Hagenbeck-Wallace Show a very fine aggregation, well worth the time of any one to visit. He continued, "Any one would be amply repaid for the price of admission with reserved seat ticket which is remarkably low when you consider that upwards of $400,000 is invested in cars, wild beasts, animals and paraphernalia. The circus which gathers these wild beasts from every part of the world and brings them here for the benefit of the general public is certainly a wonderful educator and should be patronized by everybody."

"I remember that some years ago the circus was sold here in high estimation by some people of our country. They considered it somewhat of a loose moralized exhibition and it is owing to the work of Adam Forepaugh, the veteran circus manager, that things have changed. He conceived the idea of inducing the clergy to visit the circus and he adopted the following method: At that time the circus and menagerie were exhibited under the one top and he conceived the idea of placing the menagerie under a separate and distinct canvas. Then he invited the clergy to attend the menagerie. They came, their agents who gave them complimentary tickets. They came, their families with them and they saw an exhibition of natural history which was very pleasing to all and they remained in the menagerie until the opening of the circus. About that time almost every one vacated the menagerie and went into the circus leaving some people still remaining in the menagerie. While the circus was ending, on they could view it through the connection of the menagerie and his top and to their astonishment they rather enjoyed it and in many cases the children became so enraptured that there was nothing left to do but take them into the big tent and witness the performance.

"It took quite a number of years to work this method out and it accomplished its aim and today the circus is looked upon as one of the most moral exhibitions that we have. However, some continue to go to the circus just to take the children who enjoy it so much but we are sure that their parents enjoy it just as well."

"The life of the circus performer is beneficial to humanity and if we could transform the entire nation into circus performers the physical condition of the nation would be immeasurably improved and such diseases as tuberculosis and kindred ailments would be practically obliterated."

Mr. Comosh was in the circus business for 30 years, serving his apprenticeship when but a small boy. His first act was riding two ponies around the ring. After that he did wire stunts and then became a tumbler and eventually the champion leaper of the world.

NO TRACE OF LOST MONEY

Payment is Stopped on Checks Also Lost by Employee of Beyea & Son

Nothing has been heard by Frank Beyea concerning the money and bank book belonging to the firm of Frank Beyea & Son, which was lost by Harold Bradley, of Bridge street, Monday noon but about $20 of the $54.64 in checks has been protected by having payment on the checks stopped.

Store owners throughout this section have been warned against cashing any of these checks and of course the banks will not cash them. Another check for an amount around $16 which was written by the local Street Railway Company to one of its employees and cashed and endorsed by Beyea & Son will also probably be rewritten with instruction to the bank not to cash the first.

Besides the checks, there was about $40 in cash in the "bank book" and money probably, as Mr. Bradley lost the book which he was leaving his car which he had parked in front of his home at 15 Bridge street. Mr. Bradley noticed his loss almost immediately upon entering his home and returned to look for it. In the meantime a small boy had been observed picking up something which looked like a book from the sidewalk in front of the car.

KELLY NAMED THEATRE HEAD

Corning Man Manager of New Theatre at Batavia; Built at Cost of $175,000

James J. Kelly, formerly of Corning, and who for many years was connected with local moving picture houses has recently been named manager of the new $125,000 theatre at Batavia with a seating capacity of 1200. The new theatre is known as the Lafayette and is one of the most modern and up to date in the state. Mr. Kelly and his wife are to locate permanently in Batavia.

In 1922 Mr. Kelly became associated with Fred M. Zimmerman, president of the Western New York Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., and since that time he has been general manager of all the theatres controlled by Mr. Zimmerman's company and will continue to act in that capacity in connection with his duties as manager of the Lafayette.

Mr. Kelly has had a wide and varied experience of 15 years in the theatrical business. During that time he has been connected with all lines of the motion picture industry and in affairs of the legitimate stage before the advent of the photoplay. He has been connected with theatres, road plays and film exchanges starting with the old Moss Rice circuit which controlled about 100 theatres in New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Besides managing the State, Liberty and Corning Opera House and the motion picture show at Painted Post he has had charge of theatres in Hornell, Tonawanda, Niagara Falls, Sharon, Pa., Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio and Manchester, N. In 1918 the Steuben Theatre Corporation was formed in Corning with Mr. Kelly as part owner and manager of the Liberty. This theatre was later taken over by the Associated Theatres of East Rochester and years ago was the property of the Schine Theatre Company of Gloversville.

TRP COMPANY IS EXPENSIVE

Addison Man Minus $51 After He Had Spent Some Time in Corning

Coming to Corning yesterday with $56 in his pocket, E. G. Badmore, a farmer living near Batavia, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on an intoxication charge, found this morning that he had been left although he had only purchased a bottle of pop, a bottle of beer and a sandwich here. No fine was imposed on the man this morning by Judge Wheeler in City Court, who stated that the farmer had been punished sufficiently.

Badmore arrived in Corning just before noon and within an hour was picked up by a police man and taken to the City Court. He said in court that he had been drinking liquor before coming here but that all he had taken here was a bottle of beer and a sandwich. He said he had gone to an East Market street establishment he said at which time he had his money. The police said that when the man was searched immediately after his arrest he had but the $5.

G. E. Lofgren, 22, a glass worker, was arrested yesterday on an intoxication charge after his wife had made a complaint against him. He was fined $10 in morning when he pleaded guilty. He was also placed on parole with instructions to report weekly to Probation Officer John A. Dearlove.

JOKE ATTEMPT IS DISCOVERED

Notice of Marriage Turns Out to be Eronous; Attention Called to State Law

Someone, evidently with a perverse sense of humor and no responsibility or conception of the harm they might do, yesterday sent to The Leader the notice of a marriage ceremony which had never been performed, thereby placing the persons involved in a peculiar predicament.

They also evidently were unaware of a state law which governs giving false information to a newspaper and which subjects anyone guilty of this act to a fine and imprisonment.

The person who therefore sent the announcement of the marriage of Miss Beattie Cummings and Leo Fancher, of Corning, in Buffalo, on July 4, probably sees the joke, but it is no joke on Mr. Fancher or Miss Cummings, and The Leader hastens to correct the announcement today in fairness to both parties.

Mr. Fancher was a guest at the home of Miss Cummings recently while on a vacation trip to Buffalo. He denies that he was married to Miss Cummings following his return yesterday.

Steuben Artistic Glassware Given High Commend at Two Art Exhibits in New York

The recent Architectural and Allied Arts Exposition, at the Grand Central Palace, New York, attracted a particular pride in its presentation through its industrial art in artistic and scientific fields.

House & Garden, in a recent issue, contained an advertisement of the exhibition embracing a comprehensive presentation of architecture, sculpture, arts and crafts, decorative materials, building materials and equipment.

Probably no other exhibit has received such favorable interest as the Steuben exhibit. The feature of the Steuben exhibit was the display of many of the beautiful and gold aureate tiles, in bath in the wall material and is set in soft light. The glowing tiles in exquisite combination of colors present a mosaic effect that has elicited many sincere expressions of admiration and appreciation. A smaller tile panel was also displayed with a back lighted plaque, designed for smaller wall panels. "This new tile is an innovation with Steuben and the interest shown in the beautiful effects it makes possible indicates a definite trend in architecture and decoration toward this new accomplishment in glass."

Of special interest in the Steuben exhibit was an exquisite bronze, modeled by Mrs. G. B. Hollister, with outstretched arms support a shield of green glass. The bronze has executed a fine deal of work by Mrs. Hollister's own hand and artistic skill.

Corning visitors to the Exposition commented upon the overwhelming collection of artistic tiles, and particularly upon the splendid way in which they were displayed. Much credit is due Howard Greenlee, director of decorations, who is well known to

THOUSANDS for other Cars

The Chrysler Six has brought about a startling and unique motor car situation in motor car ownership.

All over America are families which own two, three, four and even seven Chrysler cars.

There are two main reasons—but they both go straight back to the fact that it is a genuine delight to drive a Chrysler Six.

They go straight back to the fact that the Chrysler Six is an entirely new type of car, built on a new kind of engineering, which produces results radically different from any heretofore registered.

At an extreme are the families which can afford the most expensive chauffeur-driven cars.

Many of these have found a new joy in motoring. Men who have never driven their own cars for years are now driving their own Chrysler. They have discarded the heavy, cumbersome cars; or kept them only for occasional use. For general use—the Chrysler Six. So great is the demand to drive this car on the part of both men and women in the same family, that two or three and even more Chrysler cars are found necessary.

The other side of the picture shows families which have owned a car costing perhaps twice as much as the Chrysler Six, and who have discarded it for the interests of economy and greater convenience.

Now they own and operate two Chrysler Six cars for the cost of one cumbersome car which does not begin to bring the driving and riding thrill ever present in the Chrysler Six.

You, too, will become a Chrysler enthusiast after your first thrilling, delightful ride and drive in the Chrysler Six—a ride we are eager and anxious to give you.

Typical Reasons Why Many Families Own Two or More Chrysler Cars

Mr. Edward C. Taubel, of Norristown, Pa., says: "The four cars we have purchased for us have been a revelation to us in easy handling, small amount of upkeep and general all around service."

"Having owned high priced cars for the past fifteen years we

Rev. James Griffin, of Corning, N. Y., who owns a Chrysler Coach more the significant statement is: "It's a peach."

Dr. E. H. Hutton, of Corning, N. Y., who owns two Chryslers states that he has been objecting to using the name in newspaper advertising of the Chrysler automobile and furthermore that he is the proud owner of two Chrysler automobiles.

Mr. Chas. F. Pitt, of Corning, N. Y., states that the Chrysler rides and drives so easy that one could fall asleep riding.

Arthur P. Remmel states that the Chrysler handles so well it discourages one from driving anything else.

Mr. Samuel Hawkes of Corning, N. Y., states that his Chrysler Imperial Sedan rides and drives as well as the higher priced cars.

DEATH CLAIMS PROMINENT MAN

Willard F. Sherwood, Former Hornell Postmaster, Dies Friday After Long Illness

HORNELL, July 18.—Willard F. Sherwood, former postmaster and well known resident of Hornell for years, died Friday at his home on Seneca street. He was ill about a year.

Mr. Sherwood was born in Steuben county and was practically a lifetime resident of Hornell. In early life he was connected with the banking business but afterward was associated with his brothers in a local manufacturing project. It was while he was engaged in this line of work that he was appointed postmaster under President Roosevelt.

While serving as postmaster, his factory burned and was never started again. For years he has been retired. Mr. Sherwood was always a staunch Republican and served several years as a member of the department of public works.

He is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. F. H. Pomroy of Hornell and Mrs. Ross Ruff of Bath, and two brothers, Frank and Fred Sherwood of Hornell.

The funeral will be held Sunday and will be private.

THOUSANDS for other Cars

The Chrysler Six has brought about a startling and unique motor car situation in motor car ownership.

All over America are families which own two, three, four and even seven Chrysler cars.

There are two main reasons—but they both go straight back to the fact that it is a genuine delight to drive a Chrysler Six.

They go straight back to the fact that the Chrysler Six is an entirely new type of car, built on a new kind of engineering, which produces results radically different from any heretofore registered.

At an extreme are the families which can afford the most expensive chauffeur-driven cars.

Many of these have found a new joy in motoring. Men who have never driven their own cars for years are now driving their own Chrysler. They have discarded the heavy, cumbersome cars; or kept them only for occasional use. For general use—the Chrysler Six. So great is the demand to drive this car on the part of both men and women in the same family, that two or three and even more Chrysler cars are found necessary.

The other side of the picture shows families which have owned a car costing perhaps twice as much as the Chrysler Six, and who have discarded it for the interests of economy and greater convenience.

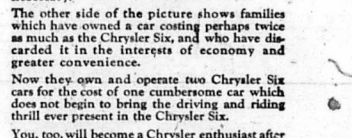

Now they own and operate two Chrysler Six cars for the cost of one cumbersome car which does not begin to bring the driving and riding thrill ever present in the Chrysler Six.

You, too, will become a Chrysler enthusiast after your first thrilling, delightful ride and drive in the Chrysler Six—a ride we are eager and anxious to give you.

Typical Reasons Why Many Families Own Two or More Chrysler Cars

Mr. Edward C. Taubel, of Norristown, Pa., says: "The four cars we have purchased for us have been a revelation to us in easy handling, small amount of upkeep and general all around service."
