EVACUATION BY FRENCH IS COMPLETE

No French Soldiers Remain in Mining and Industrial Basin of Ruhr

PARIS, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Official announcement was made this morning that French evacuation of the Ruhr is complete; that no French soldiers remain in the mining and industrial basin.

The entry of the French forces into the Ruhr took place January 11, 1923. It caused much ink to flow and entire pages of the newspapers were devoted to the report of the operation designed to bring about payment by Germany of her reparations obligation. The evacuation, which was completed today, for the past month, however, has been totally ignored by the French press, which has been the general public.

Mothers Abandon Children in Vicinity of Policeman to Enjoy Sights of Coney Island

ALBANY, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The latest method employed by mothers in disposing of their children while they may be free to enjoy the sights and pleasures of Coney Island has been revealed by the state commission of prisons. It is intentional abandonment in the vicinity of an obliging policeman, with the certain knowledge that the child will be picked up and cared for during the day at the Coney Island police station.

The method is cited in a report made public today of an inspection by the commission of the station, the 25th precinct of New York City. The inspection was made July 4, and it was found that from 30 to 75 children were brought into the station house on that day up to 9 p. m. A total of 1,708 "lost" children had been cared for at the station up to that date, most of them since early in May.

The commission's investigation with parents guilty of this practice in no gentle fashion. It recommends that a special building be provided for the care of lost children and "close supervision given so that parents of children who are at fault in losing children should be arrested and presented for judgment on this despicable practice, and the little innocents not be the ones to suffer."

Pittsburg Police Sergeant Undergoes 268th Operation

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1.—(AP)— George Gillison, 37, a police sergeant, is recovering in a hospital here from his two hundred and sixty eighth operation, undergone yesterday, for injuries he suffered in an automobile accident two years ago. Sur-be his last and that hereafter he will wear an artificial leg.

Nineteen of his operations were major ones.

WOMAN KILLED DURING STORM IN BUFFALO

BUFFALO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—
More than half a normal July's rain fell here during last night, estimated at 1.84 inches, resulting in a record for the month.
The rain was accompanied by a storm which killed a woman and injured several others. A motorist who failed to return the accident ran over her while she was crossing the street.
The woman was found unconscious at the scene of the accident and was taken to a hospital where she died.

Presidents and Secretaries of State

The death of a public man may extinguish envy, but it usually leaves a flood of gossip. This is the case of President Wilson, whose disclosures of "inside information"

Some episode which has been in doubt, or controversy, is supposed to be cleared up by post-mortem revelations of confidential talks or letters. The customary curiosity has happened in the case of Mr. Wilson, and we have already heard several versions of the President's time in the cabinet in 1915. At the time he made public his defense of his course, and the actual disclosure of his private sister, except why he should feel at the second Louisiana note that he had signed and sent the first one. But the new explanation now offered is that the president had altered and altered a dispatch of the secretary of state to the Austrian government, and that thereupon Mr. Wilson felt that his personal dignity did not permit him to remain in the cabinet.

A little comparison of names and dates makes the story highly improbable. But even if it were true, it would be a very curious story. The story of the dispatch which Mr. Wilson took liberties with a dispatch written by Mr. Bryan, the latter having forwarded an article or an undecipher-

New York Day

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—If you know your Haller you have probably visited or heard of Miguel's which is not quite its name. It is a small, little cafe which at once has the balance of the bowery and the dignity of Fifth Avenue.

Everybody is welcome at Miguel's—so long as they behave. I have seen dignitaries there as well as rascals and the underworld. Miguel's is a place where the place is as inconspicuous as a subway track wreck.

Miguel appears as though he were the embodiment of an evil evil. His face bears a very malignant expression. He will seat persons who will not talk to them. He is said to be a collector of rare porcelains and runs the cafe merely to appease this artistic appetite.

People come there after the play. He has the habit of open ulcers—there is no music or other frills. One night there came to Miguel's a celebrated dancer, whose costume slightly was not what Miguel wanted. He had a meal for a month, and he placed her husband, a wealthy

husband and father, and she was drinking.

It was evident a quarrel was brewing and his manner was degraded and contemptuous. Suddenly he leaned over and slapped her, leaving a bright red mark on her cheek gone suddenly white. Miguel was at the table in two strides.

"Get out," he snarled to the woman. "And you too, madam."

He said to her with a slight smile. They left in a silence that slurred to a mere hum. And a loud clatter at the next table told of "Know who that dame is,"

and we at our table shook our heads.

That Miguel's ex-wife. She was a beautiful woman, married a millionaire. Everytime she came she came around with her fancy husband to make him jealous. He had added a bit of bread-and-butter philosophy. "You must break a guy's heart and make him jealous."

ON THE WINGS OF MERCURY

Mercury, we are told in studying ancient mythology, was the god of speed. His duties were to carry messages from the gods to the people and from one god to another. His feet were equipped with wings so that his speed would be increased to make him the fastest traveling being of those times.

Advertising in the Mercury of today. Your message in The Leader classified pages reaches nearly 64,000 persons almost simultaneously. This great number of persons know that you have something to sell, rent or want to buy in an hour or two after the paper is issued.

Avail yourself today of this tireless messenger. The Paper Leader, and place your needs before a responsive public.

"THAT YEAR OF FREEDOM"

By Mildred Barbour
Copyright 1925 for The Evening Leader

THE COMPROMISING BLUND

"Not? You don't say so. Well - I kind of expected it somehow."

"Really?" Nan laughed a trifle merrily. "It was more than I did until just now. However, that's all past now and a new problem confronts me. I need work and I haven't the slightest idea in which direction to turn to get it. So I took advantage of your kind and generous offer and called you, hoping, you might have something."

"In the cabinet line?"

"I'm admitted."

"Let me see," he was silent for a minute, then, "I'll tell you what Miss Partridge. If you aren't doing anything special tonight, suppose you let me drop in and see you. I've one or two good ideas up my sleeve and we may be able to work something up for you."

"Fine," he assented, "I'll be around."

"Nan, feeling much more cheerful, prepared a simple little dinner at home. She loathed dining alone. She recalled poor Lucille Traver with her terrible persistence and the can of beans prepared behind a screen in the studio, and she decided to enter standing up, with one eye on the clock against a possible visitor."

"Just as she had finished dressing in one of her prettiest seemingly frocks, her doorbell rang.
She recalled poor Lucille Traver and the can of beans prepared behind a screen in the studio, and she decided to enter standing up, with one eye on the clock against a possible visitor."

LOAN OFFICE LOCATED HERE

Attorney Dorr T. Martin Named Secretary and Treasurer of Farm Association

For the first time since the organization of the Federal Land Bank system, the Farm Loan Association of the Corning district now has a headquarters in Corning, where the offices of the law firm of Cheney & Costello, Attorney Dorr T. Martin has been chosen the secretary and treasurer and the sole representative here of the district bank located at Springfield, Mass. Up to date there have been granted loans in this county to the amount of $148,400 and future loans can be secured through application made to Attorney Martin.

The Federal Land Bank system was organized some years ago for the purpose of making loans to farmers. First mortgage loans are made to bona fide farmers on terms consistent with the limitations of the system and have proved of great benefit to farmers due to the fact that the mortgages are issued for long terms at a low rate of interest.

The Steuben Association which is made up of the borrowers who have taken advantage of the Federal system is the local representative through Attorney Martin of the Federal Land Bank at Springfield, Mass. It is the only organization of the kind established by act of Congress. Under the administration plan farmers in New York and Pennsylvania have paid $1,215,574 on the principal of the loans obtained through the district bank at Springfield, according to records of the bank taken on July 15. The majority of these loans are made to farmers on the 20 or 31 year plan, by paying $65 a year on each $1,000 borrowed. The farmers pay 10 per cent interest and principal in 34 years. Those who have a 20 year loan pay $85 a year for each $1,000 they borrow.

Partial payments may be made at any time toward the reduction of the principal, shortening the length of time which a loan may run. Many farmers have taken advantage of this special payment feature to cut down the total amount of interest. Special payments amounting to $439,162 have been made.

The farm loan act provides that after five years from the date on which a loan is made the mortgage may, upon any regular installment date make in advance, any number of payments or any portion thereof on account of the principal of such loan.

Bank officials, it is said, find that this feature of the act is not well understood by farmers. They point out that each borrower has the option after five years, of paying his regular installment toward the principal or toward the interest of the loan. As long as the farmer meets the terms of his contract the bank can never call for anything more than the regular installment. Under the Federal land bank system the borrower is written in the interest of the loan and he has practically no decision as to when it shall be paid in full.

There has been less use of the land bank system than might be expected. The administration men were more thoroughly understood. H. F. Johnson, assistant secretary to the bank believes. "Many farmers are of the opinion that the federal loan carries interest on the full amount of the principal throughout the life of the loan," says Mr. Johnson. "This is not the case. At each installment the principal is reduced somewhat and the interest is therefor paid on the balance."

Attorney Martin, who is the local representative of the Springfield field bank, said today that all applications for loans in this county must be made through him. He sent direct to the district bank which will be sent back here before a loan can be made.

AAA Will Encourage Better Driving by Means of Contests Competitions and Other Tests

A campaign to encourage safer motoring through the promotion of better driving by means of contests, competitions and tests may be started by the American Automobile Association.

According to officials of the national motoring organization, lack of proper understanding of cars and their operation is a fundamental reason for the inability of the Nation to make greater progress with its safety problem. "The fight against accidents," says President Thomas P. Henry, "is such a war with no less than a fight against ignorance. American motorists today would be as far behind the times as are many American drivers had the manly spirit of the early days of the automobile."

Mr. Henry states that several American cities now hold annual driving exhibitions and that these are met with instant approval for the reason that they have been invariably followed by improvements in local safety conditions. "In perfecting the automobile," he declared, "the A. A. A. executive, 'in the laboratory of the road' the present day automobile with its many features of performance and stamina has been rapidly evolved. There is no reason why we should not expect similar results with the automobile driver."

"The great trouble has been that the public streets and highways have been mistaken for the laboratory. We have learned a lot about driving through sad experience," but too often the driver who learned their lessons did not remain with us to put them into practice. "Safer motoring will be possible through encouragement of better driving, which in turn will be helped by contests, competitions and tests. These contests should be conducted under the auspices of our contest board."

"No feat of the speedway, no contest, no economy run is considered authoritative in America," Mr. Henry declared. "The A. A. A. contest board, to have such drivers, manufacturers, signers and engine builders. The contests and tests, under strict rules of the game, have been encouraged to a point where modern automobiles are being built ahead of perfection at a rate that is almost beyond belief. Such a

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Edwards have vacated the apartment in the Dr. Frank Baum house and have moved into the Heine residence. Mr. Edwards will leave the latter part of this month for Ohio, where he will take a three months course in the study of mechanism of an adding machine, after which he will be placed in a responsible position in one of the large cities of New York state as a special salesman and demonstrator. "Extensive repairs are being made on the Frank Johnson home from the house, including the addition of a large porch on the south side of the house. After which the house will be repainted."

Misses Helen Crane and Frances Clark in company with Lydia Crane, students at Cornell summer school, arrived here last evening from Ithaca to attend a dinner party given at the home of Mrs. M. Darrin in honor of her grandson, "Delmar Robertson's 21st birthday."

The annual school meeting of this district will be held on Tuesday evening, August 4 at 7:30 o'clock at the high school. The board of education will submit the budget amounting to $18,000 for the approval of the qualified voters of the district. Following the meeting a cake will be held to nominate members of the school board to succeed Frank D. Wade, Jerome Husted and William L. Leake whose terms expire. The annual school election will be held at the high school on the following Wednesday from 12 o'clock noon to 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

—Gret Lynch of Goodhue Hill has been confined to his home by an acute case of poison ivy poisoning, which has spread to all parts of his body.

—Mrs. John Murray and son Dr. John Murray accompanied by Mrs. Charles Wood motored to Williamson, Pa., on Friday afternoon where they were joined by the former's husband, John F. Murray, who is now in the general superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Mr. Murray will spend several weeks here with his family at this summer home on Maple street.

—Misses Dora and Jeanette Davis are on a motor trip to Boston, Mass., where they will visit friends and relatives.

—Fred Utter of Friendship spent Friday in town.

—John Brown, of Cohocton, Lewis Benson of Hornell, Attorney Wilbur Knapp and Robert Smith and Grover Fringe of Painted Post attended County Court held here this week.

—Mrs. M. Wood of Weston visited at the home of his sister, Mrs. Roy V. Soule this week.

—Miss Catherine Moore of Westfield, Pa., is the guest of her uncle, Richard Hunt.

NEW LAWS IN EFFECT SOON

One Important One Refers to Ownership Statement
in Sale of Cars

Several new State laws, of interest and effect locally, will become effective August 1 and between that date and January 1, 1926. One of the far reaching imports is an amendment to the way law, providing that on the sale or transfer of a registered motor vehicle, seller and buyer must execute on the certificate of registration a statement of transfer of ownership.

Thirty new laws will take effect between now and January 1, 1926. They include amendments to the county law, the surrogate's court act, the code of criminal procedure, the civil practice act and several county laws.

It would not be surprising if the automobile shows of the near future will be held on specially prepared fair grounds where machines will be demonstrated in action under all varieties of road and traffic conditions. And the drivers of these cars will be on exhibition as well as the cars themselves.

"We intend looking carefully into the possibilities. One city recently held an exhibition in which local motorists displayed their ability to back, steer, start, shift gears, stop and turn. They were also judged for their poise when at the wheel, their ability to watch the road, when they made gear changes or otherwise changing the controls and their skill in steering cleverly in and out of bad situations."

This is just the idea in the rough. Under the direction of the A. A. A. Contest Board drivers would compete with one another for honors in driving skillfully through traffic especially created for the purpose in handling the car over slippery pavements and in all the other matters which would make a driver's performance would furnish the necessary incentive for the first contests but the contests would be so definite, and the improvement in safety conditions so evident, that the contests would hardly need stimulation in the way of prizes.

Conspicuous ignorance through contests has been the outstanding reason for motor car improvement in the past century. The modern automobile is the result of driving school. Produce equally important results for motorists."

MINE TOWN RESIDENTS FORCED OUT BY CAVE-IN

WILLKES BARRE, Pa., Aug. 1

—(AP)—Residents of Jowl Hill, a mining settlement in Plymouth township, five miles from here, today were vacating their homes as a result of a mammoth cave which threatened to wreck most of the three of the fifty families in the settlement. The families in the settlement fled from their homes when the first settlements occurred.

After the cave-in on the workings of the West Nanticoke Coal Company, workers were packing their valuables preparatory to a hurried departure.

Miss Ada Warner is at the home of a sister suffering from shock after the cave-in. Her uncle, Peter Warner, with whom she lived, turned on his end.

A STRAW HAT SCARE

Washington merchants regret President Coolidge will buy no new straw hat this year, but will use his old Panama, a hat of such fine weave that it probably cost the president $100. If such a thing is possible. There seems no reason for a mere man's hat costing so much. What the merchants objected to is the presumed effect this will have on the straw hat trade. If it will save their minds any, we will tell them their fears are base. If the average American thinks he needs a straw hat he will buy one, whether President Coolidge wears one or goes without. Of course, we are all human sheep, more or less, the little tells us so, some of us black sheep, no doubt, but we are not quite as sheepish as that.

Kid Savage to Wed But

He Won't Name the Girl

SENeca FALLS, Aug. 1.—Kid Savage, Seneca Falls pugilist, whose right name is "Mike Nazario," 26, of York street, is going to be married, but who the bride will be the "Kid" refused to say. "I have his girl will be the publicity that is so beneficial to him in the ring."

Kid Savage has 45 ring battles to his credit, and says that after his marriage he's going to settle down. He says the date of the wedding has not been set.

The fighter is in training for his latest bout with "Buddy" Wood of Weston the second week in August. He is now working on his father's farm north of Seneca Falls.

—Miss Catherine Moore of Westfield, Pa., is the guest of her uncle, Richard Hunt.

October first an amendment to the labor law providing that no child under 16 years old shall be employed in or in connection with a factory more than six days or 48 hours in any week or more than eight hours a day will become effective.

Fishing License Law

The widely discussed fishing license law will become effective January 1, 1926. This act amends the conservation law and is Chapter 135 of the laws of 1925.

It provides that fishermen must take out licenses, which will also permit possessors to hunt and trap.

Under the new order of things licenses must be worn conspicuously. Owners of farm lands, owners of their families or less need not procure such licenses to fish or hunt upon their own land during the open season.

Civil Practice Amendments. Among the statutes which will become effective September 1 is one amending the civil practice act in relation to proofs of ownership of unoccupied lands and timber thereon. The law, Chapter 215 of the laws of 1925, provides that in addition to recovery of possession of unoccupied lands, except in an action which any county or any State or county officer, board or commissioner is a party defendant, the plaintiff may show an unbroken chain of title or conveyance of the land to himself for 20 years.

Another law, effective September 1, relates to compensation for counsel in criminal cases. This law amends the code of criminal procedure.

American Education Gives Tribute to Senator Cole, Attorney and an Educator

Under the caption "Successful Educator," the American Education Company, of New York, has published a tribute to Senator Robert E. Cole, of Bath, member of the law firm of Cole & Knapp, of the former principal of the high school at Painted Post and Addison.

The article follows: "Senator Cole was born in the village of Savona, Chemung County, N. Y., on November 18, 1871. He graduated from Haverling University and Cornell University, and was admitted to the bar in 1893. For several years previous to taking up the practice of law he was a teacher. He was principal of the high schools at Greenwood, Painted Post and Addison, and at Steuben county, N. Y. In 1915 he formed a partnership with Wilbur F. Knapp under the firm name of Cole and Knapp and began to practice law at Bath, N. Y., continuing until the present time.

"Senator Cole has always shown an active interest in education, law and politics. He served as a member of the Assembly of New York State Legislature in the years 1920, 1921 and 1922. In the fall of 1922 he was elected to the Senate to represent the forty-third senatorial district and has served continuously since then in the Senate. This year he was appointed for the first time chairman of the Senate Education Committee, and here he has rendered distinguished service to the cause of New York state public education.

"Early in the session he conferred with representatives of the State Department of Education, and with school superintendents and school boards. He listened to the views of all persons desiring to be heard. He had, however, very definite ideas of his own as to what legislation was necessary in order to greatly help public education in the state. He therefore brushed aside the views of educational propagandists and theorists and presented his own program for educational legislation. This program embraced the following:

"First: He believed that the factor which contributed most to the good rural school was the teacher. He therefore desired to secure well-trained, well-paid, and professionally trained teachers for all rural schools. In order to do this he proposed to accelerate the professional training of teachers for rural schools he believed that the maintained training classes for rural teachers should receive greater financial aid from the state. He therefore introduced a bill providing that each school district that maintained a training class should receive $2,000 per year from the state to be applied toward the expense of maintaining such class. He proposed there should be at least 100 such training classes in the state in order to supply the need for professionally trained teachers for rural schools.

"Second: Senator Cole does not believe in a radical reorganization of rural education such as proposed and strongly urged by the 'committee of twenty-one' in its address during the past three years. He believes that there are many rural schools which are doing well, and that as separate districts. He also believes that there are many players in the state whose enlarged or consolidated districts would provide much better educational facilities. He therefore proposed a bill intended to give greatly increased financial aid to school districts which desire to enlarge their units by consolidating several districts into one central or enlarged district. He believes that consolidation of districts, which people desire it. This development would come gradually and thus the people would have the opportunity to study the merits of enlarged school districts. Senator Cole believes that the function of enlarged districts, among other things, provide a transportation quota equal in one-half of the expense of approval transportation and a building quota equal to one-quarter of the cost of construction or permanent repair of buildings to be paid by the state.

"The third factor which he believes that one great objection to the present rural school system is the matter of inadequate and unsatisfactory transportation. He proposed to provide satisfactory equipment such as comfortable motor vehicles, and to provide a bill which provides that in existing consolidated districts, the state shall pay one-half of the expense of transportation when the same has been certified as being necessary by the local school board or committee of education.

"Fourth: Senator Cole also believes that in order to secure good schools, particularly in the rural districts, considerable payment of maintaining such schools is necessary. He proposed to pay a much larger portion of the expense of maintaining such schools. Having been reared in a small village and having lived in a small village and been in close contact with all his life with rural people he realizes that the farmers in the back districts of the state are poor and although they much desire it are enabled to provide the money maintain a satisfactory school. He therefore introduced a bill which provides that in addition to the $100,000 at present appropriated from state funds to the various rural, village and city school districts, there shall be apportioned an additional amount of $50,000. A considerable part of this fund is to be apportioned on the basis of the number of children to pay, the poorer districts receiving a much larger apportionment than the richer districts.

"Senator Cole's educational program for the present year was well thought of that he was in a position to address the New York State School Superintendents' Association at the annual meeting of the Department of Superintendence at Cincinnati in the latter part of February. After listening to the senator's presentation of his program of legislation the superintendents unanimously voted to endorse the program.

"It is a source of gratification to all friends of New York education to know that all of these bills passed both branches of the Legislature and are now in the hands of the governor awaiting his signature and approval.

"The annals of his program of educational legislation and the success with which he carried it through has brought him much credit and confidence as the most successful educational legislator of the state."

Speaks of Senator

He maintained training classes for rural teachers should receive greater financial aid from the state. He therefore introduced a bill providing that each school district that maintained a training class should receive $2,000 per year from the state to be applied toward the expense of maintaining such class. He proposed there should be at least 100 such training classes in the state in order to supply the need for professionally trained teachers for rural schools.

Second: Senator Cole does not believe in a radical reorganization of rural education such as proposed and strongly urged by the 'committee of twenty-one' in its address during the past three years. He believes that there are many rural schools which are doing well, and that as separate districts. He also believes that there are many players in the state whose enlarged or consolidated districts would provide much better educational facilities.

Fourth: Senator Cole also believes that in order to secure good schools, particularly in the rural districts, considerable payment of maintaining such schools is necessary. ANOTHER BIGUS $10 BILL FOUND

Was Passed on Elmira Merchant But no Description Was Obtained

Another chapter has been added to the investigation started here this week concerning the passing of bogus $10 Federal reserve notes throughout this season by the finding of another spurious bill. This time it was not passed by one of the merchants, but by a person passing the bill in Elmira before coming to Corning.

The spurious $10 bill which was found yesterday was passed on an Elmira merchant last Saturday. It was not described, but it was found to be a counterfeit of the genuine bill.

Bath Men Allege They Were Arrested Illegally on Probi Charge

U. S. Commissioner Claude V. Stowell in a session of Federal Court held here yesterday, granted permission to Francis Russell and Joseph McGuire of Bath, to file briefs concerning their complaint that they were arrested illegally. The men are charged with possession and transportation of alleged intoxicants and the case has been adjourned pending the filing of the briefs permitted by the commissioner.

The two men were arrested by the Bath police near the depot several weeks ago when their truck was stopped and a quantity of alleged beer discovered. They were received by Commissioner Stowell states that the best result of 435 per cent of the beer was found. He yesterday Russell was sworn as a witness and testified that he had purchased the four kegs of beer in Corning but he could not say to who he had purchased the same. He also stated that he had intended selling it at his home in Bath, but that he was being questioned he admitted that he did not have any place of business in Bath, but that he was only a passenger on the truck at the time of the arrest.

The appeal against the arrest is made on the ground that it was illegal to go to the fact that the officers did not see the beer until after the truck was stopped. The cases of Edward Stowell, of Bath, George Stowell, of Bath, and John and Gertrude Bennett of Gibson, charged with liquor offenses, all adjourned until August 4.

To Speak at Campbell

Albany Office of Sealer of Weights and Measures to Conduct Probe

A sharp check-up in this city of the failure to mark packages and selling by short weights, will take place in the near future. The Albany office of the State Department of Weights and Measures, is expected by local officials following a similar investigation scheduled for Elmira and Binghamton within a few days.

The co-operation of housewives will be requested especially in enforcing the full-basket law for huckleberries and the sale of potatoes by weight. As an inducement to housewives to co-operate, the names of informants will not be required and it will not be necessary to reveal identity in making complaints against any merchant.

At the recent state convention of city sealers at Utica it was brought out that many merchants throughout the state were selling short of the full quart measure. In some localities merchants were allowed to sell a pound and a quarter for a quart. But the law states that all fruit sold by measure must be full to the brim with no room for huckleberries.

It is said that some hucksters are selling by measure instead of by weight. Hucksters are required to carry certified scales and house-

TO GIVE TALK

Will be Main Speaker Sunday at Old Home Sunday Celebration

The annual celebration of Old Home Sunday in Campbell will be observed tomorrow and many people from this city are planning to attend. Although many automobile parties have been arranged to attend the celebration, the committee in charge of the celebration has arranged for a railroad train No. 15 due to leave Corning at 9:27 A. M. and arrive at Campbell for the benefit of those visiting there tomorrow.

This year's observance at Campbell has become one of the important events of the year in and around the city. It is an increased number attending the event. A fine program has been arranged to take place at the charge including many talks by former residents of the village. The main address of the day will be given by Michael H. Cahill, formerly of Campbell and Corning who is now principal of the Utica City National Bank. It had been planned to have a Police Commissioner Knight of New York City as one of the speakers but Mr. Knight was forced to decline the invitation due to previous engagements. An invitation has been extended to all residents of this community to attend the affair tomorrow.

CITY TAX RATE WILL BE FIXED

Common Council Expected to Take Action at Meeting Monday Night

Common Council will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday evening. There is widespread business scheduled to be transacted although it is expected that the annual tax rate for the city will be fixed at this meeting.

It is also understood that a petition is to be presented to the city manager requesting that further action be taken on the bill of adoption of a local soil drink ordinance.
