ALBANY, Nov. 7.—(AP)—An outraged parent who brought suit for damages against a barber for bobbing his daughter's hair got no sympathy from the court. His claim was rejected and he was condemned to pay the costs of the action.

The court held that hair cutting was an act of every day life, that minors could not be expected to bring written authorization from their parents each time they sought the services of a barber, and that the barber could be proved at fault only if he acted against the clearly expressed wish of a parent.

The decision in this case snipped in the bud a whole crop of suits contemplated by the parents of various barbers in this capital of Burgundy.

LITTLETON, Colo., Nov. 7.—(AP)—After playing only six witnesses on the stand, the state rested today in the case of Dr. Howard Elmer Blazer, charged with the murder of his daughter Helen, the last year old "child woman."

It is there a soul in the body of a "speechless, malformed imbecile" is there ever any justification for taking human life?

Those questions and more of a kindred nature pressed onward to a final answer today as the state continued to place its witnesses on the stand in the case of Dr. Blazer.

With the background picture of a helpless cripple, painted in words by witnesses yesterday, the state today planned to call to the stand expert witnesses to prove the sanity of the aged physician, whose defense, in part, is temporary insanity.

TAX RATES NOT ALL AS MELLON REALLY SOUGHT

Committee, Thought to Have Agreed Entirely with Secretary, Has Own Ideas

BY DAVID J. HARRIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—While on the surface it may seem as if the House Ways and Means committee has accepted the rates suggested by Secretary Mellon on normal and surplus, the fact is the committee has done no such thing. It has simply fixed one rate on the surplus and another on the normal.

DAVID J. HARRIS

ing the graduated scale of Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee and one of the ablest members in the house, especially on tax matters, once said:

"I don't care if the rate of taxes are 100 percent, as long as they are levied on the right things."

This bit of tax philosophy will be conveyed by Republican as well as Democrats, for while Mr. Mellon wants a maximum rate of twenty per cent on the normal and a rate of thirty per cent on the surplus, the committee will not go beyond a rate of twenty per cent on the normal and a rate of thirty per cent on the surplus.

As a matter of fact, the House Ways and Means committee has accepted the proposed tax on income between $12,000 and $15,000 a year beyond Mr. Mellon's figures originally presented for the committee's guidance.

There is nothing very mysterious about what the Ways and Means committee is doing. It starts with a definite idea of taxing out of the hands of the rich a large sum of money. Various business interests have been pleading for the removal of large amounts of tax. If the requests were to be granted the total revenue lost to the government would be three-quarters of a billion dollars a year. The committee has decided to levy a rate of twenty per cent on the normal and a rate of thirty per cent on the surplus.

000,000, leaving about $200,000,000 to take care of ordinary income taxes and surplus.

How then, shall the $200,000,000 be distributed? Mr. Mellon thought the item for normal taxes and surplus should not be as big as the item for the surplus. He thought the item for normal taxes and surplus should be divided into two parts, one for the normal and one for the surplus. He thought the item for normal taxes and surplus should be divided into two parts, one for the normal and one for the surplus.

Mr. Mellon thought the item for normal taxes and surplus should be divided into two parts, one for the normal and one for the surplus. He thought the item for normal taxes and surplus should be divided into two parts, one for the normal and one for the surplus. He thought the item for normal taxes and surplus should be divided into two parts, one for the normal and one for the surplus.

WILL OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY

Mayor Hallahan to Issue Proclamation Calling for 2 Minute Silence

Following the receipt of a suggestion from the office of Edward J. Westcott, adjutant general of the state of New York, that Mayor James P. Hallahan, the citizens of Corning will be asked to observe Armistice Day by a minute silence beginning at 11 o'clock in the morning. The communication from the state official today and he has announced that he will issue a proclamation next week asking all people of Corning to observe the two minute silence.

The communication received by Mayor Hallahan follows: "Referring to your letter of the 10th, relative to the observance of Armistice Day, it is suggested that the two Minute Silence beginning at 11 a. m., be announced by the ringing of church bells, blowing of factory whistles, etc., just before the time and the fact that this ceremony is to take place being the widest publicity possible."

"This Two Minute Silence should be observed by every person in the State who ever they may be and whatever they may be doing. All indoor traffic should be stopped and all traffic suspended during that period. To quote the words of the late President Wilson: 'Two minutes of silence can entail no material loss it must growage much agricultural gain. The movement was endorsed by the late President Harding during his term of office. It also has the approval of President Coolidge.' In addition to this tribute of respect and unity bringing the nation together in spirit with those who have made the supreme sacrifice, the Eaton Post of the American Legion have arranged for a public meeting to be held in the evening at the Regent theatre, the Corning Y. M. C. A. and the younger generation.

STARTS SUIT FOR $50,000

Corning Woman Falls Over Base of Pole; Brings Action Against Telephone Co.

A suit of $50,000 damages to be sued by Mr. and Mrs. George D. Warner, of this city, from the New York Telephone Company in a Superior Court action.

The wife Mrs. Linnie R. Warner says $25,000 for injuries sustained due to the negligence of the corporation and the husband has brought an action for an equal amount.

Mrs. Warner contends that she fell over a portion of a telephone pole in front of her house causing her bad injuries. She holds that negligence of the telephone company was responsible for the accident. The telephone pole had been cut, with a portion left in the ground making it impossible to be seen, according to Mrs. Warner.

Mr. Warner's action is based on the loss of his wife's services and for money to be used to pay in doctor bills and for medical.

MANY BURNING SOFT COAL NOW

Mine Strike Results in Shortage of Hard Coal; Coke Price Way Up

With no hope of obtaining hard coal, due to the mine strike, many communities are purchasing soft coal, forced by the severe weather of last month which at a large hole in the carefully boarded winter's supply.

One local dealer today stated that his firm had a large supply of the best quality soft coal on hand with which homes could be comfortably warmed with little or no inconvenience if the householder paid attention to the few simple rules governing the use of soft coal.

Enforced use of soft coal can not be considered too alarming when it is remembered that 50 per cent of the population of the United States who burn coal, burn soft coal. The New England states, New York, Pennsylvania and parts of Virginia burn the most hard coal which is mined in the United States while the majority of the population uses soft coal entirely.

When asked about the use of other substitutes the dealer stated that there was no wood fuel supply on the market aside from that brought in through the usual supply during seasons when anthracite coal is plentiful.

Coke, which is preferred by some to soft coal, has risen to an almost prohibitive price, the last quotation being around $16 per ton, soft coal still remains the only practical fuel both from the standpoint of cost of obtaining and burning economically.
