Tax Collections Grow; Show U. S. Prosperous

Although the tax rates were cut, the tax collected on income shows a higher total in 1924 than the previous year, according to statistics made available to the federal revenue bureau. The gain in tax receipts for the year 1924 was $25,442,685.

The growth of the tax receipts resulted in spite of the fact that there were nearly 400,000 fewer tax returns filed in the previous year. The aggregate net personal income was $25,039,210, 892 which is nearly one per cent greater than the total net incomes for 1923 showed that the earnings capacity of the people of the country is still on the increase.

There were substantial decreases in the number of returns for the classes with incomes from $1,000 to $4,000. For 1923, a total of $2,618,354 filed returns on income from $1,000 to $4,000, while in 1924 the number was $2,589,494. There was a reduction from $2,676,970 to $2,509,159 in the number of returns on income from $2,000 to $3,000. Those between $2,000 and $4,000 decreased from 1,155,456 to 1,051,246.

Increases were shown in the number of returns for the class with incomes from $4,000 to $10,000 and extending to the millionaires.

Two and Two Makes Four

The fallacy of this proverb lies in the fact that, while two and two do make four, they also make more than a score and, separated by nothing but zero, make more than a couple of hundred.

It is the same with the trouble arising from short sightedness.

Coal tar was once only coal tar—so sure as two and two make four. Then the wizardry of science proved that coal tar is also medicine, airplane dyes, perfume and scores of other useful things.

For thousands of years it was believed that men could not be fitted up with wings to fly like a bird. It was as sure as two and two make four that men could not be fitted up with wings to fly like a bird. It was as sure as two and two make four that men could not be fitted up with wings to fly like a bird.

Some of the most plausible things in human experience have been reexamined lately with the result that the old ideas have been discarded and new ideas, products, profits, labor saving devices, mechanical miracles and artistic accomplishments that were as impossible a few years ago as two and two make four.

Two and two make four. It was said of a certain philosopher who combined cynicism with unimpeachable logic that "nothing can be as plain as he makes it to appear."

Many a theory is too logically true to be trusted.

New York Day by Day

By G. O. McFETTER

(Copyright 1925, McFetter & McFetter, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—My favorite leading spot in Manhattan is Fifth Avenue and 40th street.

There is a kaleidoscope view of humanity one sees there—humanly shaped invariance in race. There are the highly eyed eyes of those glinted with life and the sparkling eyes of youth vibrant with sheer living.

There is the yellow gleam of jewelry as well as the sheen of ash-velvet. You see men with neckties and white haired ladies with Sheppard's crooks. You see the chauffeur's friend of Broadway. The women are diverse. Aphrodites and Brunhildes. The men are so diverse.

THINK, TOO, there is the queenly lady who at 4 o'clock, rain or shine, passes up the avenue in her imported Humaine. She is alone in the back seat, erect as a ramrod and apparently seeing nothing but the back of the chauffeur's head. Fifth Avenue is just as curious as Main street and there isn't a carriage starter who does not look to solve the mystery of her identity.

A BROADWAYITE says the Charleston originated with a drunken man running after a street car yelling "Hey, Hey."

POOR KATH CARROLL has been the victim of a publicity prankster. He has engineered many publicity stunts that splattered first page. He went to jail himself, baited out a shooting show and said "I am not a publicity hound."

On his ideas and when two of his stars were actually lost in a yacht at sea—not a line. Two other stars resulted in Carroll being mentioned merely as "a certain producer." There was almost a riot in his theatre not so long ago but nothing was printed yet. Carroll had nothing to do with it.

GOOPS!

A Dolly Lesson in Manners for Children

When you have lovely things to call.

Of course you always want to treat—

But Goops, like puppies with a bow.

Go off to eat their sweets alone. They never share their games or toys.

With other little girls and boys.

GREEDISHNESS.

When you have lovely things to call.

Of course you always want to treat—

But Goops, like puppies with a bow.

Go off to eat their sweets alone. They never share their games or toys.

With other little girls and boys.

MAKING THE STEPHENAGE HE.

Two summer-age Cornell undergraduates, Burke D. Adams of Omaha, Nebraska, went abroad to supplement his college education with travel. His purpose was high, but his funds were low, and so he was forced to ship third class, for as it is more commonly known, steers.

"Here," said Adams to himself, "is an economic waste. Fifty hundred and eighty-three bucks empty because of the restriction of the immigration law. In the States hundreds of students, wishing to go abroad, who haven't the price of a cabin passage. Dress up the Heccks! Call it College Cash, tell the students, and fill up the ships."

And then a shipping agent in Chicago, the friend of a friend of Adams, got wind of the notion and wrote for particulars. Adams wired back complete information, and the agent, Mr. Johnson, mentioned it to the Chicago representative of one of the biggest steamship lines. The other man threw up his hands in holy horror.

For God's sake!" he cried, "forget it. It will mean a revolution in the shipping business."

"You bet it will," said Johnson. "That is Adams' idea exactly."

Johnson left the terrified steamship man and told his story to local officials of the Cunard and the White Star Lines. They communicated at once with the New York office, and in two days an officer of the company traveled to Chicago to interview the college boy with the new idea.

"We are sufficiently interested in your scheme," said the company's officer, "to give you the entire third cabin of the S. S. Saxonia, sailing June 1st."

"It will have to be done right," Adams said. "You must give your passengers more elbow room and extra stewards. Make it worth their while to fill up your empty third cabin."

"That can be done," the officer agreed.

"Grapefruit for breakfast."

"We'll do that too if you think it necessary."

Other details were discussed, and then the company man explained his homophony.

"Mr. Adams," he declared, "you will see our agent for all the American colleges. Our only proviso is that you obtain a minimum of three hundred bookings by May 1st."

To start the ball rolling, Adams booked himself for a college cabin on the Saxonia, feeling that if he put the thing across he would secure another trip to Europe. Then he got busy. Fraternally brothers, working on a commission basis, joined forces with him. Professors, assistants, Bulletins were posted. Advertisements appeared in college journals throughout the country. Applications began to pour in.

STOP THIEF

Corning Cooperative Savings and Loan Association

What a future would go up, if a thief should steal money from you. The amount might be large or small; get the sense of loss would be keen and you have a feeling akin to hatred against him. Your damaged pocket-book and damaged feelings would call for something like revenge; that he be caught, convicted and punished.

There is, however, a thief who does not carry a black jack or jimmy but who at the same time is stealing money regularly from you. By one alias he is known as "Extravagance." The reason for his successful operations comes from the fact that you begin to care after you have spent, whereas you should put aside your savings as soon as your salary is received and then keep your spending within the limit you set.

At first glance, it seems it would be necessary to deprive yourself of something desirable, but you will be surprised to learn that this plan affects your purchases power very little. The lack comes from buying things you do not want and cannot use.

The best police Protection against this thief called Extravagance is the Loan with the Installment Shares plan, for while you may withdraw at any time, it is compulsory as long as you carry a share, to save regularly a fixed amount every month. Instead of your paying for the protection, the Loan pays you 6% for the privilege of giving you the protection.

Outgrown our clothes—yes months ago—but we are a conservative bunch—while we needed a larger warehouse long ago we did not make the move until Dec. 1924.

N.H.S. Defeats Avoca 2-1, Corning F.A. Wins by Score of 37-32

HORSEHEADS PROVIDES STIFF OPPOSITION FOR BLUE AND WHITE QUINT

Game Not Won Until Last Whistle With Both Teams Fighting Hard for the Honors

By Francis Griffin

The Horseheads High School basketball team furnished some very strong opposition to Corning Free Academy's basketball team in their opening game of the season last night on the Academy court, but the latter came through in the last period, and took the game by the score of 37-32.

The game was not won by either side until the final whistle blew, as both teams were quite evenly matched, and when one team would score, the other team would follow suit. Near the end of the last quarter the score stood 31-31, but Tunney, the "midget" forward of the team did not like this, and looped a basket in from about the middle of the court. Langan then put two in, and the game was clinched for the Academy.

The Horseheads team has an abundance of Elsenhart in their team, at both forwards and one guard are brothers, they seemed to work perfectly together, getting all but two of the points among them. W. Elsenhart, captain came out with a score for the team, with eight baskets and two fouls for an 18 point total. His brother Junior came around in scoring, with three baskets and two fouls, for an eight point total.

ORANGE AND BLACK EASY WINNER TAKING BATTLE TWO TO ONE

Locals, However, Failed to Make Good Many Shots That Would Have Brought Bigger Score

By Niver W. Bowman

The Northside High School basketball team scored a victory over the Avoca club last evening by the score 22 to 11. The game was far from being a spectacular contest, in fact it was very humdrum sort of affair, without any of those thrills that generally accompany a basketball contest.

Although the Orange and Black team did not score itself with much ease, it was not without its share of success. It is true that the team did not score its opponents two to one, but nevertheless, the number of baskets made by Corning was very small in proportion to the number of chances that they had to score. They simply could not locate the basket. Time after time H. S. took half down the court, and from the tip off, only to miss the jump by feet on a perfectly clear shot. It was simply a case where the entire team needed some special equipment, namely, a pair of spectacles for each man. Northside averaged about one basket out of every six or seven tries.

Northside made eight field goals. Avoca scored five. N. S. sank seven free throw out of twelve. Avoca made one out of eight. Although Corning shot six out of ten free throws, Avoca showed the best percentage in the "easing of the ball" in the second quarter. The clever defense work of Bawit and Oburn, prevented Corning from running up a larger score.

A field goal was not made by the team during the first quarter. N. H. S. missed much tries in this period alone to have fouled the score. If they had made their attempts, Avoca did have an opportunity to score. Any field goals in the first quarter, Hangerford and McLaughlin made a couple of fouls in the second quarter. Hangerford also made a foul. Avoca was unable to score. In the second half Avoca made three field goals and two fouls. Hangerford fouled twice, and McLaughlin fouled once. For Avoca, Loop scored three baskets, Matthews got one, and Cran sank a foul.

Allen was high scorer and star of the Orange team, with three field goals and five fouls to his credit. Hangerford was second with a total of three baskets and one foul. McLaughlin made two field goals and four fouls. Oburn made a foul while Oburn made a foul.

Stucky Perry comes to Northside tonight at 8 P. M. H. S. hopes to win their second game of the season then.

Allen played the tip off better for Warren.

Coming Team Loses Classy Game to Hammond's School Quintet

By Niver W. Bowman

The "Sticks" Hangerford team of the Hammond school defeated St. Mary's Middlets in the last game of the season on the basketball court. The game was lively from beginning to end, more so than any of the other games. The Middlets were unable to penetrate the strong defense of the Lakelanders.

Griss was high scorer for Avoca with two baskets and three fouls. He played a fine floor game and scored most of the points. His running mate, scored a pair of dunks and was in all the pass-work. Pastoral Letter of House of Bishops is Read by the Rev. George B. Kinkead

At St. John's Episcopal Church Sunday morning, the Rev. G. B. Kinkead read the Pastoral Letter of the House of Bishops which was adopted at the General Convention at New Orleans. This letter which is sent out triennially, is a general survey of present conditions and ways and means of changing and bettering them.

"We look out upon a world in which vast changes are taking place," the letter says. "In China, elsewhere among the peoples of Asia and Africa, movements are afoot which will soon have momentous consequences for the world."

"We are living in a world of war and peace, of joy and sorrow, of hope and despair. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of racial hatreds and of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of poverty and wealth, of hunger and plenty. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of ignorance and knowledge, of darkness and light. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of sin and righteousness, of evil and good. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of hope and despair. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of love and hate. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of faith and unbelief. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of truth and falsehood. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

"We are living in a world of beauty and ugliness. The signs of the times are warning us of the danger of a world at war."

Two Unsuccessful Raids Staged at Places of Pedro and Erclano

Two unsuccessful raids were made in this city late yesterday afternoon by Sheriff W. B. Page, assisted by Federal agents. The first place visited was that of John Pedro at 58 West Market street and the second that of Joseph Erclano, of 181 East Clark street. Sheriff Page says that in both instances some "wet goods" were dumped after the officers entered the places.

After a considerable search in the Pedro place the officers found a cleverly concealed trap near the front door. Going to the cellar Post.

Explorer's Own Account Gives Dodge Brothers Motor Cars Credit for Remarkable Exploits

Says They Will Be The "Covered Wagons of the Desert," Only Car Capable of Such Performance

This is the first of a series of four interesting articles regarding the recently ended third Asiatic Expedition of the American Museum of Natural History, written by Roy Chapman Andrews, the leader of the party of explorers and scientists. It will be remembered that the many discoveries made during Mr. Andrews' three exploring trips have contributed invaluable additions to the science of Geology and interesting information regarding many monstrous animals which roamed over the earth millions of years ago.

By Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews.

The motor car will be the "covered wagon" of the Gobi Desert in Mongolia, the most extensive, undeveloped and unexplored region now left in the world. Motor vehicles will be in this quarter of the globe what the ox-drawn and horse-drawn canvas topped wagons were to America's Great West, and it is conceivable that some scenario writer of the future will give us a screen drama of central Asia comparable to the splendid picture based on Emerson Hough's book.

This practically unknown territory is half as large as the United States, Alaska included. If you put Mongolia down on the map of the United States, it would extend from Washington on the east to Nevada on the west, and from Austin, Texas, on the south to the Canadian border. It has never been open to the world because of the impossibly slow traffic of camel trains, the only means of communication. But now it is being criss-crossed in every direction by motor cars, or more correctly by one motor car, the Dodge. Sixty or seventy Dodge Brothers cars are making regular

MUSIC LOVERS GIVEN TREAT

Dynavor Concert Company Has Wealth of Talent and Musical Ability

An excellent concert embodying both fine technique and talent of a high order was given by the members of the Dynavor Concert Company at the Recreation Hall of the First Methodist Episcopal Church last evening. The four artists were each accomplished musicians and any two of them could have presented an evening's entertainment above the average.

Of Miss Lea Epstein, the Argentine violinist, it may be said that she is one of the most talented violinists that Corning has not in some time. Her bowing was excellent and was only excelled by her simile technique with her fingers. She played difficult selections with grace and ease of accomplishment that bespoke long hours of practice in mastering the technique of the instrument. Withal, without an expression that showed the fine fiber of artistic distinction.

Her only flaw was too much reserve that at times tended to reserve into distantness with her audience. While a certain amount of reserve is admirable, too much is to be regretted and an artist whom the audience feels is friendly and in taking it into her repertoire of acquaintances while she is performing often covers a multitude of petty trivialities with her grace and charming friendliness. Not that Miss Epstein needed the friendship to cover technical mistakes. She emphatically did not. However, would she put more personality into her music and let the audience become acquainted not only with her ability but with her, she could easily win her way to a place of recognition among the peers of her profession.

In this respect, Miss Janet Christine, the soprano, was a complete contrast to Miss Epstein for she put behind her singing a verve and energy that was admirable and enjoyable. Her tones were full and rounded and she delighted her hearers both in solo work and in duets with W. J. Davies, the baritone. Miss Christine showed an excellent technique. Her singing was easy and spontaneous.

In one group of songs she played her own accompaniments, a rather difficult thing to do and do so effectively as she did. All her selections showed the result of thoughtful preparation and earnest endeavor.

W. J. Davies, the baritone, was cheered again and again. He has just enough of the Welsh accent to make his singing interesting but not so much as to prove monotonous or irritating. His tones were full, deep and rich and he had an excellent range. He sang a variety of songs last evening varying from old classics to more modern selections in each of which his voice blended pleasantly with spirit of the song. His "Invicta" by Bruno His and also his "Yeoman's Wedding" by Panfiliowky showed the adaptability of his voice to the heavier sort of selection.

The pianist, Arthur Williams, did some excellent work during the evening. His solo selections showed great ability and technique and his accompaniment were satisfying complements to the solos. There were times in his solo selections when more could have been wished for in the heavier parts of the selections but the lack of this was probably more due to the lack of a larger instrument as to lack of ability on the part of the performer. His arpeggios and trills were examples of brilliant execution.

All in all the concert was one which would have been of interest to all music lovers and which should have brought a much larger er crowd than was present last evening. Those who missed it missed a musical treat.

COURT TERMS ARE CHANGED

Bath Term Transferred to Hornell, June Changed to Month of March

Under the arrangement of Supreme Court terms for Steuben County as announced this week by the Appellate Division, the September term which was formerly held at Bath has been transferred to Hornell and the June term held at Hornell has been changed to the month of March. This change was made following a petition of Steuben attorneys requesting the changing of the September term. The Appellate Division designated that an added term be given to Steuben County for the extra term under the petition to be held at Bath. This has been refused. Instead of adding a sixth term to Steuben County the program is merely re-arranged. As a result Hornell will get two terms, both being changed from the previous schedule, one to be in March and the other in September. Bath will get the January term instead of September as in the past and Corning gets the same terms as before, April and November.

The petition for the change was received by Corning attorneys and typically all the attorneys in the county with the exception of those at Hornell and Corning. It was pointed out in this petition that the previous arrangement was not satisfactory, due to the fact that the September term usually conflicted with the Bath fair and that furthermore the jurors at that time of year were usually engaged in their harvest at that section.

Notice of the change was received yesterday at the County Clerk's office in a communication from Justice Sanyal. The official schedule has not yet been received, however.

ENRIGHT ARRAIGNED ON MURDER CHARGE; ADJOURN HEARING

Enters Plea of Not Guilty and Examination is Postponed to December 18; Rogers is Retained

Michael J. Enright, arrested Thursday morning by State Trooper Harry DeHollander in connection with the murder of Timothy Shay, at Campbell, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Leslie W. Wellington in the City Court room here about 11:30 o'clock this morning on a charge of murder, first degree. An examination was demanded by the defendant and this was adjourned to Friday, December 18, at 10:30 o'clock at the suggestion of District Attorney Guy W. Cheney and the consent of Attorney Thomas F. Rogers who appeared for Enright.

Enright has been in the county jail at Bath since Thursday afternoon. He held on an open charge pending the investigation by county authorities into the slaying of Shay, whose lifeless body was found along the road in front of the Enright home at Campbell about 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

At his arraignment this morning Enright was informed that he could not enter a plea of guilty to the charge of first degree murder and the court stenographer was instructed to enter on the record that the defendant had pleaded not guilty. In opening the hearing this morning Justice Wellington announced that counsel for the defense had consented to the arraignment being held in this city, thus waiving the question of jurisdiction as far as the town of Corning is concerned. Under the existing court procedure any justice of the peace can hold hearings in cases from other sections of the county but a city judge is without this power.

"What is your name?" was the first question asked of the defendant. "Michael J. Enright," was his answer in a voice which although firm and steady, was scarcely heard by the crowd that had surged into the room.

"Your age?" was the next question. "Sixty-four," was the prompt response.

"Your occupation is what?" asked Justice Wellington. "I have no regular occupation. I have been taking care of the farm and house at Campbell. You can call me a farmer."

"You are charged on the information signed by Coroner Willis S. Cobb with the crime of murder in the first degree committed in the town of Campbell, County of Steuben, State of New York on the 10th day of December." Enright was then informed that under the statutes he could not enter a plea of guilty. He was asked if he desired an examination and when Enright replied that he did, District Attorney Cheney offered the suggestion that the formal examination be adjourned to which Attorney Rogers consented. The prisoner was then remanded to the county jail in the custody of the sheriff.

The defendant was brought to Corning today by Lieutenant Ray Hardenburg. The man was not handcuffed and when he appeared in court presented a respectable appearance, a considerable change from his appearance Thursday when he was unkempt and dirty with a heavy growth of whiskers on his face. He appeared very calm with no outward sign of nervousness.

Attorney Thomas F. Rogers, while talking with a group of newspaper men stated that the defense would have no formal statement to make at this time. He did say, however, that he had been retained by the family including the five brothers of the defendant all of whom he said believed in the innocence of the accused. He also said that to him it was a most significant fact that although the hands of Shay were battered and badly swollen as if he had been in a fight or some kind, there was no marks of any kind found on Enright.

Following the arraignment of Enright, pictures were taken by newspaper photographers. District Attorney Cheney, Attorney Rogers, Justice Wellington, the prisoner, Michael J. Enright and the court stenographer Mrs. Leland H. Bryan posed for these pictures.

There was but one new development in the case today. This is in connection with the arrest of Enright by Trooper DeHollander. When talking with an Evening Leader representative shortly after the arrest of the defendant, he said that the man was found in the front yard of the Enright place. In his affidavit, however, he says that after being informed of the finding of the body of Shay, he and Trooper Harry Adams started for the Enright place with Supervisor Ira C. Platt. "When about half way there we met Enright walking toward Campbell," reads the affidavit, "and according to Attorney Rogers the man was then on his way to notify the coroner."

Drs. E. H. Hutton and H. E. Dutton made an examination of the body of Shay at the Starfield Undertaking parlors last evening and photographs were taken of the face and head of the dead man at the institution of Attorney Rogers.

Enright's story as to the happenings of Thursday morning as far as he was concerned remains the same according to attaches of the county jail. He admits having had some drinks with Shay Wednesday night after which both retired. When he awoke Thursday morning about 7 o'clock he says that he found Shay gone. He then went to the barn to do some chores and worked about the place until 10 o'clock when he went to the mail box along the road and there found the body.

When the state troopers arrived, they being the first officials on the scene, they found the body slumped on the porch and another on the ground just off the edge of the porch. Leading from this to the roadway along which the body was found, was a zig zag course of blood spots on the dry leaves. The saw with which it is believed the murder was committed was found leaning against the rear of the house just outside the kitchen door.

At the autopsy performed Thursday night by Drs. Henry E. Elwood, Frank H. Starr and Coroner W. S. Cobb it was said that the man might have lived several hours considering the nature of the wounds. A new theory, which has been advanced concerning the blood spots on the lawn, is that Shay dragged himself to the roadway after being struck, this theory being advanced on the ground that if the man had been dragged or rolled the spots would have been made in a straight course.

Patrick Enright, a brother of Michael, who is a clerk at police headquarters in New York, arrived here yesterday in company with Thomas Hassett, a close friend of the family. Neither one was in court this morning, however. There were various reports about the city today that Police Commissioner Enright had come here for the arraignment this morning but this was not true although it was said by Attorney Rogers that there was a possibility that Commissioner Enright might come here next week.

Watch YOUR Car

Organized automobile thieves are operating in the Eastern United States and are meeting with success to an alarming degree. But in spite of that fact, records show 90 per cent of the thefts result from carelessness on the part of the owner.

Our advice, therefore, is keep your car locked when parked, keep your garage locked at night. Use every precaution to make it hard for the thief and in the event of your car being stolen report immediately to the police.

First and foremost, however, carry theft insurance. From the fact that great automobile manufacturers with all their resources refuse to own a single automobile that isn't covered by theft insurance, the ordinary man cannot gamble with the thief.

There are differences in automobile theft policies which you should understand before you take out this needed protection. Our experience and information will be of great service to you.
