ANDREE FLIGHT SPECTER HANGS OVER FLIERS

Evidence That Viking Airman Passed Over Pole or Very Near It

NEW YORK, Apr. 24.—(AP)—Which ever of the flying men bound for unknown Polar regions this summer is the first to reach the Pole he probably never will be certain that he actually was the first man to fly there.

Twenty-nine years ago, with far greater equipment than any of the adventurers this summer are taking, three Viking airmen tried to sail through the sky to the end of the earth. There is some evidence that they passed over the Pole, or very near it, although what finally happened must be relegated to hazy legends.

The leader of the party was Prof. Salomon August Andree, a Swedish scientist and aviator, who was interested in ballooning. His companions were two other Swedes, Nils Strindberg and Knut Hjalmar Ferdinand Fraenkel. Professor Andree was a man of great energy and was trading winds blowing through the upper atmosphere from Spitzbergen across the straits to North America, which would carry his balloon in safety over the Polar ice cap.

He carried the last word in scientific apparatus for his day—only a generation ago in place of radio apparatus he carried a large quantity of bottles that he could drop overhead with messages and a few carrier pigeons. Professor Andree's balloon measured ninety-seven feet from top to bottom, the bag alone being seventy-five feet from summit to opening. It consisted of three thick layers of silk glued together and covered with five coats of varnish.

In the basket was a bedstead upon which one person might recline while the other two made observations and navigated. On top was a wicker cover upon which the observers could stand and use the instruments fixed around the edge. A cooking outfit was lowered fifteen feet below the basket on a rope. It was lit by pulling a string and the fire was put out by pulling another. The ropes were trailed behind with the expectation that it would be possible to steer slightly with them. Diagonally across the balloon, above the suspension ring, a large sail could be rigged to catch the wind.

On July 6, 1897, the party left Tromsø, Norway. On July 8 it passed the North Cape, and on Sunday, July 11, it was seen in the afternoon. It took off from the Pole's island, Spitzbergen, with 600 miles to the south with the wind clear and a strong wind was blowing. As the balloon rose it narrowly escaped striking a rock in the Sverdrup Sound. As it rose out of the varying undercurrents of air it swung about like a carrier pigeon setting its bearings. At this meeting the upper currents which Professor Andree presented, it started away at the rate of about twenty-two miles an hour.

For an hour the balloon could be seen from shore. It was equipped to stay in the air fifty days and carried provisions for four months.

One carrier pigeon returned a few days later with this message: "July 15—12:30 P. M.—82.2 degrees north latitude, 15.5 degrees east longitude. Good progress toward the north. All goes well on board. This message is the third by carrier pigeon, Andree," it said.

In September, 1899, a boy which Professor Andree was to have dropped overboard when he passed over the Pole, was picked up on the shore of King Charles Land and identified by the inscription "Andree, Polar Expedition." A year later a bottle containing note Number 143 was found near Verdes, in the most northerly part of Norway.

That was all. Years went by without another trace of the expedition. Liberal rewards were offered by the King of Sweden for genuine relics of the expedition. Many parties were organized and tens of thousands of dollars were spent in the Arctic regions for research.

In December, 1909, a friendly Catholic priest, who had won the confidence of the Eskimo, told him that he had seen the remains of a man on the north shore of Heindel Lake, 300 miles north of Prince Albert in the Province of Saskatchewan, Canada. A priest back an uncertain tale. Bishop Pascal, of the Diocese of Prince Albert, told the Eskimo carrying a revolver and that he had noticed that other members of the party seemed to have an unusual quantity of rope.

When he inquired they told him that a great "white house" had come down from the sky, that the men in it had stayed to death and that the rope had come from the him brass instruments and hanging near they had fashioned from metal they found in the balloon and also cooking utensils and waterproof cloth they had taken.

A month later Father Fervent, another priest, brought back additional news. The Eskimo said that he had seen the white men had built a game. This angered them and they killed the white men.

These reports stirred the recollection of William T. Horn, who for fifty-five years had been connected with the Hudson Bay Post at Fort Hope. He recalled that in 1867 the post had been notified to keep a watch for the balloon crew. He said he saw the balloon light passed through the sky. The next day the Eskimo crowded the landing post seeking an explanation. They reported that a strange light had passed through the heavens very near the earth and that as it passed they could hear the voices of angels.

One other subsequent report with the stamp of authenticity was made. Christian Leader, a Norwegian explorer, said Eskimos told him they saw the balloon come from the sky and saw smoke and that they came from strange sticks which "the devil" killed with their arrows, but when the other Eskimos said that he was not honest that he was hunting birds only, the Eskimo realized that they had killed a human being and died in fear. They saw no more of the other men.

HITTERS SLOW ON THE START

Few Leaguers Have Piled Up Marks But Average Has Not Been Good

CHICAGO, Apr. 24.—(AP)—The major league pennant races are under way with all the fervor of the winter season. Whether the light hitting is temporary and due to the irregular training of the spring, or the result of a "slower" ball in use is not yet clear. It is expected that the hitting will be shown only as the season progresses.

The fact stands, borne out by cold figures, that the batting so far has been phenomenally light. Some few major leaguers have piled up unusually high early-season work, but the teams, as teams, are hitting pretty well down in the column averages so far for this stage of the races.

The Giants show a team batting .275 at 2:40 to place second and Cincinnati comes third, with .262. The Boston Red Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates trail them all with the extremely low team percentage of .245.

In virtually a direct reversal of their final 1925 pennant standings, are the American League clubs. Next to the Yankees come the Cleveland Indians, with a team average of .236 and Boston stands third with .222. The champion St. Louis Cardinals are last with a rating of .217.

One of the few veteran leading hitters at the top of the list, Cardinals, who holds his old post at the top of the National player, is Zach Wheat, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, with .317, made in six games, and Hohebacker, Chicago outfielder, in third, with .301. Bottomley, and Louis Cardinals, who finished second among the hitters in his league last season, is down in the third-place position.

GOLF PERIOD IS EXTENDED

Open Championship Is Made Longer and Prize Money Increased

NEW YORK, Apr. 24.—(AP)—The United States Golf Association today disclosed new changes in playing conditions for the 1926 open championship at Columbus, O., under which the period of the competition is extended from two to three days on July 8, 9th and 10th, and the prize money increased by $400.

The U. S. G. A. also announced selection of seventeen courses over which qualification tests will be played on June 14th as follows: Boston district, Essex Country Club, Manchester, Mass.; New York district, Baltusrol Club, Short Hills, N. J.; Philadelphia district, Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa.; Richmond district, Lakeside Club, Atlantic City; East Lake Club, Dallas district, Brook Hill Club, Pittsburgh district, Oakmont Club, Oakmont, Pa.; Cleveland district, Willowick Club, Wickliffe, O.; Detroit district, Lochmoor Club, Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich.; Chicago district, Calumet Club, Homewood, Ill.; Minneapolis district, Interlachen Club, Hopkins, Minn.; St. Louis district, Algonquin Club, Western Grove, Mo.; Kansas City district, Hillcrest Club, Denver district, Cherry Hills Club; Los Angeles district, Lakeside Club, Hollywood, Cal.; San Francisco district, Lake Merced Club; Seattle district, Inglewood Club.

The addition of an extra day for the championship proper radically alters the conditions under which a field of 150 players will complete. At the close of the first two days' play, during which the complete entry will participate in two eighteen-hole rounds, players having the sixty low scores will continue in the final 36 holes on Saturday. The remainder of the field will be dropped.

The added prize money will enable the association to reward the first twenty professionals to finish. Hereof, only twelve have received prizes. Players finishing from thirteenth to twentieth, inclusive, each will receive $50.

Other prizes, including first place money of $500 remain unchanged. Having decided to admit without qualification the first thirty to finish last year at Worcester, as well as the Walker Cup team members, foreign players in this country, and American professionals who compete in the British open, officials today estimated that approximately 100 will be qualified for the sectional events. Quotas will be apportioned to limit the qualifiers to 150 as soon as entries are closed on May 24.

BAN CADDIES IN TOURNEY

Appearance on Course Said to Have Had a Demoralizing Effect

NEW YORK, Apr. 24.—(AP)—Hilarious caddies, some of fortune and uncrowned heroes of many a national tournament, will be missing from the cast of the Open Championship this year at Selcton.

Their exclusion from the major golf competition of the season, decreed by officials because their visits are considered to have had a "demoralizing effect" on local club-carriers, marks an initial step to discourage a traveling corps of between 50 and 100 veteran campaigners experienced carriers who follow their idols' for the first time in the history of a major competition the bachelors' privilege at Columbus,

Machine of George Lawrence, Stolen Here, Found in Akron, Ohio

Word was received at police headquarters this morning that the automobile, owned by George Lawrence, of Goriot street, which was stolen some time ago, had been recovered by the authorities in Akron, O.

When found the car had been stripped of plates and all means of identification and the car and its parts had been taken. Identification was made from a tag in the back of the car, which carried Mr. Lawrence's name, and which the thieves had evidently overlooked.

POLICE DRIVE IS ANNOUNCED

Motor Vehicle Laws to be Enforced Chief Eckes Declares Today

A vigorous program of enforcement in the matter of the minor motor vehicle laws will be begun in the city today, according to Chief of Police Eckes, who today declared that he would enforce the laws against any driver who either intentionally or not, violate the laws every day and enlarge the size of the property of others. The members of the force have been instructed to tag all motorists who are guilty of violations and hail them before City Judge Williams.

In particular the matter of correct parking will be stressed. Often times when driving in a large number of motorists in the city who fail to park properly. LEAGUE MOVIE INTERESTING

Depicts Workings of League of Nations and Friendships Between Countries

"Hell and the Way Out" shown at the Recreation Hall of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Friday evening, proved a very interesting and instructive picture. The first reels showed the kind of friendships that exist between people of different nationalities, before the war. In the picture an American boy who was studying in a German university, brought his college chum to America with him. The college chum fell in love with the American's sister and they became engaged. He returned to Germany only to join the German Army and later to be killed by his American chum in battle.

Then the last three reels showed the workings of the League of Nations and the efforts made by that body which has averted war on six occasions since the signing of the Armistice.

The pictures of the league were very interesting and instructive and presented in a graphic form the aims and purposes of that body.

During the intermission Mr. Banks, the lecturer, who came from the league presented the plea for financial support and asked those present who favored the league to join an associate membership of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association. Mr. Banks left immediately after the appeal was answered in order to keep another engagement of no estimate can be given of the reply to the appeal.

ERIE AGENTS PLAN SESSION

Employees of Three Divisions to Gather Tuesday; Several to Give Talks

Corning will be made the regular meeting place of the Joint Divisional Association of the Erie Railroad, several meetings of which have been held here in the past. The next meeting of the association which will be a joint meeting of the agents of the Susquehanna, Tonawanda and Erie divisions will be held next Tuesday in Ross & Crowl's banquet hall. It will be an all day session.

Special stress will be placed at this meeting on the necessity of initiative in building up business. A part of the program of the meeting will be discussion of various plans and each agent attending has been asked by Supt. W. J. English to have at least one new idea that will be of benefit in producing efficiency, effecting economy or improving the service.

Reports for the past month will be received and in addition a number of the members are scheduled to give interesting talks. A meeting of the Association was held here some time ago and since then every session has been held here, the agents evidently recognizing Corning as the best and most convenient place.

TWO MEETINGS ARE SCHEDULED

Better Business Bureau and the Production Club Have Calendar Committee

The general committee of the Merchant's Business Bureau, of the local Chamber of Commerce, will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday evening in Corning City Club. Paul Cain is chairman of this committee. This meeting with that of the Corning Glass Works Production Club to be held Tuesday evening in the plant, are the only events on the calendar black board in the Commerce office.

This calendar of events will be kept from week to week in the office and will be prominently displayed for the benefit of all those who may visit the office. It will constitute an information bureau with the purpose of keeping people informed as to just what a live, up-to-date community Corning is. All chairs of committees or sponsors of any movement which should be posted on the calendar are urged to get in touch with the Chamber of Commerce offices.

2 POST CARS ARE STOLEN

Machines of Arthur Lindton and Mrs. Judd Admit Still Missing

Automobile thieves were again active in this vicinity last night and as a result two Painted Post residents are minus automobiles this morning.

Arthur Lindton, of Painted Post, reported at headquarters last night that he had parked his car just above the Old Fellows Temple, on Erie avenue, about 7:30 o'clock. He returned about 11 o'clock and the car was gone.

In the other case the thieves were bolder. According to a report of the case made by Judd Admit, of Painted Post R. D. 1, sometime between 11 o'clock and 4:30 o'clock, thieves carrying a skeleton key, entered the garage in the rear of his home and stole a coupe. No noise was made and the stumbers of the family were not disturbed. The car was the property of Mrs. Admit.

DRAFT BILL IS FAVORED

Edward E. Spafford Says It Will Eliminate Service Dodging and Profiteering

A cure for service dodging, wartime profiteering and inflation, suspicion of the Universal Draft Bill is seen by Edward E. Spafford, a past state commander of the American Legion and a candidate for national commander this year. Support of the bill now before both houses of Congress is urged on the part of all by Mr. Spafford. He says that it gives the president wide powers in cases of emergency.

According to Mr. Spafford the bill is a peace measure to guarantee the security of the country and to stabilize prices. It differs from the late draft in that it gives the president the power to draft all persons between 21 and 30 years old, or such other limits as he may fix, without exemption on account of industrial occupation. It also gives the president control over industrial resources including capital and labor and the power to control prices of all things needed for the prosecution of war and maintenance of civilian population.

STUDEBAKER

—Here today—tomorrow—and years to come!

Under the same dealer in Corning since 1914

More than 500 makes of automobiles have had their day in the American market and disappeared. They are today represented by more than 600,000 "orphan cars" with practically no resale value in the hands of the public.

Right here in Corning more than—dealers have come and gone since—started to handle Studebaker cars—many of them leaving no successor to assume the obligation of service, which to us is a responsibility attached to every sale.

This is a factor of vital importance to the motor car owning public in Corning. Your Studebaker will never become an "orphan." A $100,000,000 company behind Studebaker Cars is ample assurance of that. But more important to you is the knowledge that the Corning Studebaker organization is not a fly-by-night concern, here today and gone tomorrow. We are here to stay. And we attribute our past record of success to three things: a good car, backed by good local service.

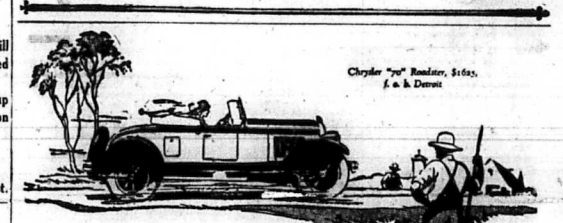

Get acquainted with Studebaker in Corning—we'll be here today and tomorrow.

Chrysler "70" Sedan, $1645, 4-6-8 motor

Chrysler "70" Means 70 Miles Per Hour Plus

Chrysler model numbers have a special significance and are an actual index to Chrysler performance and value.

Motor car model numbers up to the present time have meant little or nothing to the public.

They have rarely expressed horsepower and almost never miles per hour.

In the case of Chrysler you know what you are buying in miles per hour and all that miles-per-hour implies as soon as you see the model and know the number.

Chrysler "70" for instance is a 70—in other words it delivers 70 miles an hour.

The model number is not the maximum—Chrysler "70" delivers 70 miles per hour and more.

Comparatively few people, it is true, care to ride as fast as 70 miles an hour but the power which is indicated by 70 miles plus represents the utmost acceleration, in smooth performance, as well as in sheer speed.

We are eager to demonstrate its outstanding superiorities to you.
