Fireworks, Pageants, As Well As, Parades and Music Will Proclaim the Fourth of July

ALBANY, July 3.—Parades and pageants, fireworks and music, sports and sprouting will mark the Sunday and Monday celebration that is the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Several of the cities and villages, among them Buffalo, Syracuse, Binghamton and Albany, have been observing this work as Independence Week, with appropriate festivities, but the majority of the State's residents will observe Sunday and Monday.

Historical pageants have a prominent place on the general Independence Day program this year. Interest in the State's history, stimulated by the decision to observe the day on Sunday and Monday, has been more lively, and many communities, proud of their contributions toward the creation of the Republic, are to depict in pageant form the deeds of the forefathers.

Perhaps none of the sectional celebrations will be more picturesque than Schuylkill. This little village, according to the surrender of Burgoyne, is to be on the march for four days, including tomorrow. Two pageants, one representing the adoption of the Declaration of Independence and the other the British capitulation, will be given. Residents of the village are to wear colonial costumes for the period of the festivities and the entire community, so far possible, to revert to the spirit and appearance of 1776. A United States Semper Parvum parade will also speak at a mass meeting tomorrow.

The little village of Norway Herkimer county, arranged a significant celebration for this afternoon. The parade, which will be held in the town cemetery at the graves of the Revolutionary soldiers of War of 1812 and the Civil War. Nine Revolutionary dead are buried there.

Buffalo's week of festivities culminates on Monday with a celebration. The parade, which will be held at the city hall, will mark the semi-centennial of the republic's birth. Pageants, pageants, pageants, as well as the program as well as the reading of the Declaration and the signing of the Constitution will be before the Continental Congress in which he appeared to all to be the first president of the United States will also be staged in two other parts of the city.

Canadian will help their American neighbors celebrate in the several of the towns along the international border in Northern New York. The band of the Ontario Foot Guard of Canada is to visit Washington, St. Lawrence County, for the celebration on Monday, while Canadian visitors are expected to take part in the parade in the principal feature at an old home town in Bath, under the auspices of the West Point of America Legion, it has been necessary to abandon the celebration.

OUR TRADE BALANCE

Unfavorable balance of ten million dollars, the exports totaling $258,000,000 as against imports of $68,000,000.

Ten months of the current fiscal year, which ends July 1, have already come by and our favorable trade balance for the ten months is not so reassuring when we compare it with the balance for the first ten months of the fiscal year 1925.

What British Labor Learned Here

Eight British workers traveled 4,000 miles in the United States to learn and take home with them, if possible, the secret of high wages in America.

These are the things they discovered:

An effective readiness of American workers to go for all they get from their employers.

A general willingness of employers to work hard.

A prompt acceptance by managers and men of time-saving and labor-conserving machinery.

An active spirit of teamwork.

The visitors were earnestly concerned in the study of the laboring systems, with the training of apprentices, with the facilities for instruction, for serving meals, for care of the sick and injured, and with the provisions for retirement and pensions, and with the development of industrial democracy.

Before returning to England the missioners took part in a round table conference in New York with the labor leaders of the United States, engaging with them in questions and answers on the subject of "big business."

The United States, engaging with them in questions and answers on the subject of "big business."

Every one who has attended a conference of the governors of the United States. This year the meeting was held at Chevening, Wis. in June.

By all the gentle shades of all the apostrophizers of the fragrant leaf, such a prescription, people will exclaim, is impossible.

But it is! Equally preposterous, such a prescription, people will exclaim, is impossible.

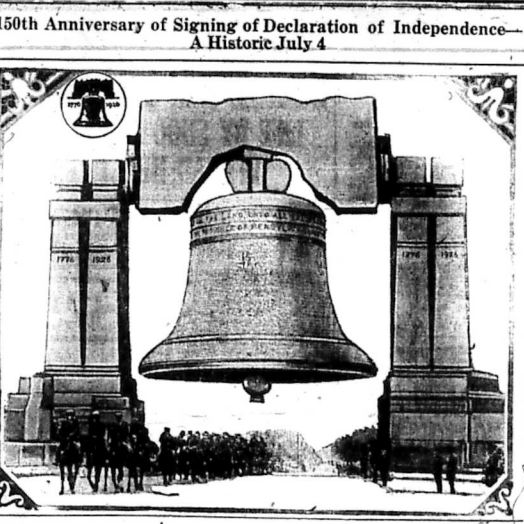

Why? Because, as people now realize, even a small, almost infinitesimal minority, if it but clamor loud enough, gains a hearing over the opposition of the world and inarticulate majority.

In free America, at present, adult plights are not to be despised. It is a little easier of access to the future, especially, should have left the American body politic sadder but far far wiser.

Our Trade Balance

Uncle Sam is now having 56 unusual experiences, it will be in the article on a balance of trade.

250th Anniversary of Signing of Declaration of Independence—A Historic July 4

In It's Old New York

By O. O. McIntyre

CORNING, N. Y., July 3.—(Sp.)—The corner drug store has added to its function of dispensing pills and penicins, plasters and perfumes, cosmetics,metics and ice cream cones, a new service—analyzing liquor.

"Alcoholic beverages analyzed here," read recent placards trimmed with red and white streamers.

"Don't believe it," says in effect the health official, who uses with alarm the rising tide of these allegations.

"Nothing more than mental safety," says Dr. Louis L. Harris, health commissioner, who today stated that many of the drug store analyses are only "superficially correct."

While Dr. Harris asserts that but one per cent of New York's drug chemists are equipped to do complete analytical work and that the druggists receive a ten per cent commission for sending on "obscene and poorly equipped laboratories" all specimens analyzed there, several druggists revealed the faith put in them by patrons and bootleggers.

"Sure, we analyze at least three of four samples a day," said the manager of a drug store near the exclusive Park Avenue residential section.

Many purchasers of bootleg liquor, it is revealed, make it a rule to have all their "stuff" analyzed, no matter what its source of guaranteed pedigree.

THE PROCEDURE is simple. A few ounces are brought to the druggist. A payment of five dollars insures, the druggist claims, an exhaustive analysis which ascertains the quality of the liquor, detects the presence of poison elements and, in general, determines whether the liquor is safe to drink.

"Five dollars is pretty cheap when you figure that our report may save a number of lives," said one chemist employed by a drug firm of high standing.

"We've found a lot of bad stuff, just as our reports show that there's a lot to drink. I don't know where it comes from, but the alcoholic content in most of it is pure, and tests high. Most of our patrons in this store come from the Park Avenue neighborhood, where the best is bought.

"There's a lot of liquor sold around in speak-enters that is pretty poor stuff—just falls apart of poison. But you take a chance wherever you buy these days.

"YOUR TRUSTED and heretofore reliable bootlegger may get stuck himself, without even knowing it. He doesn't have his stuff tested, so if you don't you're the one who is caught."

Dr. Harris' point of view is different. A real analysis, he says, one that brings out the presence of fuel oil, a poison becoming as the raw liquor goes, is a laborious task, calling for considerable skill, time and extensive apparatus.

"The average analysis is not a guarantee of the quality of the liquor," he said.

"A thorough analytical test is an intricate job with which few laymen are familiar.

"The honest druggist does not pretend to do his own analytical work. He is invariably the agent of a laboratory to which he sends all his specimens."

THE CITY HEALTH department has received many requests for liquor analysis. But the municipal laboratories are kept busy with their routine work, and only analyze liquor which is destined for use in public hospitals.

Practically any man who has passed the requirements to practice chemistry, can go through the motions of making an analysis of liquor, says the health department official. No special license is required, nor is any special kept in mind when the analysis is made.

THE SITUATION rests upon the individual's faith in his druggist, and the latter's faith in the laboratory, which does his analytical work.

NEW TERRORS FOR THE SPEED DEMON

The unfortunate speed demon, embarrassed if he were obliged to equip his car with an automatic whistling device introduced by a Parisian inventor, and contraption is sealed by the police, and it maintains a discreet silence long as the car maintains a discreet pace. But once let the driver exceed the speed limit, and the vehicle becomes a shrieking nuisance, and all the world knows the driver's guilt.

Wednesday—Attitudes of sorrow and sickness will affect your house.

Thursday—Friends will prosper and uplift you. Great success awaits upon your ambition.

Friday—A measure of success makes your heart great; your own good sense.

Saturday—If any great plan of personal success to you suddenly be not in haste to change.

Sunday—Keep to your job; keep your counsel and your money.

PARIS CALMERS have long been notorious for reckless driving, and the substitution of motor cars for horses has increased their speed without improving their regard for pedestrians.

To check their perilous propensities, French inventors have invented. One is an automatic speed record, more accurate than compasses with stop watches.

Two wires about ten feet apart are stretched across the street and concealed in such a way that an electric contact is made and broken as the wheels pass over each of them. The wires lead into a house by the side of the street, where the signals are recorded on a sheet of paper wrapped around the cylinder of a self chronograph, such an instrument as is used to record earthquake shocks or to measure reaction time. This gives an exact record of the time the wheels touch in passing from wire to wire. The instrument also indicates the weight of the car, the speed of the car and the time their respective records can be distinguished.

A controlled camera can be so set as to take a snapshot of the car as it passes and register its number if the light is on. The speeder may be confronted in court with unimpeachable evidence against him.

FOURTH OF JULY SEES MANY NEW MEMORIALS RAISED TO THE HEROES OF THE WORLD WAR

America, in the "carry on" spirit of Flanders Field and the Argonne, is keeping alive the memory of her World War dead as well as celebrating the birth of July in true American note.

The plan of the tributes to the heroes of Decoration Day this year was raised to new heights as stations in the Union added to memorials which already are represented in millions of dollars.

Even while these stately piles of masonry take form in statues, monuments and buildings, green stadiums and buildings, green parks hold open invitations and into the country still other memorials are being planned.

St. Louis is constructing a memorial park and building group at a cost of $15,000,000. Nebraska's new capital, on which $10,000,000 was expended, has been dedicated to the state's fallen men.

Charlotte is troubled by Hill's attitude and determines, after he has kissed her, to find out if he loves her.

At this point, Manning returns from a business trip. Charlotte is surprised to find her home to keep on seeing her and tells her she loves her. HAMMONDSPORT, July 3.—The Hammondspport Pirates will have a tough time over the week end as they have two hard games scheduled with the fast Westfield, Pa. team.
Sunday they play at Westfield while on Monday, Hammondspport will be the scene of battle.
The Pirates were greatly weakened in their next two games as Loper Keyes, crack keyhole racker, cut off the end of his little finger while at work and very likely will be unable to play.
If Keyes is unable to take his regular position, the Pirate management claims to have a "dark horse" who can play the position in first class style. Outside of second base the Pirates will have their regular lineup in both games. "Ted" Jacobs will probably pitch Sunday while "Wicked Willy" Brace will hurl Monday's game at Hammondspport.
Westfield has one of the best teams in Northern Pennsylvania and hold a victory over the Pirates. The Tioza team which is considered one of the fastest of semi-pro teams in that section.
However, if Westfield loses their regular lineup they may look for at least an even break on Westfield road to Addison 3-1 while Hammondspport will add Addison 6-0. Monday's game at Hammondspport will start at 3:30 sharp.

EDDIE GEE WILL BE ON MOUND FOR S. CORNING TEAM AGAINST CAMPBELL

Manager "Ted" Robinson of the South Corning nine has added another hurler to his pitching staff today, by signing "Eddie" Gee who recently won fame while on the mound for the Corning Pirates Club nine against the St. Mary's nine. It was a very close game, Hammondspport in this section and will greatly strengthen the hurling staff of the South Corning aggregation.
Manager Robinson is planning to send the new signee to the Campbell nine at South Corning Sunday. It was a very close game for "Mighty Mitt" Pope. Painted Post star to do mound duty on this occasion. "Freddie" Coumbe, C. F. A.'s alumni star, will throw "em across in the game against Elmira Monday at South Corning.
Despite the business depression in Austria, the federal railways are hauling more freight than at any age.

NO. 3—MIKE (KINDY) WINGED FOOT
Mike Brady's first drive with a golf ball must have killed an antelope. He has been the hard-luck entry of all time. He has tied for the open twice, and after twenty years of tournament golf, he had it won at Worcester last year when two tough breaks beat him back. He tied Jack McDermott at Chicago in 1911 and lost on the play-off. He had the open won as Hra-burn in 1919, with five strokes to spare, when he drove a playing mate who blew up completely and picked up on almost every hole, leaving Mike to wait, help hunt for lost balls and play out the hole alone. And even then on a short eighteen-inch putt a butterfly lit on the ball as the blade came down and he missed the putt a foot. He tied with Hagen in the play-off fifteen on the last hole topped his tee shot completely and the ball jumped a deep brook full of rocks and water 150 yards from the tee.
Last June at Worcester he was neck and neck with the leader down the stretch when a spectator ducked under his tee shot on a short hole and the ball sailed far to the right for a 5 or a 6. And even then Mike was only about two strokes out, although it took him three holes to settle down after that flury. Twenty years after his first tournament Mike Brady, home bred, is still far and straight and a golfer to be reckoned with. And after twenty years of the other, it is about time his luck was veering the other way.

Tedious Pastime—Waiting for a Long Distance Call

The SPOTLIGHT

THE VAGABONDS
Winds and tramps and roving broods, Far from worry, work and books, Far from any steel-bound creed, What a life they lead!
Winds and broods and roving tramps, As they pitch their restless camps Far from duty, care or strife, Baby—what a life!
The three main factors in the National League race just at present are Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cincinnati. Hard luck has made a race of it by cramming Pittsburgh's style. The four shining lights on that club are Cuyler, Wright, Traynor and Carey. Three of the four have been sick or injured at stated intervals, just enough to hurt heavily. Traynor and Carey were of little use for many weeks after the season opened, an athen Glen Wright drew a touch of flu. And it so happened that Glen Wright and Pie Traynor are two of the greatest ball players who have crashed in since the youth to Cobb and Spawyer.
This has left Kiki Cuyler alone intact, and he has been burning up the circuit.
Skill, morale and management figure largely in sport—but you gotta have some luck, too.
And St. Louis and Cincinnati, among others, have enough stuff to make a hard fight on to the stretch. They are good ball clubs and they will be at home the greater part of the month.

No. 7—Bill Melhorn
Bill Melhorn, who has been named the Wild Bull of the Buckeye, is one of those golfers who may win an open before you know it. Means, and if lady Luck smiles on him once in a while he can travel fast. No one had heard much about him until he suddenly came near winning at Skokie four years ago, when he let a putt or two slip away by a hair, and then fell back only by two strokes.
He had a certain bookmaker who rated him 200 to 1 in the British open looking for a deep well or some public aid through the first two rounds, but he dipped in the last two and lost his stride.
Last year he trained with a five-mile road gallop, but started too badly to catch up. Bill is a fine golfer, with at least a chance.
No. 8—Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadows
Gene Sarazen had his greatest years in 1922 and 1923. He won the open and the P. G. A. in 1922, and he beat Hagen in the P. G. A. for 1923. In the former year he also stopped Hagen abruptly in a seventy-two-hole contest. Then Gene began diagnosing his game, switching his style a little, changing things around, and back he went to the herd.
He came back a long part of the way at Worcester and this year he has gone over to his old style of four years ago. As a result he has been hitting the ball "stiff." In 1922 Sarazen practiced at every chance, often for hours at a time. At Skokie he even practiced between rounds until his stroke was grooved. He has vast yearnings to regain his lost laurels at Skokie and he should have a better chance to slip through than he has known since the glory of Skokie. It now is largely a matter of getting his confidence back and holding it over the route. At Oakland Hills, for example, he went out in 33, and then let one head hole throw

URGED BY OFFICIALS TO SAFEGUARD LIVES

Fire Chief M'Carthy and Health Officer Elwood Appeal for Proper Celebration of Day

Both Fire Chief J. W. M'Carthy and Health Officer Dr. H. E. Elwood urge a "safe and sane" fourth of July celebration this year in an effort to curb the heavy fire loss and damage and to prevent persons from being blinded or killed through shooting fireworks.

"Keep the fire works celebration safe and sane," is the message in pointing out that the shooting of all fireworks should be done under the supervision of adults. He also urges that a thought be given to the safety of buildings and that those candles and sky rockets be aimed away from buildings and roofs.

Dr. Elwood, in his statement, says that large part of the physical damage and personal injuries could be eliminated if all would take the proper precautions. Past property damage is recorded every year from the firecrackers and fire works falling on inflammable roofs and awnings, under porches, in attics, in dry grass and so spreading.

"We would like to impress on the parents of all children the safest and sanest 'Fourth' ever observed," Dr. Elwood says.

The National Fire Safety on the Elwood, in his statement, states that conditions best suited to the celebration of the Fourth are those that put the question squarely up to the parents. "Think of the injured person is given attention promptly by a competent physician, he may become a victim of lockjaw."

According to figures from the tax collector, the cost to the taxpayers of producing one high school graduate is $34,201 for the twelve years. This is the cost to both Corning and the State. The money received from both local and state taxes.

That is approximately the ratio of pupils who graduate from high school in the United States whether it was manufacturing airplanes or shoeing horses. It is before the articles were manufactured with raw material enough for 2,300 and lose half of it before the articles were manufactured. It is before the articles were manufactured before it left the factory; and finally have all but 100 left to pass inspection when completed. It would be a rather poor business proposition.

APPEALS BEING MADE IN BRINGING FRESH AIR KIDNERS HERE Local Committee Requests Names of Those Who Will Care for Them; Only Families Reply to Date

A final and stirring appeal is being made by the members of the committee in charge of the Fresh Air Children campaign in an effort to secure as many homes for children from the crowded districts of New York City in the city of Corning and vicinity for two weeks this summer.

Those who were at the station last summer either were established in the city or were leaving when no further appeal was made. The committee of the memory they carried away with them of the little folk, lively and friendly and so lovable, longing for two weeks in the city of Corning where the people do not keep all the green grass and the trees in the parks, but actually have a yard in their own backyards.

In New York the New York Tribune which publishes the Fresh Air fund 50 years ago, is receiving appeal after appeal from the city of New York. "Oh my, my little sister, do I miss you," says the old summer, "do I miss you could be together. Well, if you could come for a few days, let her take her. She never will be at all."

The Tribune established this fund a half century ago in an effort to furnish these little children at least two weeks of real vacation every year through the cooperation of New Yorkers with the city of New York. The New Yorkers contribute the funds which purchase the tickets and care for all the incidental expense while the little folk are away from their homes for two weeks of hospitality here in Corning as their part of the contribution.

Last year Corning folk offered to take children from the city of New York. And in the meantime in New York the Tribune is working hard in an effort to get money enough to send even more children than ever before. A large number are planning to spend the week end with the excitement of a celebration in this city and a very quiet observance is expected locally.

There is apt to be a discrepancy number and plenty of disappearances. If Corning folk do not come to the rescue. The children will arrive July 14 and will be taken to the city of New York. The committee can still take the names of those who would like to bring in children. "Do I miss you," says the old summer, "do I miss you could be together. Well, if you could come for a few days, let her take her. She never will be at all."

JOHN M. BURKE BURGLARS IN HIS PROMOTED REED STORE

Trainmaster Here Transferred to Mohawk Division of the Central Any Money

John M. Burke, of 162 Cedar street, for the past year, has been promoted to the position of trainmaster on the Mohawk Division, according to reports received at the office this morning. He has many friends in Corning, among the railroad men and others. It is generally known that much pleasure to learn of his much desired advancement.

The Mohawk Division which extends from Albany to Syracuse is known as the "crack" division of the central lines and the transfer of an official to that division is considered by many to be the highest promotion that can be given. The Pennsylvania Division has long been known as the "training school" of the Central lines and during the past few years many of the local division men have been promoted to the Mohawk Division.

Mr. Burke entered the service of the New York Central in 1901 as a trainman and after a short time was promoted to conductor. His promotion was made in 1910 on the Pennsylvania Division being located at the Newbury Junction in 1911 and later moved to the Corning office as trainmaster.

During his five years residence in this city, Mr. Burke has become known to a large number of friends and is especially popular among his railroad friends and acquaintances. He is a member of the Corning Lodge of Elks and fourth degree member of Corning Branch, Knights of Columbus. Mr. Burke will leave Monday to take up his new duties. Word of his promotion was received locally and he has not yet been informed where he will be located.

NO OBSERVANCE PLANNED HERE Expect Fourth Will Be Quiet as Many are Leaving the City

Sunday will be the 150th anniversary of the independence of the United States but the observance generally throughout the country, Monday, Thursday, has been no effort for a celebration in this city and a very quiet observance is expected locally.

A large number are planning to spend the week end with the excitement of a celebration in this city and a very quiet observance is expected locally. The fire department and the police department are well prepared for any emergency which might arise from any over enthusiastic celebrations or from casualties.

Local stores handling fireworks report exceptionally heavy sales and despite the fact that there will be no parade or oratory, Corning will make itself heard as did the shot that was heard around the world just 150 years ago. As to the weather, the weather man promises some exceptional fine offerings for the week end.

The Evening Leader will not be published on Monday so that employees will be given an opportunity to take an hour in his or her particular way.

AMBASSADOR HOUGHTON RUMORED AS PICK OF STATE REPUBLICANS Conference in New York Results in Suggestion of Corning Man as gubernatorial Candidate

Alanson B. Houghton of Corning, American Ambassador to the Court of St. James, is under serious consideration for the New York gubernatorial nomination by the most powerful machine leader, who says the New York American still convinced that Governor Smith is to be re-nominated for a fourth term, and feeling that a Republican thus far mentioned can defeat him, national and state organization bosses, have been for months on a hunt for the man likeliest to break Smith's string of victories.

Yesterday it developed that among Republican Congressional and local leaders the expediency of drafting the biggest available name is being considered. The declaration of Charles E. Hunt is being considered. Hunt is a member of the New York American and has already produced a formidable movement in his own district.

According to the New York American's information, the latest suggestion of Houghton was discussed at a conference of New York Republican Congressmen held just prior to the departure of Representative Ogden Mills for Europe. One of the most pronounced advocates of Houghton's nomination is understood to be Bertrand H. Small, Republican whip of the House of Representatives. His colleagues generally agreed—largely because for two terms they had served with Houghton in Congress.
