BRENNAN HAS BEST CHANCE IN 14 YEARS

Republican Party in Chicago Divided and Stay-at-home Vote May be Great

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Publisher's Note: Mr. Lawrence, Leader Correspondent since 1920, Mr. The Evening Leader

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—George Brennan, Democrat, has the best chance to go to the United States Senate that any Democrat here has had in 14 years. The Republican party is divided and the stay-at-home vote may be greater than that which is cast for the independent Republican candidate, Hugh Magill.

For the revelations of the sensational investigating committee have driven many Republicans away from Frank Smith, winner of the primary and while Mr. Magill may get some of these protest vote in both parties will be tremendous.

This is only another way of saying that the independent vote of the state will exercise its influence by refraining from a vote for any of the candidates. With the Coolidge majority in 1924 in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 and the combined vote of La Follette and Davis, the handicap of a Democrat in Illinois is obvious. Subject from this majority approximately 155,000 votes which may be polled by Mr. Magill and this is said to be a very estimate—and the normal Republican majority would be cut to 50,000.

Outside of Cook county, which includes Cricago, the regular Republican organizations are not functioning as well as usual but nevertheless they could lose a great deal and yet bring their candidate to Chicago with a sizable majority. The big question is what will Cook county do? There are twice as many Republican and Democratic optimists that Mr. Brennan will carry Cook county by more than a hundred thousand. This is not at all impossible because the Democratic nominee is "for temperance against prohibition," as the Democrats say, and he is personally popular with machine Republicans as well as Democrats. Indeed, the Barrett-Crowe faction of Republicans has had to deny that it was lukewarm in support of Frank Smith or that any deal was on whereby the local county ticket in which it is vitally interested would be supported by the Brennan Democrats in exchange for votes for their leader for the United States Senate.

Most of the newspapers in populous Cook county are either indifferent about the candidacy of the regular Republican nominee, Mr. Smith, or they are urging the election of the independent candidate, Hugh Magill. All of this redounds to the advantage of Mr. Brennan, whose organization is bound to retain the normal Democratic vote which would insure victory if the Magill vote and stay-at-home Republican vote is considerable.

Strangely enough there is not much of the "stand-by-Coolidge" cry in this state. Many Republican business men here who know George Brennan feel that he is safe as any Republican would be and as for Republican control of the Senate, there persists a feeling here that the Senate is gone anyway." Just why this should be the case in Illinois and not elsewhere is hard to explain unless it is that former Governor Lowden is very popular hereabouts and Illinois is getting ready to bring him about as a presidential candidate in opposition to Mr. Coolidge. So far as Illinois is concerned, it turned down Senator McKinley, Republican, who in making a fight in the Republican primary, argued that his vote for the World Court and his unbroken support of President Coolidge merited renomination for him. So many of the Republican leaders interested in presidential politics here are worrying about giving Mr. Coolidge a vote of confidence and are more anxious to win for their local ticket. Some Republican politicians who are working for the election of Frank Smith think he will never be seated even if successful at the polls and that a second election will furnish an opportunity to have a test on national issues closer to the 1928 campaign.

All in all, the situation is sufficiently confused and disorganized for George Brennan to pull through. If he does not it will simply be because the straight ticket voting is still a greater Republican asset in Illinois than it is almost anywhere else in the union.

MILLS ISSUES CHALLENGE TO HIS OPPONENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills, Republican candidate for governor, has challenged Governor Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic opponent to "advance one valid reason" against a statewide investigation of the New York milk situation.

Congressman Mills' challenge was made in several addresses in Queens and Bronx counties last night when he invaded the metropolitan area for the first time in his campaign.

Mr. Mills announced he had sent to District Attorney Newcombe of Queens and District Attorney McGeehan of Bronx counties the Lederle reports of the steamer Cristobal Colon and landed at Batabano, on the south side of the island of Cuba, brought with them 12 gravely-injured persons. They said that various villages in the island, which lies in the Caribbean 50 miles south of Cuba, were severely damaged by the storm, some of them destroyed. There were fatalities in Nueva Gerona, Santa Fe, and San Francisco. An entire American negro family of seven named Davis was killed. Nearly all the white Americans have homes in the isle, which is of an area of about 900 square miles, with mountains, extensive plains and many streams. Citrus fruits, vegetables, pineapples and other products are grown in the isle. It is reported that all the fruit crops have been ruined.

Boats with physicians, supplies of food and medicines are being sent to the isle from Batabano.

Today reports from various parts of Cuba visited by the hurricane served only to add to the material damage. The number of fatalities estimated was still under 1,000. It had been impossible to calculate the number of injured. While there are no definite figures as to actual losses, estimates are that in the island of Cuba they amount to $100,000,000 and on the isle of Pines $50,000,000.

The bodies of only 25 persons have been found in the municipality of Nueva Gerona. Early reports placed the death list there at 300. A general check up in the port of Havana reveals a possible loss in that city and there of the lives of 157 persons.

Plants Swept Away

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Every sponge packing plant, except one, at Batabano, on the southern coast of Cuba, was swept away by the hurricane, said a cablegram received today by the American Sponge and Chamois Company. This company's plant was the only one left, said the cable.

A. J. Sloss, president of the company, said there were eight or nine sponge packing plants at Batabano, the value of which is estimated at $200,000.

17 AMERICANS AMONG 38 KILLED IN HURRICANE ON PICTURESQUE ISLE OF PINES

HAVANA, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The picturesque and salubrious little Isle of Pines paid a heavy toll in deaths, injured and material damage when the Caribbean hurricane passed over it Wednesday morning on its way to the island of Cuba to spread further death and devastation.

Reports received from the isle say that 38 persons were killed, among them 17 Americans, that more than 200 persons were injured and that the property and other losses will amount to $50,000,000.

Three Americans, who came out of the Isle of Pines on the steamer Cristobal Colon and landed at Batabano, on the south side of the island of Cuba, brought with them 12 gravely-injured persons. They said that various villages in the island, which lies in the Caribbean 50 miles south of Cuba, were severely damaged by the storm, some of them destroyed. There were fatalities in Nueva Gerona, Santa Fe, and San Francisco. An entire American negro family of seven named Davis was killed. Nearly all the white Americans have homes in the isle, which is of an area of about 900 square miles, with mountains, extensive plains and many streams. Citrus fruits, vegetables, pineapples and other products are grown in the isle. It is reported that all the fruit crops have been ruined.

Prominent political repressors including former Lieutenant Governor George R. Lunn and prison officials and penologists of New York and other states were in attendance.

At the close of the church service Mr. Osborne's body was taken to Auburn prison where the 1,200 inmates took their last view of their benefactor and true friend.

SESQUI HAS AGAIN SCORED

Overcomes Another Legal Effort to Force Its Closing on the Sabbath

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 23.—(AP)—The Sesqui-centennial Exposition has overcome another legal effort to force its closing on the Sabbath.

A jury in common pleas court today returned a verdict in favor of Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick and George W. Elliott, director of public safety, in a mandamus suit brought by the Methodist men's organization of 170. The committee alleged that merchandise was being sold in the exhibition buildings on Sunday in violation of the Sabbath law of 1794, and that operation of the amusements also was a violation of the law, even though no charge either than the fifty cents admission to the grounds was collected.

PREMATURE EXPLOSION KILLS LIQUOR GANGSTER

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Premature detonation of an explosive in the doorway of a West Side store early today killed "Three Fingered Pete" Kosinski, 39, liquor gangster, and buried his mangled body beneath the debris of the shop front.

The police think Kosinski was on a safe blowing mission, to obtain defense funds for Joe Saltis clique chieftain awaiting trial for murder. Kosinski was captured recently in the Wisconsin woods when Saltis jail was released. He was the leader of the Saltis gang, while Saltis was in jail.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The peace conference at Corinto, considering ways of bringing to an end the revolutionary activities in Nicaragua, has reached a critical stage.

The delegates of the Liberal revolutionists have reported to have split into two groups. One group wishes a peaceful settlement, accepting the offers of the Conservatives on the basis of the withdrawal of President Chamorro and former Vice President Sacasa, and the selection of a new Conservative president with generous participation for the Liberals in the new government. The other group is holding out for the selection of Sacasa as president or the continuance of the revolution. This group is counting on aid from Mexico.

Another Reason Why Girls Shouldn't Cross Knees Has Been Found

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Another reason why girls shouldn't cross their knees has been found by Dr. Beatrice S. Phillips, of Kalamazoo, Mich.

The habit, if practiced continually, invites curvature of the spine, she told the closing session of the Middle Atlantic States Osteopathic Association convention here.

Another girlish practice she characterized as "pernicious" is that of "sitting upon one foot," because this also tends to throw the spine out of balance.

HOUSES COLLAPSE, WIRES WRECKED, TREES UPROOTED, CATTLE KILLED AS RESULT

LENINAKAN, Armenia, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Many persons were killed and scores injured and the whole population was thrown into panic by an earthquake which shook Armenia last night.

Many houses collapsed, telegraph wires were wrecked, trees uprooted and cattle killed.

There were two loss of life among the personnel of the American Near East Relief or the 9,000 Armenian orphans under their care. This was due to the sturdy construction of the old stone caravan military barracks in which they were housed and the splendid discipline maintained by the Americans among the children.

Believing that Mt. Ararat was in eruption, Leninakans rushed from their homes. They were soon reassured by the American doctors and nurses attached to the Near East Relief.

Inhabitants of the slopes of Mt. Ararat fell to their knees, praying for deliverance from the calamity, while others rushed to the churches.

Leninakan, the former Alexandropol, is one of the chief towns of Armenia, 40 miles northeast of Kars. Its population is about 25,000. Mt. Ararat, legendary resting place of Noah's Ark, lies about sixty miles to the south.

Armenia has been a Soviet republic since April, 1921.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Hundreds of persons were killed, thousand injured and other thousands made homeless by the earthquake which shook Armenia last night, said a cablegram to the Near East (Relief today from Erivan. All of the foreign American workers of Near East Relief are safe, the message said.

Buildings of the Near East at Leninakan were damaged. Children in the organizations' orphanages and workers are sleeping in tents. Doctors and nurses aided in caring for the injured.

The cablegrams requested an appropriation to meet the emergency. The Near East Relief centered its Armenian activities at Leninakan, where it has been taking care of 9,000 orphans.

WADSWORTH IN LONG ISLAND

Itinerary Includes Huntington, Greenport, Riverhead and Patchogue Tonight

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Senator James W. Wadsworth, jr., carried his campaign for re-election into Long Island today. The senator's itinerary included Huntington, Greenport and Riverhead, and he will go to Patchogue tonight.

The senator came down the Ramapo Valley from Poughkeepsie, yesterday, speaking at Suffern, Spring Valley and Nyack and then crossed to the Hudson Valley to speak at Mt. Vernon, Yonkers and in the Bronx. In each of his addresses he stressed the importance of returning a Republican Congress, declaring that only with a Senate and House full in accord with and actively supporting President Coolidge can real progress be made.

He denounced particularly the formation of congressional blocs, declaring that if they are allowed to form, Congress is apt to become the football of politicians with none held responsible for the conduct of business.

ADAMS SEES STEPHENSON

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Thomas Adams, publisher of the Vincennes Commercial, who has contended for several weeks that if he and a committee could confer with D. C. NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows a deficit in reserve of $23,979,460. This is a decrease in reserve of $50,012,450 compared with last week when excess reserve of $26,032,990 was reported.

INVESTIGATION IS ADJOURNED

Senate Campaign Committee to Continue Work in Indiana at Kansas City Monday

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Having finally concluded its investigation of charges of Ku Klux Klan control of politics in Indiana, the Senate campaign funds committee stood in adjournment today until next Monday when it will reconvene at Kansas City.

Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, the chairman who has been assisting in the inquiry at Chicago and here by himself, because other members of the committee could not be present, hopes to wind up his work Monday or Tuesday and devote the remainder of the week to political campaigning in his home state.

Only three witnesses have been called for the Kansas City meeting. They are Mrs. Vivian Tracy Bradford, a woman Republican leader; Joseph Myers, formerly of Kansas City, and Frederick J. Libby, of New York.

QUEEN MARIE IS SUFFERING WITH A COLD

Condition is Said Not to be Serious, However; Failed to Get on Wire

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Queen Marie was rallied to the consuite at the Ambassador hotel today to attend Queen Marie of Rumania, whose cold was somewhat aggravated by a strenuous series of speaking engagements yesterday.

Her condition was said to be not serious and the doctor's order did not disarrange the day's schedule of either the prince or princess. Prince Nicholas left in a roadster to visit the Brooklyn navy yard.

A delegation of girl scouts, escorted the Princess Ileana to the Capitol theatre for a reception.

Although her voice was gone from yesterday's speaking and strenuous social program, it was announced that the queen would need to keep all her engagements today, and if possible, to get a good night's rest and be ready for the broadcast next Friday.

"It is an exaggeration to say that her majesty is seriously indisposed," Miss Dorothy Kenyon, her lady in waiting, said in the presence of the physician. "She has a cough and cold, and is taking a preventative measure, by prescription being a cough mixture and avoidance of over exertion."

Many radio fans who, it was said, were hearing the voice of a queen have been disappointed.

Due to a misunderstanding broadcasting time, Queen Marie of Rumania failed to keep an engagement to speak from Washington at a national broadcasting station last evening. Although her address was to have been given in her honor by the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Hotel Commodore and Hotel Astor, it was announced by officials of the station WJZ in Washington and WEAF in Newark, N. J., that Queen Marie's voice would not be heard.

Announcements were that the queen would speak between 8 and 9 o'clock. She arrived at the Hotel Commodore at 7:30 and had just left while David Sarnoff, head of the Radio Corporation of America was arranging with the queen's secretary, Miss Dorothy Kenyon, to go on the air at once. When he reached the reception room to find she was gone, he immediately went to her suite at the Hotel Ambassador to offer his apologies.

A typewriter company, which had arranged to broadcast a fight, had arranged for the broadcasting by the queen. Announcers said no ice cream concession had been arranged for her broadcast next Friday.

Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation was toastmaster at the dinner in the queen's honor at the Hotel Ambassador, while Nicholas was with his mother but the Princess Ileana remained with her hotel.

The trouble was ironed out at a conference yesterday after the resignation of the lieutenants and the barring of the game by high school athletics.

RECOVERY IN PRICES TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Further recovery in prices took place in today's stock market despite spectacular attempts of bear traders to unsettle the general list by keeping the motors and certain specialties. With business and banking opinion inclining to the belief that no general recession in business is in prospect, despite a falling off in some lines, market sentiment tended to harden, particularly in view of the sharp decline that already has taken place.

Renewed attacks against the motors were accompanied by rumors of additional price cuts and prediction of a falling off in fourth quarter earnings, but in many cases the early losses of a point or two were materially reduced or converted into gains.

Railroad shares held fairly steady in quiet trading, the official denial that a substantial cash dividend was being considered on Atchison at the next meeting causing a damper on buying in that group. September earnings continue to make favorable comparisons with the previous month and the same month last year.

Baking shares displayed a sudden outburst of strength under the leadership of Ward Baking and Continental Baking A. Good buying also was noted in the chemicals and local tractions. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe scored an extreme gain of six points.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,750,000 shares.

Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of today's market on short covering prompted by the brisk rally which set in just before the close yesterday. Selling pressure was still evident against General Motors and U. S. Steel common, which yielded slightly, but initial gains of a point or so were recorded by U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Lambert, Allied Drug and Gulf States Steel.

Despite rather heavy offerings of the automotive issues in the first few minutes of trading, the course with U. S. Steel common and market continued its upward trend, assuming the leadership by quickly converting an early loss of one point into a gain of half point. Lambert Company and Douglas Pectin were bid up to new high levels for the year and U. S. Industrial Alcohol continued its rapid advance by climbing three points.

Local tractions gave an impressive display of strength on buying presumably influenced by the decision of the state court of appeals in directing that the so-called five cent fare referendum should not go on the state election ballot, thereby reversing the decision of the lower courts. Interboro Rapid Transit jumped over four points and Brooklyn Manhattan modified guaranteed quickly ran up three points. Foreign exchanges opened steady, demand sterling ruling around $4.84 5-16 and French francs around 3 cents. Norwegian krone reacted moderately on profit taking after establishing a new high level above 25 cents yesterday.

There is Danger in Hoarding Money

A few days ago we read of a shawl peddler who was brutally murdered and robbed of several years' savings, which through lack of confidence in banks, he kept in a money-belt.

THERE IS NO EXCUSE for hoarding money when this bank, which has been actively engaged in business for over twenty-seven years, will open a savings account earning three per cent interest for ONE DOLLAR or more.

If you have money hoarded about the house thieves may be scheming at this very instant to take it from you. It is best to take no chances. Bring your hidden money to this bank where it will be absolutely safe and at the same time be earning you a good conservative rate of interest.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF FARMS AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Although state apples and grapes were not in excessive supply, the poor demand resulted in a very dull market. A large percentage of the business was reported around 55 per 12 quart basket. On the other hand, the trend of the market for California plums and table grapes was stronger and values tended upward. Various varieties of Pacific grapes sold in crates of about 24 pounds wholesaled at $1.10@$2.15 depending on course upon the quality and condition. Juice apples ranged from $1.00 @ $1.47 1-2. Last week's receipts of grapes on this market filled 21121 cars, an increase of 551 over the preceding week.

There was no material change in the celery situation. Supplies were limited but the demand was light. The best offerings in the rough packed in two to three dozen lots realized from $2.00@$2.25, very rarely higher $2.50, white soft grade brought $1.00@$1.50. One year ago, state celery in similar containers sold at $1.50@$3. Onions and cauliflower were steady, cabbage was in moderate supply. Trading was fair and the market steady. At various railroad terminals in New Jersey, City and Brooklyn, jobbing sales were made on the basis of principally $1.10@$1.40 per ton for Danish white, domestic and $20.00 @ $22.00 on the Danish type. The market movement of cabbage on October 21 for this state totaled 75 cars which were distributed among 49 consuming centers in 13 states.

Receipts of western New York Bartlett pears were very limited. Trading, however, was slow and therefore the market ruled dull. Number 1 fruit pedled out at $1.75@$2.25 chiefly $2.00 per bushel basket. Seckle commanded $3.25@$3.50.

The white potato situation was stronger and although early morning trading was only moderate, values averaged higher. Bulk, up-state, sacked stock of good quality and condition reached $5.25 per 180 pounds. The October crop report did not change the general potato situation much. Gains in the east offset losses in the Great Lakes region. Net decrease of three quarters of a million bushels is a comparatively small item. The crop is still about 3 bushels per capita and 7 to 8 per cent greater than last season's final estimate.

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—U. S. government bonds close: Liberty 3 1-2s $100.12; first 4 1-4s $102.5; second 4 1-4s $100.17; third 4 1-4s $101.2; 4th 4 1-4s $102.11; Treasury 4 1-4s $101.18; 4s $104.1; 4 1-4s $107.28.

THE RAW SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Fears of further damage reports from Cuba, as a result of the recent storm, led to increased covering for over the week-end today, with additional buying by houses with Cuban connections, accounted for the firmness displayed in raw sugar futures. Final prices were at the best and 3 to 4 points net higher. Approximate sales 25,000 tons. December closed 3.51; January 3.52; March 279; May 286; July 295.

The raw and refined markets were closed.

NEWS AND COMMENTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The selling movement in the stock market, which has been under way for three consecutive weeks, was interrupted this week by a sharp rally, engineered by professional traders, but the high prices failed to hold and the market was headed lower again as the week drew to a close. Meanwhile, call money rates softened and cotton prices broke to the lowest level since 1921.

While all sorts of "reasons" were brought forward to explain the week's liquidation of stocks, including the break in cotton, the slight slackening of several leading lines of industry, and the campaign for a removal of European trade barriers, many experienced market observers regarded it as a natural reaction after a lengthy over-bought position, having little or no relation to current or future business developments. Unlike most sharp reactions of the past, the selling is reported to have come largely from professional pools who were loaded up with stocks, which they had been unable to distribute in their campaign for higher prices in the late summer and early fall, although steel executives attending the semi-annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute here this week were optimistic about the future of business and freely discounted any foreign competition.

The weekly trade reviews called attention to a slight reduction in the demand for steel products, particularly from the automotive industry, and the third quarter report of the Gulf States Steel Company revealed that the common dividend had not been earned in that period. The Republic Iron and Steel Company, on the other hand, made an excellent showing. Motor trades were prominent in the mid-week rally, but were among the first to feel a renewal of selling pressure on Friday, probably because of the publication the day before of the Department of Commerce report showing a falling off in automobile production in September and by rumors of further price cuts. Yesterday Motor Wheel showed independent strength. The oil shares were adversely affected by the sharp liquidation of stocks, including the break in cotton, the slight slackening of several leading lines of industry, and the campaign for a removal of European trade barriers, many experienced market observers regarded it as a natural reaction after a lengthy over-bought position, having little or no relation to current or future business developments. Unlike most sharp reactions of the past, the selling is reported to have come largely from professional pools who were loaded up with stocks, which they had been unable to distribute in their campaign for higher prices in the late summer and early fall, although steel executives attending the

Auto Without Clutch or Gear Is Latest Invention on Display

The latest thing in automobiles and the sensation of the 20th annual automobile show in Paris is this tiny five-horsepower, two-cylinder two-cycle motor, which has neither clutch nor gears. You put the car in motion by merely starting the motor and pressing the accelerator. It is the invention of M. Constantinesco, who is shown in the picture standing beside his new model.

WOMAN HELD FOR GRAND JURY ACTION

BATH, Oct. 23.—Justice Frank Rowe at an examination held here yesterday afternoon, held Mrs. Anna Ashe, of Palmyra for the action of the grand jury at the November term of Supreme Court in Corning. She is charged with robbery, first degree. County Judge Edwin S. Brown fixed Mrs. Ashe's bail at $5,000, in default of which she is in jail.

Mrs. Ashe was arrested at Palmyra two weeks ago, in company with Earl Curtiss. Brought here, Curtiss was arraigned on an old indictment, charged with assaulting and robbing Charles Eicher, a Hornell taxicab driver five years ago. Curtiss pleaded not guilty and will be tried at the February term of Steuben County Court. Mrs. Ashe has been alleged to be the woman who with another man was with Curtiss when Eicher was assaulted.

At the examination yesterday Eicher was sworn and was unable to positively identify Mrs. Ashe as the woman present at the time of the robbery. Herman Cornwell, Erie night agent at Addison, was the principal witness heard yesterday. He testified that he had known Curtiss for several years and on the night of the alleged assault saw him with another man and a woman at the Erie station. The strange man inquired regarding trains to Elmira, while Curtiss and the women remained outside, he said. Becoming suspicious of the trio he took a lantern and went outside where he recognized Curtiss and had an opportunity to get a good look at the woman. Later he telephoned to the Conway garage in Addison and engaged an automobile for the trio to take them to Corning. He said he was positive yesterday in his identification of Mrs. Ashe as the woman who was with Curtiss on the night of the alleged assault.

District Attorney Guy W. Cheney appeared for the people yesterday and Attorney Charles L. Crane of Addison for the defendant.

PROHIBITION REFERENDUM HELD LEGAL

ALBANY, Oct. 23.—(AP)—New York state's referendum on prohibition is constitutional.

Upholding the legislature on the broad ground that it has a right to ask the people for advice, the Court of Appeals yesterday removed the last obstacle in the way of an expression of opinion on modification of the Volstead act by 2,000,000 voters at the election November 2.

At the same time, the court refused to approve New York city's five cent fare referendum, holding that the municipal assembly acted beyond the powers conferred upon the metropolitan law makers by the home rule amendment. The referendum, if carried out, would have required the voters to pass upon acts of the assembly.

The action in the prohibition case was instituted by Mary B. Peaks, who sought to restrain the New York city board of elections from printing the ballots. The lower court refused to issue a writ of mandamus, and its action was sustained by the decision, which averred that the petitioner failed to show that the action of the legislature is beyond powers conferred upon it under the constitution of the state."

SWITCHMAN IS KILLED AT HORNELL

HORNELL, Oct. 23.—Albert Boerner, 38, a switchman of 67 Oak street, was knocked down and run over in the Erie railroad yards here early Friday morning and so badly injured that he died a few hours later in the St. James' Mercy Hospital.

According to the Erie reports the accident happened in the fast freight yard just east of the East avenue crossing. Mr. Boerner, who had just alighted from a train on which he had ridden up from the east end of the yard, apparently started across the next track close to the end of a string of cars when suddenly they were moved.

There were no witnesses to the accident but F loyd Orvis, another yard employe, found him a few minutes later. His left leg was crushed off at the hip and he was otherwise badly cut and bruised. Coroner M. G. Burch was summoned and he had the injured man removed to the hospital where he was attended by Dr. Charles R. Phillips, a company surgeon.

Mr. Boerner came here about a year ago from Susquehanna, Pa., to work for the Erie. He is survived by his widow and three children and a brother, all of whom reside in Susquehanna.

The body was taken to Susquehanna Friday night for burial.

LEFFINGWELL HEAD FINGER LAKES BODY

AUBURN, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A resolution favoring a state tax on gasoline was adopted last evening at the annual meeting of the Finger Lakes Association, representing the Chambers of Commerce of 32 towns and cities in central New York. The resolution parallels that of the New York State Automobile Association and urges such tax only with the provision that the license fees from motorists be reduced to a normal figure that the gas tax be two or three cents a gallon, depending upon revenue required by the highway department, and that such tax revenue be used solely for good roads.

The association elected officers as follows: President, William M. Leffingwell, Watkins Glen; vice-president, Glenn R. Morton, Geneva; Theodore H. Geller, Owego; Robert E. Fenton, Auburn; secretary-treasurer, Edward C. Cooper, Watkins Glen.

Deputy Sheriff Black of Binghamton Defends Dr. Edwin Osbaldeston

BINGHAMTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Although he will celebrate his 83rd birthday Sunday, Deputy Sheriff S. Foster Black, regards with hatred any reference to Dr. Edwin Pye Turner Osbaldeston, of Asbury Park, N. J., the man he sought to arrest last March on a 43 year old indictment, charging horse-stealing, but was balked in extradition proceedings.

Dr. Osbaldeston received his congratulations to Mr. Black today but the Civil War veteran refused to accept them and wants nothing to do with the New Jersey doctor. The telegram reads:

"As a token of amity toward Deputy Sheriff S. Foster Black upon his 83rd birthday I hold in abeyance all thoughts of any damage suit against him. I forgive the injustice done me.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES IN ALBANY NOW

ALBANY, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for re-election, and former Justice Robert F. Wagner, Democratic candidate for United States senator, today had ready the final arguments of their up-state campaigns.

Their foremost engagement was set for tonight at Harmanus Bleecker Hall, scene of many important political gatherings and the place where in 1924 Governor Smith first publicly agreed to have his name put up for the presidency.

After a rest over the week-end, Governor Smith and Judge Wagner will leave for a meeting Monday night at Yonkers.

Last night at Schenectady, both candidates drove over what they regarded as their most telling points in favor of Democracy's business. The governor, using as his "text" a quotation from a recent speech by his Republican opponent, Ogden L. Mills, accused Mr. Mills of being a "reactionary," and, therefore, of a type that would oppose progressive reforms.

Mr. Wagner, again emphasizing the prohibition issue, asserted that the recent action of the people of Norway in voting a return to temperance as against absolute prohibition was conclusive proof that the question is one knowing no political lines, and that it is a social rather than a political issue.

Speaking of the Democratic appeal for creation of an executive budget system the governor suggested how Mr. Mills might spend his week-end studying the Democratic plan, and incidentally mentioned his pervious charge that William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, is allied with and directing the Republican campaign.

Face to the Public
There is an old adage in the law courts that you can tell where the personal interest of a witness lies by the direction in which he turns his face.
The conscientious insurance agent is like that. He is a witness in court every day. His interest lies in the public which he serves and consequently his face is turned in the direction of the public at all times.
Your insurance agent is like your doctor, too. He must have a thorough knowledge of his profession and be ready to give expert advice on your insurance problems.
Therefore, consult your insurance agent as you would consult a doctor, dentist or lawyer. His advice is worth many dollars to you, at the time of an accident.
More than three-quarters of a century has been spent by this agency in advising the people of this community on insurance problems. The reputation for courtesy and service built up in this time makes this agency worthy of your consideration. Consult us today.

Our Bulging Cities

The rapid spread of American cities has brought in its wake a host of troublesome problems, according to the Civic Development Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. They have grown so rapidly in area that new methods of organization must be devised to permit the extension of necessary public services to all communities within the limits of the so-called metropolitan areas.

During the twenty-year period, 1900 to 1920, seven American cities acquired an average of 67,373 acres of land; an average increase in territorial size of 377 per cent. If this rate of increase were continued for forty years more in these seven cities a total area of 2,077,285 square miles would be required, or 3,656,566 square miles more than the total area of the United States.

The largest increase was for Los Angeles, California—from 27,399 acres in 1903 to 250,651 acres in 1923, or an increase of 815 per cent. If this rate of increase continued, Los Angeles would be larger than the State of California within ten years.

Other cities have also increased greatly in size through the acquisition of surrounding territory. Some of the largest increases from 1903 to 1923 are as follows:

Richmond, from 2,523 to 15,160 acres; or 526 per cent.

Detroit, from 18,173 to 84,174 acres; or 193 per cent.

Atlanta from 7,040 to 19,634 acres; or 178 per cent.

Baltimore, from 19,303 to 80,140 acres; or 161 per cent.

Kansas City, Mo., from 14,209 to 37,395 acres; or 120 per cent.

Seattle, from 19,344 to 43,849 acres; or 120 per cent.

The Highbrow Defined

What is a Highbrow? Readers of The Forum have been contributing their ideas to the magazine's Definition Contest.

Mr. James C. Quigley of Minneapolis sends The Forum a triple-barrelled definition: The Highbrow's: "Mental attitude maintained by clean people who turn away from the sordid and harmful and seek their pleasure and happiness in duty, good-fellowship, and beauty." The Ordinary Man's: "A bird of fine feathers that struts a little more than necessary. If he had to scratch like I do for a living it would curb him quick." The Roughneck's: "These highbrows make me weep. How do they get that way? They think they're wise guys, but they's starve to death if they didn't have things handed to them."

Other winning definitions are: "A highbrow is one who in any plane of society typifies a culture beyond that of him who hurls the dispersing epithet; to a hillman, one who uses a napkin at dinner; to a lover of jazz, one who frequents grand opera; to one who sees only building material in marble, one who finds beauty in sculpture; to one who sees in a superficial knowledge of anthropology and sunshine only so many bushels an acre, one who paints a golden sunset; to one who reads only a daily paper, one who appreciates Robert Browning and The Forum. (Ned Noyes, Kansas City, Mo.)

Highbrow,—a person who has geology, economics, inherent sin, the fourth dimension, and is familiar with some of the writings of Browning, Bacon, Shakespeare, Thackeray and Euripides; who knows that Gibbon wrote The Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire; who professes great admiration for Henry Cabot Lodge, Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, and who frequents grand opera. In brief, a highbrow is one who affects superiority of mentality and conduct. (M. K. Huntington, Ansonia, Conn.)

Saved—23,000 Lives Did You Note It?

You probably didn't notice that anything very important was taking place last August.

Yet, a record was made during that month which means much to the people of New York State.

Statistics compiled by the State Department of Health show that New York state during that month, had the lowest death rate in the 41 years for which records are available.

The rate for the entire country was 12.2 per thousand of population. New York's ratio was 10.3 per thousand.

A difference of 2.1 may not seem impressive. But it means the saving of 23,000 lives.

That alone offsets all the spectacular deaths due to automobile and gang wars that attract so much attention.

And it is well for the people to be reminded that this steady, persistent work of the physicians and the health authorities of the state is producing such splendid results.

Can You Read With the Back of Your Neck?

During the war the French novelist, Jules Romains began experiments to prove that the eye is not the only part of the human body sensitive to light. Any sunburned vacationist knows that is true; but M. Romains carried his idea further. He knew that certain lower animals can receive stimuli from light falling on various parts of their bodies. And he believed that the human body also might retain similar powers. —Which he thought were being overlooked simply because people had got used to depending on their eyes. People walking in their sleep exhibit an uncanny power to find their way about even with their eyes tightly closed. Was this because they were receiving visual impressions through the skin; reviving a long-lost power of the human race?

Not long before the Armistice he began to experiment with soldiers who had been blinded in the War. After long practice, one of them seemed to be able to distinguish numbers through his skin, without touching them. But when this stage in the experiments had been reached, the medical authorities of the French Army interfered.

Then an American woman, Mrs. Heyn, well-known as a worker for the blind and herself blind from her birth, offered to cooperate in the experiments. She began her sittings in February, 1925, with M. Rene Maublanc, one of M. Romains' disciples. Seventy sittings with Mrs. Heyn had been held by the middle of October at the Hotel Feville, each lasting approximately three quarters of an hour. It was on Tuesday, October 15th, at the sixty-ninth sitting that she read with the back of her neck in the "New York Herald" the capital letters. After four and twenty exhaustive sittings, Mrs. Heyn succeeded in reading in "la revue Life" the words NERVE STRAIN.

Where They Do Such Things and Say Such Things

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Eavesdropping in cafes is always interesting. In a 47th street chophouse I sat next table removed from a young gob and his sweetheart. She was generously shellacked with rouge and was evidently a steady patron of palmless dental parlors. Her smile glittered gold. She told of her job serving "bond brokers" in a down town restaurant. "Of a trip to Coney Island with a boy friend who was fresh. Of her father who was "a no good bum." When the check came, he handed it to her and she paid it. And they sauntered out hand in hand.

THE PROPRIETOR of this cafe is a sleek, slick-haired young man, and if it is a free puff to say it is Jack Kennedy, he deserves it. He is also interested in several night clubs and has grown rich. He began life as a stage dresser and also essaying small parts. He is a young Irish lad whose love for his mother is a Broadway tradition. Every night she comes to have dinner with him. With prosperity he moved her out of rather shabby quarters into a fine apartment on West End Avenue and it is one of the worries of his life to keep her happy in her new surroundings.

WHEN DAWN sifts its gray haze over New York and milk wagons rumble over town there is an army of tatterdemalions who come out of doorway beds and begs "swigs of milk." Many milk wagon drivers carry several extra bottles to assuage this early thirst without charge. Most of them are shaking from drink. To the police they are known as "milk swiggers" and as a rule they are harmless and are not gathered in with the ordinary run of vagrants.

THE FLY A MENACE

The common house fly is responsible for more deaths every year, here in the United States, than all the poisonous reptiles and savage beasts of India or Africa kill in those far-off jungles. The house fly is a carrier and distributor of disease germs of many kinds. That is why campaigns to kill the fly should be given the greatest encouragement and also one of the reasons why the campaigns should be started as soon as the fly begins to reappear in the warm months.

Contrary to general belief the true house fly does not bite, since its mouth is constructed for sucking, and not for piercing. There are, however, truly biting flies which resemble the house fly in general appearance.

The mouth parts of the house fly though not constructed for biting are most efficiently equipped for gathering and disseminating filth and germs, not to mention its feet, with their claw like hooks.

The normal length of life in the adult fly is not known, but this matters little, since its rapidity of breeding is almost beyond belief. Throughout the entire warm season a new generation of house flies may come to its maturity about every ten days and since the female lays more than a hundred eggs at a time, anyone mathematically inclined can figure for himself the prospective progeny of a pair of flies spread in the early spring to set up housekeeping.

Since the house fly breeds entirely in manure, the decrease in the number of horses, due to the development of motor propelled vehicles, has resulted in the production of a greatly lessened number of flies, especially in cities. Flies are still too numerous however, and unremitting efforts to keep down their numbers are necessary if the heavy toll of human insects to be reduced to a minimum.

The modern approved method of killing flies is by the use of the liquid household insecticide.

TWO MEN CORNER GOLD

There is a fascinating chapter in America's financial history of 1867, revealed in the May Forum in an article by Don Seitz, "When Two Man Cornered Gold," James Fisk, Jr., and Jay Gould had formed a curious partnership. This pair of adventurers had received control of the Erie and then proceeded to corner the nation's supply of gold.

"By September 6th, the metal had risen to 137 1-2. Gould was the chief buyer. He bought all that was offered, but was surprised at the quantity. We had not been exporting much gold and, as its value grew, Europe began to sell. This he had not anticipated. At the inquiry he swore that he had not intended to corner coin, but had to buy in order 'not to show the white feather.'

"As a matter of fact, the 'corner' was in process of creation. Gould and Fisk between them had been able to take all the gold offered, real and 'phantom,' as Fisk delightfully termed the short sales. They rested their faith on Corbin's assurance that the President would not order relief from the Treasury. That Corbin was selling an assurance he did not possess is rather certain. Butterfield was kept in close touch—every fifteen minutes—during the hectic period, so that any word from Washington could be promptly acted upon. By September 23rd, Gould had bought so much gold that he was not quite sure where he stood and called in Fisk. They became uneasy over the situation and Fisk sought out Corbin at his house. Corbin, Fisk testified, told him that the President's wife had an "interest" of $500,000, that he, Corbin, held it, with $1,500,000 more, of which $500,000 was for General Horace Porter. Grant's secretary. Fisk told him bluntly that Gould was in a tight place and that all depended upon whether or not the Government would hold its gold. Corbin replied that they need not have the least fear, and was given $25,000 to transit to Mrs. Grant as "profit."

Friday morning, September 24, dawned a memorable day. Gold opened at 145, but no one offered to sell. Gould and Fisk were calling the shorts, and these could not make good. The wildest excitement followed. Bid after bid was shrieked in a vain effort to meet the rise, but there was no relief. Gold rose point by point until it touched 162. Then a voice in the crowd said quietly, $1,000,000 sold at 162." This was the top notch and the stopping point.

SAW BOTH CENTENNIALS

Fifty years ago this month Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brewbaker of Plymouth, O., visited the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia. Now in their 89's Mr. and Mrs. Brewbaker have motored to Philadelphia with their son-in-law and daughter to see the Sesqui-Centennial, commemorating the first 150 years of American independence. They found much to interest them in the new exhibit, then revisited the old centential buildings, Memorial Hall and Horticultural Hall. . . . The Brewbakers have seen nearly all the great world fairs since the Centennial Exposition in 1876. Asked if he expected to visit the Bi-Centennial 50 years hence, Father Brewbaker exclaimed vigorously, "I should say I do expect to." That may be applesauce, but the interviewer expected it of him.

WHAT—

Did We of This District Stand For That Caused Us to Twice Elect

Underhill to Congress

In 1910 you were seeking reforms and political progress that are now history.

The country was experiencing growing pains, as it always does about every 20 year cycle. The great progressive movement was just in the offing.

You elected Underhill because:

He then stood for and later voted for PARCEL POST. You had been demanding it for two decades.

He stood for the liberalization of Congress rules and against Cannonism. Congress had been throttled, as it is now threatened again.

Underhill worked for deserving pensioners and for a more just pension law which was passed. Hundreds of letters in his files from you commend him.

Underhill voted for protection of American rights in Mexico and for armed enforcement. This is a live issue today.

You had long favored direct election of United States Senators. Underhill, acting for you in Congress, voted to secure it by amending the constitution. Up to this time legislatures chose your senators.

You demanded national employers' liability and workmen's compensation insurance. You now have them. Underhill worked and voted to secure these great reforms.

You demanded that newspapers reveal their ownership and their circulation. He voted for and a law was passed requiring it semi-annually.

You farmers were interested directly in hundreds of bills affecting your interests. You wrote Underhill thousands of letters, many commendatory of his efforts in your behalf, and all evidencing your knowledge that he was working for your best interests.

In 1910 these great questions and one other—the present federal reserve banking system—you desired enacted into LAWS. They became laws—because you sent to Washington a man who believed in, studied and worked for these reforms, and cast your vote in Congress for them.

In 1910-1914 and in some years since, this district stood for and had a VOICE in deciding national policy on many great public issues. Underhill followed a most distinguished line of Congressmen, Gilbert, Dwight, Vanzant and after Underhill,—Pratt, Henry and Houghton. Big, capable all around men, students of national growth and progress.

Is the 37th district NOW interested in the many great questions which will affect your future welfare and economic prosperity? Do you again desire a VOICE in national government? Let us discuss some of the present issues in the days to come, including:

FIVE CORNING NURSES FINISH

Awarded Diplomas with 25 Others at St. Joseph's Hospital in Elmira

Twenty-five nurses, five of whom were from Corning, were graduated from St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing Thursday evening in St. Mary's Hall, Elmira. The Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, bishop of the Rochester Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church delivered the address in the evening and presented the diplomas.

Dr. Ross G. Loop, chairman of the surgical and medical staff of the hospital, in presenting the graduates, urged them to do their work in such a way as to reflect credit upon their Alma Mater.

Hundreds of relatives, friends and patrons of the graduates and the hospital attended the exercises, held in St. Mary's Hall.

Bishop Hickey said:

"Unless you have a real, solid, well-established character, bounded by the right principles, you are not fit to be nurses. Success will be determined on your character coexisting with your knowledge and ability.

"We all work better and know better how to work when we have a model. Christ should be your model, in your patients see, not a rational animal, but a soul, like unto God and made by Him in His honor and glory. In administering to patients do it for God's honor.

"The consummation of your work has been set in a most auspicious hour, for one week from Sunday by proclamation of Pope Pius XI all the Catholic world will celebrate the feast of Christ the King. You are sent out at the vigil of this day to do the work of the King. You are the children of the King, go out into the world and do His work.

"When in a distant day the stress of labor bears upon you, keep the thought, 'I am the daughter of the King.' When your cares become difficult, go to the King."

The five graduates from Corning were Misses Madeline T. Cunningham, Mildred M. Fermer, Margaret A. Laughlin, Catherine C. Reagan and Anna Stack.

WARNING FOR CITY YOUTHS

Complaints from Vicinity of Sterling Street May Result in Action

Damage caused by boys playing on Sterling street has caused various complaints to be made to the police and unless the parents of the boys take a hand in the matter, all of the boys whose names have been taken will be placed under arrest.

"I don't like to bring boys into Chief Short and I as the parents will only co-operate we would not be compelled to take such drastic steps," said Chief Erskine today.

Broken gates, windows and dorse, trampled gardens and garden truck thrown against the side of houses, are some of the damages that have caused repeated complaints from Sterling street and the names of the boys and the names of all the boys responsible have been taken and the parents have been notified by the police and the aggrieved property holders.

"The next complaint that comes to headquarters will result in the entire gang being rounded up," said Chief Eckess. He also said that when some of the parents had been notified of the actions of their offsprings that the boys have been upheld.

MARINES TO GUARD MAILS?

Local Postal Officials Have No Notification Yet of New Plans

Assistant Postmaster John F. Kennedy stated that Corning Post Office had received no official notification from Postmaster General Harry S. New regarding the government's order to provide a special guard of U. S. Marines for the United States mails.

Mr. Kennedy said that his information concerning the added precautions considered necessary by the Postal Department following the bandit raids upon mail shipments had been gleaned exclusively from the newspapers and that the local Post Office had received no formal notification.

On Wednesday President Coolidge approved expenses necessary to arm the postal service and at the same time orders were issued by Major General Lejeune, commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, making 2,500 Marines available for guarding the mails.

The post-office department program, which received the indorsement of the president, also provided for the use of 2,000 guns and the immediate construction of 2,000 armed mail cars and mail trucks.

Detachments of Marines from Quantico, Va., will be assigned to points in the eastern zone, while the others will be supplied from the San Diego, Calif., base.

The men will be equipped with rifles, automatic pistols and shotguns. Brigadier General Logan Feland is in command of the force in the east with headquarters at Quantico and Brigadier Smedley Butler, with headquarters at San Francisco, Spokane, Seattle and Portland, Oregon.

SMOKE BUT LITTLE FIRE

Two Alarms Call Out Firemen When Minor Blazes Get Started

The fire department answered two alarms within the past 24 hours but in neither instance the alarm was caused by smoke with in no danger of fire.

The first alarm was turned in last evening about 5:30 when from box 47 by some boys who had seen smoke coming from the chimney of the home of Joe Zeh, of 206 Water street. The firemen found some sticks of wood smouldering and these were extinguished with little difficulty.

There was another alarm about 11 o'clock this morning from box 37. The chimney at the home of Mrs. Glen Cole at the corner of Cedar and East Fourth streets, had become ignited during the night to fill with smoke. With the attic key plugged the smoke had escaped into the house through a leak in the brick chimney. No damage resulted.

POLICE TEST IS POSTPONED

To be Held November 1 Instead of Monday Night to Provide an Eligible List

HUNTERS STILL HAVE A CHANCE

Report Few Pheasants Left for Remaining Days of Season This Year

The first day of the open season on pheasants having passed it seems there are still a few birds left according to local hunters who were out on Thursday the first day of the open season. There were more hunters out this year than usual and many returned with at least one bird. Those who failed to get at least one were few.

Reports to the effect that birds are scarcer this year are said to be due to the fact that although hunters are considerably more plentiful. There are plenty of birds in the state but they have become inhabited for years, but they are becoming wary of the nimrods and once they have been shot at, they are very difficult to get up again.

The next day of the open season will fall on Thursday October 28. Local hunters are hoping that by then there were as many birds wounded and never captured as were bagged on the opening day.

AROUND THE EMPIRE STATE

St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran church at Valatie, a Hudson Valley town, is to celebrate on October 17 and 18 the 100th anniversary of its organization. A century ago Valatie was known as Millville.

Union College's freshman class of 246 members, the largest in the long history of the Schenectady institution, represents about forty percent of the young men who applied for matriculation.

Central New York dairymen are meeting in Syracuse today to celebrate the 10th anniversary of their first organization, the former Dairymen's League. The list of speakers includes men who were officers in the old association.

Seniors and graduate students of the department of forestry at Cornell University are back at college after a busy month spent in the woods with their summer camp packs. They stopped the first week at Tupper lake where students and instructors united in the logging and milling operations in the vicinity, while the last three weeks were found them in camp near Newcomb, on the Essex-Hamilton county line.

Among the tasks which the forestry students completed was an estimate of the timber stand of approximately 800 acres near Newcomb, which included surveying and a complete cruise of it. Another study was made of the reproduction on cut-over lands of various types, and the students established sample plots for further study in stands of second growth hardwood.

Control of white pine blister rust and its eradication were made under the guidance of C. H. Ahmann, of the New York State Conservation Commission.

HOUR PARKING RULE ADOPTED

Police Commission Decides to Change Policy on Market Street in Future

One hour parking on Market street will be effective as soon as the necessary signs can be purchased. The Police Commission at its regular meeting last evening voted to take this action and Chief Eckess was authorized to purchase the necessary signs.

The restricted section will be from Cedar street west to Walnut street and the one hour rule will be enforced from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night. It has been the practice of many local automobile owners to park their cars in this section for several hours at a time and in many instances investigation by the police has disclosed that cars were parked in the business section for a whole day at a time.

It is believed that the enforcement of the one hour parking rules will be beneficial to the merchants in that section and to the shoppers. Often times shoppers have found it necessary to drive several blocks out of their way to find parking space for only a few moments.

Hear It And Know it is Best

RADIOLA 20

There is no set at anywhere near its price that can compare with the RCA Radiola 20. Hear its tone—and your own ear will prove it.

It has the new features of single control—and a power Radiotron for volume. But it is not an experiment . . . It is a proved success!

It is economical to run — with five dry battery tubes doing the work of several more than five tubes—but making small drain on the batteries.

Church Activities in Corning and Painted Post Coming Week

MUSICAL PROGRAMS FEATURE IN THE CHURCHES; SECOND OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN SERIES SUNDAY

Musical programs have been the main features in the churches this week. Arthur Shank and Homer Grimes, soloist and pianist of the George Anderson Crusade in Corning nearly two years ago, delighted a large audience in the Methodist Recreation Hall Monday evening. They rendered a splendid program of classical and sacred numbers.

The famous Jubilee Quartet of the Utica Institute charmed a large audience in the Presbyterian Church Thursday night with a program of spirituals, plantation melodies and folk songs.

The members of the Grace Methodist Church gave Dr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Howell an enthusiastic reception in the church Wednesday evening.

The various churches have had their regular prayer meetings and class meetings. The excitement of the conference season is over for another year, the ministers have been assigned in nearly every case to the same pastorate and are looking forward to a successful year.

Tomorrow evening the second of the series of memorial services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church.

JOSHUA, ISRAEL'S NEW LEADER

LESSON TEXT—NUM. 27:18-20—Josuha 1:1-9

SUNDAY OCTOBER 24

Golden Text—Num—Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed for the Lord, thy God is with thee withersoever thou goest.

PRIMARY Topic—Joshua the New Leader.

JUNIOR Topic—The Task of Joshua.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Secret of a Strong and Useful Life.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Preparation for Trust Service.

The book of Joshua, from which our lesson is taken, is a history of the conquest of the promised land and its division among the tribes of Israel. It takes its name from its principal character, Joshua.

Joshua, the New Leader of Israel (Num. 27:18-20).

The people were not to be left in doubt as to a leader when Moses was gone. The leader was to be appointed and given recognition before all the congregation.

The wilderness journey (Deut. 34:1-8).

Moses was dead, but God's work must go on therefore God appointed Joshua to be the new leader to assume his duty.

111.God Renews His Promise to Israel Concerning the Land (Josh. 1:2, 4).

This promise had been given to Abraham, and renewed to Isaac, Jacob and Moses. They were renewed to Israel as they were about to enter upon its possession. The boundaries of the land were "from the wilderness and this Lebanon even unto the great river, the River Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great sea toward the going down of the sun." The nearest this territory ever came to realization was during the reign of David and Solomon, though not then fully realized. This land still belongs to the Jews, and in God's own time they shall possess it. Their possession of this land was the entirely to themselves. God promised them that wherever their feet stood upon the land it was theirs.

IV. God's Presence Promised (Josh. 1:5).

Joshua was entering upon a perilous and difficult enterprises, but the Lord said as He was with Moses, so He would be with them. The difficulties before him were:

1. The Jordan river (v.1).

This river was at flood tide (Josh. 3:15), making it impossible for armies to cross.

2. The people were living in walled cities (Num. 13:28).

Notwithstanding this, God was ready to insure success.

(1) "There will not fall thee, nor forsake thee" (v. 5).

(2) "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee."

(3) "As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee." Joshu had witnessed in Moses throughout their forty years' experience with the Egyptian deliverance to the time of his death. Because he believed that God was with his master, he was willing and ready to cross the Jordan at its floodtide and courageously meet the enemies on the other side.

V. Conditions of Blessing in the Land (Josh. 1:6-9).

1. "Be strong and of good courage" (v. 6).

His mission was to go in and divide the land among the tribes for an inheritance. It required strength and courage to do this.

2. "Turn not" Disobedience to the Word of God (v. 7).

In a land of idolatry it required much courage to be true to God. Integrity and courage were conditioned upon unswering obedience to God's commands. In all his ways he must order his life to the law of God. To pass from the path outlined therein would bring disaster and ruin. In order to accomplish this the law of the Lord must be in his mouth continually. He was to meditate therein day and night.

Joshu rendered prompt obedience, he did not stop to cavil, but at once gave order for the march. God made the plan and gave the directions.

44TH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NEW YORK STATE SYNOD COMES TO CLOSE AT ELMIRA CHURCH

The 44th annual meeting of the State Synod of the Woman's Presbyterial Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church which met in the First Presbyterian church, Elmira, convened Wednesday until October 17, 1927, when it will hold its next meeting in Albany. The conference opened Monday afternoon with a Pre-Synodical conference and dinner to which all Synodical presidents and Synodical officers were invited. An executive meeting was held in the evening.

The various committees of the Synod session opened Tuesday morning licensing Cameron T. Hall and Grace Critchlow membership the Rev. Carlos G. Fuller.

Dr. Alfred Gandier of Toronto, Canada, made an impressive plea at this session for the union of Protestant churches. Speaking on "Church Union in Canada," Dr. Gandier presented as his belief that only through church union can the religious situation as it exists today be met. He pointed out that the failure of the Protestant churches was an aid to spiritual advancement and the improvement of the financial side of the church.

He stated that independent Community Church propgi to have its largest. It was apt to become local in its interest and narrow and almost worldly—cease to be a Church and degenerate into a Club—the minister little more than a community secretary and organizer. Our existing Community Churches, called for by a United Church of Canada with a national outlook and world wide missionary interest in which they might have a place; and that is what we brought to provide in the United Church of Canada. Think what it means now that we can link up all these separate and independent Churches of Canada into one great brotherhood, wide as the nation. Think what it means to the women with pioneer problems who are not simply provincial leaders, but the medium through whom the rich and many-sided missionary work of national and missionary church flow into the otherwise narrow and poverty stricken life of the small community, and through whom that community makes its own contribution to the religious life of the nation and the world.

Reports on foreign missions, religious education and program and field activities was the program for Tuesday morning.

Discussions from the floor and question boxes on the various phases of the church work were given prominence. Especially in connection with the reports of field and program activities, conducted by the Rev. James H. Sleeper, D. D., executive secretary, representing the General Council, was the question box used profitably.

Among the questions which brought on general discussions, various pastors offering their answers, were:

"Does the program of evangelism in our church include such than 'Revival Meetings'?" "What is the rotary system in leadership?" "Should a church report quarterly to each subscriber?" "What percentage of one's total giving through the church should go to the support of their own church?" "Should a church supply an automobile for the use of the pastor and who should pay for the gasoline?" "Are we making the most worthwhile use of the Sunday evening service?" "Is the daily vacation Bible school worthwhile?" "How can we promote family worship" "What is the best method of conducting a mid-week service?"

Introduction of compulsory Military training into the high schools of New York State was opposed as undemocratic and an "affront to the conscience of God-loving people" in a resolution read before the session of Presbyterian Synod Wednesday morning. Such an action, the resolution set forth, tended to produce a "spirit that is wholly at variance with our national desire for peace."

The resolution in which compulsory military training for American youth was scored was read in the general session as follows:

"The Synod of New York records its sincere devotion to the cause of World peace, and its earnest desire that the church of our Lord Jesus Christ shall exercise all its influence in the cultivation of the spirit of peace and brotherhood among the nations, and shall endeavor to awaken the people of this nation to a true sense of racial prejudices, narrow ultra-nationalistic ideas and false notions of preparedness out of which wars grow. And in particular, it desires to records its opposition to any proposal for compulsory military training in our public schools, as being out of keeping with our democratic ideals, an affront to the conscience of peace-loving people, and tending to produce a spirit that is wholly at variance with our national desire for peace.

"The Synod also calls attention to the fact that the General Assembly of the years 1917 and 1924 both enjoined upon the boards and agencies of our church and, particularly, upon the Board of Education, (together with our ministers and members to do all in their power to further an universal brotherhood founded on righteousness, justice and peace, and the board of education, in accordance with this injunction, is embodying this teaching in all its literature for use in our church schools."

The recently completed extensions to the local church were discussed at another session, which also thanked the people of Elmira for their fine hospitality during the four-day session of the Synod.

In his final address to the Synod, the Rev. John H. Kerr, Jr., the moderator, extended his thanks to Dr. Nichols for his efficiency in the office of stated clerk and also to the various clerical officers who aided him. He cited the fine cooperation extended during the meetings by all in the Elmira parishes, and in his opinion that the Synod held in Elmira was one of the finest and most successful in its history. The session adjourned after a prayer.

A plea for a union of Protestant churches by the Rev. Alfred Gandier, D. D., of Knox Valley, Ontario, Canada; addresses by the Rev Hugh Moran, Presbyterian student pastor at Cornell University, and the Rev. Herbert Evans, Presbyterian student pastor at Columbia University; service of public worship with sermon by the retiring moderator the Rev. John H. Kerr, D. D., of Brooklyn, and the communion service of the Lord's Supper by the Synod who during the year have died, were high points in the program Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The Rev. Robert H. Nichols, D. D., the stale clerk of the Synod, read the names of the ministers who have passed on. Prayer was offered, Holy Communion was a part of the impressive service.

The Synod urges the ministers to vote "No" on the wet and dry referendum at the November election, according to a resolution adopted Wednesday afternoon.

Officers Elected

Trustees and other officials of the Synod elected Wednesday afternoon as follows:

Trustees of Synod—The Rev. Antony H. Evans, D. D., New York; the Rev. Arthur C. McMillan, Yonkers; Edward T. Hanford, Middletown; David H. McConnell, New York City.

Synodical Council — The Rev. Justin W. Nixon, D. D. Rochester; the Rev. Frank M. Foston, D. D., Geneva; the Rev Walter A. Hendricks, Fredonia; Dr. W. W. Hopkins, Geneva; Mrs. A. J. Abel, Syracuse; Mrs. F. NewComer, Utica.

Program and Field Activities—Chairman, the Rev. Lyon Caughey, D. D., Glens Falls; Mrs. Charles B. Quick,—Auburn; Mrs. George Twigger, Schenectady; Mrs. Anthony M. Peterson, Scarborough.

Commission on Religious Education—The Rev. Frederick Farwell, Waverly; the Rev. Leo A. Gates, Buffalo; Henry D. Hervey, Little Falls; H. J. Kelly, Binghamton; the Rev. J. V. Moldenhawer, D. D., Albany.

Not a Theory

Speking on the topic, "The Changeless Will of Christ for a Changing World," at Wednesday evening's session, the Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, D. D., of the Foreign Missions' Board of the Reformed Church in America, said that religion is not a theory or a program, but an experience.

L. A. Tucker, a representative of the Anti-Saloon League, who spoke at the afternoon session, expressed the hope that the measure introduced in congress by Representative Gale H. Stalker, providing for a jail sentence for liquor violations, might be enacted into a law.

"We are convinced if prohibitionists remain organized," said Mr. Tucker. "We need a dry Federal Senator from New York. The brewers haven't given up. They want to come back, and they are well financed. We thought that when the Eighteenth Amendment was passed the liquor question was settled. But it hasn't. It will not be settled until after the next presidential election."

The Rev. Elmer J. Stuart, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, attended the sessions as a member of the National Missions Committee.

The following Corning Women attended the Women's Synodical; Mrs. E. J. Stuart, Mrs. A. L. Labby, Mrs. Della Rowe and Mrs. Della Burt.

Monday evening the following attended the opening meeting: The Rev. George C. Hood, C. E. Hood, Alfred G. Hood, and Misses Cornelia and Sue Crafts.

CATHOLIC CHURCH AT STANLEY CELEBRATES ITS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

The Pastor, the Rev. W. A. Rafferty, Formerly of Corning, Commended on His Incumbency

STANLEY, Oct. 23—The golden anniversary of St. Theresa's Church in this place was celebrated this week with a solemn high mass, the confirmation of a class of thirty-two young people and a banquet in Wadsworth's hall, followed by address from many of the visiting dignitaries.

The pastor is the Rev. W. A. Rafferty for several years assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church at Corning.

St. Theresa's parish at Stanley was established November 1, 1876, with Rev. J. A. Connelly as its first pastor. It was attended from Rushville during Father Connelly's pastorate. Mass was first said at Stanley at the former residence of the Driscoll family. The Driscoll house and the present day occupies the site on which the house in which the first mass was said then occupied. During the year 1876, the church under the leadership of Father Connelly was erected.

St. Theresa's parish has had 15 different pastors during its 50 years of existence, who assumed charge in the order named: Revs. J. A. Connelly, Mass. J. W. Hendrick, J. Magin, D. W. Kavanaugh, J. H. Butler, J. T. Daugherty, J. Hopkins, William Payne, C. P. O'Laughlin, M. C. Wall, J. B. Keenan, Alexander J. McCabe, Thomas Carroll, J. E. Masseth and the present incumbent, Rev. W. Rafferty. Of this number, Fathers Connelly, Magin, Kavanaugh, Butler, Hopkins and Payne have passed to their eternal reward.

The confirmation service administered by Bishop Thomas F. Hickey was the first order of the day and was preceded by an address in which he explained that the Sacrament was supplemental to the Sacrament of Baptism. In a few words the need for the help of the Holy Ghost in the daily humans to err, was made clear to the class.

At 11:30 Washburn Hall was crowded to capacity with clergy and parishioners, assembled for the dinner in honor of the session. Three score of the clergy representing the Diocese of Rochester sat down to one table which was covered with the identical table cloth used at the laying of the corner stone of the church 50 years ago. Bishop Hickey asked the blessing and many waiters, dressed in conformity with the decorations which were yellow and white, served a three course dinner.

During the progress of the meal Bishop Hickey rose and thanked the people of the parish for the entertainment then provided and congratulated them upon the high standing that St. Theresa's Parish had maintained in the Diocese of Rochester.

The meal being over, Father Rafferty, local pastor, assumed the duties of toastmaster and introduced Mgr. Hendrick, a former pastor with the explanation that while perhaps being at one time in charge of the church Stanley was not responsible for his present position being pastor of the Cathedral. Mgr. Hendrick had ordered him from achieving it. Mgr. Hendrick responding with reference to his life in Stanley which he had always held in fond memory. He extended the wish to the present incumbent for equal prosperity in the future and received the greatest applause of the meeting for his anecdotes.

Father Rafferty then called on Father Michael C. Wall, a former pastor, for a speech, who responded by referring to the good fellowship and sociability that has always existed in the parish.

Father James E. Kennedy, the altar boy from St. Theresa to enter the ministry, was next called upon and paid open tribute to Mgr. Hendrick as the one who opened the door and started him on his career. He publicly thanked Father Hendrick for the early guidance that has directed his footsteps through life and wished the other pastors of his boyhood in a pleasant manner.

Bishop Hickey not yet crowded with those who had not been able to get to the tables and Father Rafferty explained that the program would be closed at 6:00 o'clock in order that the tables could be reset. Bishop Hickey closed the hour with prayer and the confirmation committee again resumed the labor of serving those in waiting. The attendance at this golden anniversary of the diocese of Stanley was larger than anticipated and speaks well for the work being done in the parish by Father Rafferty. A Rafferty whose labors are not confined to the village of Stanley alone, but who divides his time with the Church at Rushville.

BISHOP GIVES AN ULTIMATUM

Says Practice of Hilarious Weddings Cheapens the Sacred Rite

Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, bishop of the Rochester diocese of the Catholic church, which includes Corning, has asked the priests in this district to discourage the practice of noisy demonstrations following the marriage ceremony. He has declared that this practice cheapens the sacred ceremonial of holy matrimony.

The Evening Leader recently published an article regarding the burlesque performances of many wedding parties in Corning and vicinity either on the way to automobiles fantastically decorated and placarded on the city streets.

Characterizing as "little less than sacrilegious" the celebrations outside the churches after wedding ceremonies, the Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, bishop of the Rochester diocese of the Catholic Church, has denounced them and urged, in a pastoral letter that they be abolished.

He declared:

"With all earnestness we protest against the practice of attaching objects of any kind to the car or carriage awaiting the bridal party and we insist they be allowed to remain in the church with respect due the place and occasion. Nor should this practice take place away from the church, but be entirely stopped at all places and times."

Parties of wedding participants and guests are frequently seen on Corning's streets decked out in junk and old shoes dragging at the rear of the cars. The horns on the cars help set up a continual scream to attract attention.

Bishop Hickey characterizes the entire practice as cheapening the sacred ceremonial of a holy rite of the church, and directs that the practice shall be discouraged by the priesthood.

SON OF GOD

The highest service may be prepared for and done in the humblest surroundings. In silence, in waiting, obscure, unnoticed. In years of uneventful, unrecorded duties, the Son of God grew and waxed strong.

Labby, Arthur Aggett and Harry Frank-father. After the business meeting the evening was given to playing games and stunts. The success of the party is due to Betty Adams and Jeanette Long, and Anna Robertie, refreshment committee.

FAITH

What a wonderful ship is faith. She discovers worlds beyond anything found by Columbus. What a freight she carries. Riches beyond the treasures of Solomon's ships of gold. To what a glorious realm she transports.—W. L. Watkinson.

FEW BIG GRID GAMES TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Today's football menu held few choice morsels for eastern gridiron followers.

Although traditional rivalries were revived in many conflicts, decisive victories were forecast by setups in a half score games involving major elevens. Navy, Dartmouth, Yale, Columbia, Princeton, Army, New York University, Washington and Jefferson, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania, among others, ruled favorites, with early season results carrying strong indications of victory.

Absence of games between teams in the thick of the hunt for the mythical championship diverted major interest to Harvard's desperate attempt to recover from the semi disastrous start in gridiron history. Hopes of steady improvement have been apparent at Cambridge in the last two weeks, but Crimson supporters hold only dim hope that Harween's players could stop Dartmouth.

Yale's confidence of readily subduing Brown was slightly shaken today by the loss of Dwight Fisher, brilliant end. The converted fullback who had a leg hand in the triumph Dartmouth last week, suffered a badly bruised knee which may keep him on the sidelines for two weeks. Lee Mallory, brother of a former Yale Captain, was expected to get Fiskwich's assignment.

A reorganized Princeton team faced Lehigh, with Captain Johnny Hamilton in the lineup for the first time this season. Jake Slagle, triple-threat backfield star, will be out at least two weeks.

Penn, Navy and Army, powerful and unbeaten candidates for eastern honors, anticipated no difficulty in disposing of Lafayette and Boston University, respectively, but a real struggle between two elevens is in store in the meeting of State and Syracuse. Fordham is looking for revenge next week at Michigan for the overwhelming defeat of 1925, appearing to hold a distinct edge over Colgate. There was indication, however, that the Middletown team would be called upon to stop a dazzling overhead barrage. Observers are expected to look upon the game as a critical test of Navy's defense for the Michigan game.

NEW YORK.—There's another heiress to the Vanderbilt and Whitney fortunes. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney now have a daughter in addition to a son.

"Wah" Hanrahan Sets New Mark with Score of 242 in Pilgrim Bowling Race

Walter Hanrahan undoubtedly planted both feet in the bowling shoes, offered by Howard B. Kelsey for the highest game rolled on the Recreation alleys of the First Congregational Church by a member of the Pilgrim Class during the month of October when he shipped the maples for a score of 242 Thursday evening.

Hanrahan took the shoes away from Harry W. Goldburg after the veteran bowlers rolled a game of 225 to take the "kicks" from Nicholas P. Osborn who held first place honors for more than three weeks with a score of 222. Goldburg only had first grip on the shoes a few minutes, when Hanrahan set a new record and the shoes "walked away."

Courtright is fourth on the list with a score of 221, Lane, fifth with 220, Warren sixth with 212 and Williford, seventh with 211.

MICHIGAN AND ZUPPKE'S MEN WILL CLASH TODAY

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Geared up by a bitter football rivalry of years standing, Illinois and Michigan awaited the opening whistle for the game which occupied the center of the gridiron stage of the country today. Both squads were declared primed for the conflict, the winner of which, there is a strong possibility, may ultimately be crowned king of the Western conference.

Although expressing some concern over ills that have overtaken some of his men, Coach Robert Zuppke of Illinois promised the Wolverines will be given "a fight the will remember." Members of the Michigan team indicated they were determined to carry off honors and to seek atonement for the crushing defeat at the hands of the Illini in 1924, the last meeting of the teams.

CORNING BOWLERS DROP TWO GAMES AT SAYRE

Corning bowling team number one, formerly the pin aggregation of the Methodist Church, dropped two out of three games in a Southern Tier League match at Sayre, Pa., last evening.

The local bowlers were unable to make a good showing and were handicapped by the foreign alleys the runaways of which has been shellacked. There were no unusually high scores.

Although the locals dropped two games, they topped their opponents on total pins. The team has won two and lost four games in the first two matches.

THE UNBEATEN TEAM—OR TEAMS

Last season there were just two unbeaten teams that also won every game—Dartmouth in the East and Alabama in the South.

Washington remained unbeaten through its schedule, but fell on New Year's Day before the Alabama rush.

Now Dartmouth has been beaten in its first hard game by Yale, and there is again the early autumn chatter as to how many unbeaten survivors there will be by the season's close.

Michigan has a great chance, but Michigan still has Illinois. Ohio State and the Navy to stop. Pennsylvania has her shot, but Illinois and Cornell are both strong, and both are in the road.

Yale, with Dartmouth out of the way, has a chance, but Yale has two barriers to beat down in a strong Army team and Princeton all set for a final November game.

The Army has Yale, Notre Dame and the Navy to reckon with, and the Navy has Colgate, Michigan and the Army to consider.

Two Others

There are at least two other strong organizations who may remain unbeaten until they meet.

One is Notre Dame and the other is Howard Jones's powerful array from the University of Southern California.

Notre Dame will have no set-up against the Army in November, and U. S. C. plays California on Saturday and Stanford a week away.

But one of these two is bound to go since they meet in Los Angeles on December 5. And this game, you can wager, gamble or bet, will contain a lot of football. It may result in the meeting of two unbeaten teams.

This is no certainty as the Army again will be loaded for Knute Rockne's line-up and U. S. C. must still reckon with the craft of Pop Warner at Stanford.

Alabama and N. Y. U.

In addition to Michigan and Yale, who seem sort to have the better chance, Alabama in the South can be picked for another unbeaten year and there is a favorable edge for Chick Meehan's N. Y. U. dream of a spotless lead to the finish.

N. Y. U. needed something to beat Tulane by 21 points. Meehan considers his team the equal of anything he had at Syracuse, where he had his share of good ones. Fordham and Nebraska are two strong rivals that still remain in the road, with Carnegie Tech, of Pittsburgh, left.

Down at Alabama, Wallace Wade has almost forgotten what defeat looks like. He has lost only one game in about five years.

Oriental Football

Dear Sir: The Orient, that has sent over some good tennis players and boxers, now is forwarding some very excellent football players. On the University of Dayton team five Hawaiians are listed as regulars. Spencer, Hipps and Burillo are linemen, while Swan and Cabbrina play in the backfield. This Cabbrina is one of the sweetest backs I have seen in years. He is fast as lightning and just as hard to lay hold on, while Swan is a jump faster than the ordinary back. They are making Dayton one of the best teams in the Middle West. The East will hear from them when Dayton plays Holy Cross.

The Signal Caller Passes

Dear Sir: With the advent of huge stadia the voice of the snappy signal caller is heard no more. A quarterback no longer is a field marshal surveying the field of battle and directing his thrusts at the weak spots in the opposing line. In the old days a quarterback could be looking over the defense while calling signals and could quickly call for plays that the rival team who were out of position and shoot a play that would take advantage of such a situation.

But now, with the big crowds and ill-timed cheering, the voice of a quarter would be silenced. He gives his signal from the huddle and a play is cut and dried before the offensive team goes into

IN SPITE OF HANDICAPS

BY FEG MURRAY

Copyright, 1926, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Many men have succeeded in various lines of athletic endeavor in spite of severe physical handicaps that would have broken the spirit and crushed the ambition of the average mortal. There are cases like those of Bobby Jones and Charley Paddock, who were so sickly as children that physicians held no hope at all for their very existence. I don't need to say here that Bobby Jones and Charley Paddock recovered.

Others merely had to contend with the handicap of bad eyesight. Lefty Stroudess and Carmen Hill of the Pirates, and "Specs" Toporcer of the Cardinals are the three [illegible] major league ball players; and there have been many athletes in other strenuous sports who were compelled to wear glasses while competing.

But the fact that so many men who have suffered the misfortune to lose a leg or an arm or their eyesight, still carried on as athletes, not only reflects great credit on their gameness, but also shows the lure that sports have in this day and age.

Among the one-armed athletes is Major Viscount Gough, an Englishman who rides his own horses in steeplechase races. Two one-armed ball players are Leo Forsey, of Chicago, and Al Wenger, of High Bridge, N. Y., both semi-pro players, and there are several others. There are several one-armed golfers, among them Jim Drain who has made a hole-in-one. Lake View High School of Chicago boasted of a one-armed football player a year or so ago.

One-legged athletes are rather common in sports, too. Recently in Hungary, M. Halasy, who is minus one leg, set a new record for the 1,600-meter swim. Vernon Schwab of Dayton, Ohio, played on the Silvers High School eleven with the aid of an artificial leg, and he played a fine game, too. W. B. Smith, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Cairo, Egypt, has only one leg, yet is a skillful tennis player. The records of Estes Sandicor, of Portland, Prien McQuillen of Philadelphia, and C. B. Crandell of England, all one-legged golfers are quite extraordinary, considering the importance of correct balance and pivoting in a golf swing.

Fred McConnell, of the N. Y. A. C., is a fine handball player in spite of the fact that he has lost one leg up to his knee.

But the most remarkable instances of all are George Sutton, the famous armless billiard player, brother A. Spurway of Rochelle Park, N. J., who is a handless and practically armless tennis player, Peter Gregory of Detroit, a legless bowler who competed in the last A. B. C. tournament, and Cliff Walraven of Atlanta, an armless auto driver. You've got to give these athletes credit! They are truly wonderful.

HORNELL HIGH SCHOOL GRID TEAM MEETS BOLIVAR TODAY

Edict is Removed by Board of Education When Students Return to School. Question May be Definitely Settled Later. School Runs Smoothly Friday

HORNELL, Oct. 23.—The voluntary return of the students of the Hornell High school to their classes Friday, an dthe subsequent announcement by the board of education that the resolution adopted last Monday night abolishing football had been suspended, until further notice, has apparently brought an end to the conditions that had disrupted school life here for the past few days. However, there will be further discussions on the matter, according to the board.

The return of the students was the outcome of a meeting held Thursday night in the Y. M. C. A. at which time the youngsters were advised by their elders that the best thing for them was to return to their classes unconditionally. As a result the students held a conference among themselves after which their leaders announced that the strikers would be back in school today. Evidently the leaders knew what they were talking about for there was no sign of trouble Friday and the students took their places in the different classes as though nothing had happened.

At noon the board of education announced that at an unofficial meeting held in the forenoon that the resolution had been suspended pending further notice. The same announcement stated that the matter was to come up later for discussion but no definite date was fixed.

The students, while willing to abide by any course that the board may decide upon, intimated that any further effort to take away what they consider their rights will be met with stubborn resistance. The students are surprisingly well organized and the committee consisting of Carl Strack Bernard Recktenwald, Mortimer Greenfield, John Capcorel and others has the situation well in hand.

In the meantime football practice is resumed and the game with Bolivar High School will be played.

M'INNIS TO MANAGE PHILADELPHIA TEAM

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—(AP)—John F. "Stuffy" McInnis, former member of Connie Mack's $111,000 infield, is to return next season as manager of the Philadelphia Nationals. He succeeds Arthur Fletcher, who was released on Wednesday by President William F. Baker.

In announcing that McInnis had been given a two year contract as player manager, President Baker said he would have a free hand in running the club and would be given all possible co-operation in building up a winning team.

"He needs a new third baseman and two good pitchers," said Mr. Baker. "With these new men he believes he would have enough to make a good start."

Paolino, Pyrennes light-heavyweight champion, will arrive in New York next month to tangle with the challenging host around Gene Tunney's throne. The Basque wood chopper has booked passage out of Buenos Aires on a steamer leaving November 4.

GREYHOUNDS OF ROCHESTER TO PLAY ALL-HIGH TEAM SUNDAY

The Rochester Greyhounds vs. the All-High is this week's menu at Pyrex Park. It will be served at 2:30 and is one of the highest class dishes to be spread here this year.

The Greyhounds being a new team this year have had the pick of all the new stars coming into the game. They have a group of young stars with them that have won favorable recognition in many colleges. Their backfield is made up of three triple threat men, players that can pass, kick or throw with equal skill. It is hard to find a better combination that Horter, Sofnik and Clar. While Evans is not a triple threat man he is a weighty line plunger and hard to stop. The Greyhound line showed it's worth in the game last Sunday when it held the Lancaster team to two touchdowns, something that no team had done before this year. It has not been made certain whether "Bob" Argus, former Corning Free Academy star, will be with the Greyhounds. If he hasn't been signed up by the Kissers or the Oxfords in the past week he will undoubtedly be in the lineup and the fans will have a chance to see the old star back in action again.

The All-High lineup, contrary to reports will probably be the same as last Sunday with the exception that La Follette will probably start at right tackle. La Follette is a new man in the All-High squad and has not had much chance to show his wares, but tomorrow he will probably be in the majority of the game and show some of the tricks he learned from the greatest coach of them all, Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame.

The line up:

Greyhounds	All-High

"JOE" WILLSON PLAYING WITH BUFFALO TEAM

Joe Wilson, former Corning boy and captain of the University of Pennsylvania football team of last year, and for four years a star lineman for Penn, yesterday affixed his signature to a Buffalo contract worked out with the Rangers and will play in Sunday's game against California.

"Willson is a tackle, and a mighty good one," said Coach Cooely Kendrick last night. "But I plan to start him at a guard position. I believe we have a pair of tackles as good as any in the pro field, and they've been doing such wonderful work I will not displace them. Willson plays guard as well as tackle. Penn always drills its tackles as guards, anyway, and I'll start him there. He's young, strong and fast. Unless I mistake, he's going to go like a house afire Sunday. He hasn't played pro football but he's going to be a star."

PILGRIMS BEAT "DARK HORSES"

The Pilgrim bowling team of the First Congregational Church, won two out of three games from Obourn's "dark horses" last evening and took the match rolled at recreation alleys.

The Pilgrims took the first game by 58 pins, hitting the maples for a total of 835 while the "Dark Horses" collected 777 pins. In the second tilt, the regulars topped their opponents by 133 pins to increase the lead to 191. The Pilgrims displayed a fine brand of pin work in this contest and collected 912 pins to the "Dark Horses" 779. In the last fray, Obourn's men braced and took the game by 18 pins.

Walter Hanrahan was high for the victors with a total of 557 while Haines was second with 553. Haines had high game honors for his team with 197 pins in the second tilt.

Flaitz had the best score for the "Dark Horses" with 205 pins in the last tilt and a total of 537.

N. H. S. IS DEFEATED 6-0 BY INELIGIBLE ATHENS GRID MEN

The Northside High School football team met defeat, 6-0 yesterday afternoon at Athens, Pa., at the hands of a team representing the Athens High School but composed of some ineligible players. The touchdown was made by the Athens coach, John Olson as a member of the team, in the first quarter after N. H. S. held for three downs with the ball less than six inches from the goal.

In addition to the coach, there were several other ineligible players on the Athens aggregation as there was no eligibility understanding between the two teams.

Obourn, N. H. S. back, featured the game with his brilliant broken field running and his amazing gains coupled with some brilliant passing in the final quarter nearly netted a touchdown for the Corning team which was held for downs and lost the ball when within scoring distance.

Long, Athens back, also featured the game with gains through the line and off tackle plays. N. H. S. stiffened after Athens scored in the opening quarter and would undoubtedly have evened or bettered the score in the second period but a fumble inside the 10 yard line cost them the opportunity.

Faulisi, N. H. S. back, was injured during the fray.

Lineup and summary:

Corning	Positions	Athens
Adriance	Left End	Edsall
Cole	Left Tackle	Swith
Capo	Center	Brower
Hanson	Right Guard	Torpey
Tshany	Right Tackle	Drake
Wilcox	Right End	Pugs
Lindblom	Quarterback	Olsen
Obourn	Left Halfback	Loveland
Faulisi	Right Halfback	Thrupe
Babisoto	Fullback	Long

Touchdown—Olsen. Substitutions—For Corning, Mallaney for Faulisi; for Athens, Spears for Edsall, Daniels for Loveland, Hall for Olsen, Messmer for Torpey, Beach for Drake, Mannis for Pugs, Beach for Smith, Carpenter for Daniels, Rieller for Hedrich, Francis for Messmer. Referee—Peirce, Athens. Umpire—Carpenter, Athens. Time of quarters—Eight minutes.

PENMANSHIP AMONG STUDIES AT MEEKER'S

Institute Deems Handwriting is Important For Business

Interest in Subject is Held by Honor Lists

MR. PIERCE IS INSTRUCTOR

Other News Notes of Interest at The "School Worth While."

MR. PAUL L. PIERCE

In this age of modern business machines and methods, the true value of good handwriting has not been lost sight of. Employers still require letters of application in the applicants handwriting. For this reason in the Meeker Training, handwriting is being made one of the high spots, under the direction of Paul L. Pierce Instructor.

Considerable interest is being shown in this subject. The daily lessons are being carefully inspected and a list of the best eleven papers are posted daily. This creates considerable interest, and provides an incentive for students to make the "Meeker Eleven". In the last week the following persons were included in this list at least three times: Frances Baker, Loretta Connolly, Evelyn Gilbert, Content Glover, Catherine Hanley, Nellie Stroinski, Marion Ida Johnson, Dorothy Jones, John Simon, Ethel Simpson.

POSITIONS

Emil Melnick, of Elmira Heights who recently completed his work in the Accounting Department, has been placed with a large wholesale firm in this city. Mr. Melnick produced a good record in school, and we are looking forward to his progress in business.

J. Otho Smith of Elmira, is doing Auditing and Accounting work with a large oil company operating in this city and Corning. Mr. Smith's training in Higher Accounting and Auditing has well equipped him for this work.

VISITORS

Several former students visited the school on "Columbus Day". We are always glad to see them and to know that they are succeeding in the Business World. Among those who called were: Wilbur Hewitt of Bloomburg, Pa., Nicholas Grimaldi of Corning, Miss Alice Quirk, of Watkins Glen, Miss Esther Stevens of Elmira, and Miss Marjorie Wager of Elmira.

DAD SAYS

"Any time is a good time to start out a new idea." AND DAD KNOWS!

One of the unique advantages of Business Education is the fact that a person who desires to enter this field of opportunity may do so any month in the year, and prepare for a position as rapidly as his ability will permit—more than that, when his training is completed, the Management will attend to him free Employment Service. The next entrance date at Meeker's is November 2. New students will be welcomed at that time. Interested persons may receive complete information by writing or calling.

"The Revealing Romance of a Flapper adventurer on life's highway"

Miss Nobody

by TIFFANY WELLS

Published by arrangement with First National Pictures Inc.

Awkwardly he inclined his head and she lifted white lips to meet his.

"We're partners, Kid—girl Kid—" His face was drawn with the agony of his effort. "Hold tighter."

It was an order and she clung. They fell.

They landed, after a drop of about four feet, in an odorous quagmire. They sank in it to their shoe tops. They stood with their arms about each other in a grip that held like the grip of death.

But it was the grip of life.

Matins

The crickets chirped matins. Estranged, Barbara and Bravo rested on the grassy slope of a railway cut.

They scraped with broken glass at the soxy clay which stiffened their boots and trousers. Their silence was not one the silence of understanding. It was a secrecy of distrust. They doubted, not each other, but themselves.

He spoke first:

"Look here, young woman. A while ago, while we were hanging from the trestle, you said goodbye—"

"I thought then I was going to die," she said. "I'll revise that now to 'Good morning.'"

"We can't go on like this," he said lamely.

"We've gone on like this," she mocked, stubbornly misunderstanding, "for weeks and weeks."

"Look here," he said—"you can't stand this sort of thing."

"No—only for a few hours. I had made up my mind I had located a partner. Now I find—"

"That you've only got a woman on your hands. In other words, an enemy. You are sorry—or frightened?"

"Not" he exploded. "Not sorry. Nor frightened. But puzzled. I've been thinking a lot while the mud dried. You've got to go back."

"Where?"

"Where you came from."

She shook her head violently.

"No, never. Let me tell you something." She sat up and tossed away the bit of broken bottle she had been using as a mud scraper. "I once bumped into a miserable morgue of a town. I was broke, hungry, tired and unhappy. I stumbled into a show and found a kitten there. The kitten was quite helpless. It said 'Meow.' I gathered him in."

"Your friend Alley, I suppose?" She nodded. "What about Alley? Cats ain't us."

She was silent. He must understand. She moved close and worked her hand under his sleeve. His face was grave and self-stern.

"Meow," said Barbara plaintively.

He put back his head, looked up into the shivering sky and laughed.

"What's your real name?" he asked.

"Barbara," she said. "Barbara Brown. And yours?"

"Bravo Kohler."

"I always thought the first was a horse monicker."

He shook his head. "That's my real name—if I can claim any name at all."

She stilled still closer.

"Tell me," she begged. "I'm sick with unasked questions."

"The name Kohler is my mother's." He spoke as if there were an impediment to his words.

She pondered that and began to guess his story.

"I was born in Vienna. My father was in the legation there. My mother sang. She was the dramatic soprano in the big Opera House. She was the greatest of the Carmens." He said it belligerently as in defense of a challenged principle.

"I'm sure she was," placated Barbara.

"Also," said Bravo bitterly, "she was, I fear, the greatest of the fools."

Barbara waited.

"I was born in a dressing room. My mother—astounding woman!—had just finished singing the Habanera. You know the song?"

Barbara hummed.

"Quite so," said Bravo heavily. "And a very appropriate aria it was, under the circumstances. My mother finished the song and I was born while the good Viennese yelled 'Bravo!' out in the hall. Mother gave me the name. She regretted nothing. She never sang again."

"And your father?" Barbara captured his hand and kept it.

"I never had the pleasure of meeting him," said Bravo grimly. "In the straus of his diplomatic duties and travels they drifted apart—irrevocably."

"Stage romances are bad for diplomatic ambitions. So the marriage and my birth were quiet—oh, so quiet!"

"He cared nothing about me—she cared for nothing but me. She gave him his freedom—quietly—to keep me."

Her heart ached for him.

"Your mother?"

"Gone. Poof! She died years ago."

"Then you're alone?"

"I haven't even got a cat."

She mistook her emotion. She thought it was sympathy. She reached an arm around his shoulder and drew his head down to her breast.

Then she knew it wasn't sympathy.

He was wooden in her embrace. Something would have to happen—

He doesn't care for me a bit," she thought wanly.

Something happened. Her arteries were electric with a current which sizzled from their strong source in him. He suddenly gripped her in a clutch that was cruel.

She wilted in his arms.

How small she was. How lovely and fragile.

Her face was uplifted, her eyes closed tight. Could she feel the trip-hammer beating of his heart? He kissed her many times but could not kiss her eyes awake. In the gray light of her face was a dim white flower.

She belongs to me," he gloated "To me—nobody."

He felt guilt. His own eyes were wide open.

A lark rose and sang that life is love and laughter. He heard the distant whistle of a train and, looking up, saw the headlight, garish in the soft forenoon, probe into their sequestered gully with a long accusing finger of cold flame.

It touched upon them. It smote her face and her eyelids quivered. The expression on that lovely masque hurt his heart.

It was the Madonna look.

The freight crept by. He memorized the number on the engine.

"Barbara."

She opened her eyes.

"Up! Let's go," he said harshly. He drew her to her feet. They made their way to the road and walked ahead in exhausted silence.

A mile ahead they came upon a dinky railroad station. She trailed him into the waiting room. In the station's office a telegraph key clicked.

Bravo picked up a blank. She spied over his shoulder as he wrote:

"To the Engineer:
"Engine No. 275,309.
"Thanks.

"B. KOHLER."

He handed the slip to the operator and paid a charge.

"That wire you sent," she questioned, "Why?"

"The engineer did me a favor." Bravo was laconic.

"What did he do for you?"

"He illuminated a situation. He helped me to play fair with a pal of mine."

She could make no sense of it, and was disturbed.

Hey, You!

She was on the company's payroll as Robert Brown, cook's helper, but everybody in camp called her Hey, You!

Barbara was quickly bored with her life as an industrial ant. A score of times she had suggested to Bravo that they cut loose from the camp and become gypsies again. She the unforgettable night of the trestle they had been at war. In worried arguments Bravo revealed a queer Puritan streak, subjectized itself in repeated demands that she quit her masquerade and return to wherever she had run away from.

"If you knew what I ran away from you wouldn't suggest that," she told him one day.

"I tell you," he testily retorted, "this sort of thing won't do. You're headed for trouble. This is a world made up of men and women, and you've got to be one or the other. You're neither. We can't roam around like this."

"Yes. What will people say?" she scorned. "Perhaps it'd be all right if I dug up a chaperone?"

He became morose and sullen then. She had welcomed the tunneling job as the possibility of a respite from their constant bickering on the one subject. Her first day as helper to Fritz, the camp cook, nearly licked her.

After their first dinner in the mess hall Bravo came upon her in back of the kitchen, having a game struggle with a 50-pound galvanized iron can. He took the burden off her shoulders.

"Look here," he said, when he came back. "You can't stand this sort of thing. I'll pay your board in Sparta until this job is over. Then I'll take you back to New York."

Sparta was the little town on the other side of the mountain. It clustered about the church, the office of which one could see by climbing to the top of Peck's sag hook a due east.

Barbara liked his offer. She sensed in it an unconscious confession of Bravo's desire to keep her near despite his reiterated pleas that she go back to Indiana. But she shook her head and stuck up her little pointed chin. She loved to oppose him.

The next day he insistently renewed the proposal when the discovery was made that the daily morning use of the shower baths, simple devices for hard bathing, was mandatory on all the workers.

Wavy—Curly Glossy Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The thousands who see me daily on the stage know how my hair waves and glows. It seems doubly abundant because of the curl. Nearly every girl and woman who sees it would like to have hair like mine.

But I never go to a hair dresser. I have never had a Marcel wave. I simply apply a hair dress which experts made for me. Neither you nor I will probably ever see anything else to compare. It makes the hair curly, keeps it in place and gives it a lovely shine.

This hair dress is now known as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Shene. All toilet counters supply it at 75c per bottle. It will bring you added loveliness more quickly than anything else I know. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so if yours you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

Unseen Sources of Long Life

The basic sources of automobile value are not always apparent to the eye.

A motor car, like a house, may LOOK a great deal more substantial than it really is.

Because of this difficulty, more and more thousands are turning to Dodge Brothers product for insurance against disappointment.

The years have proved, and each year proves anew, that Dodge Brothers are as deeply concerned with the UNSEEN goodness of their motor car as with the seen.

The mileage it will deliver, the safety it will provide, the expense and trouble it will save the owner over a period of years, are quite as important to Dodge Brothers as the more obvious details of equipment and style.

MASONIC SHOW IS UNDER WAY

"Smiles" to be Given at the Painted Post School Next Week

Rehearsals are being held nightly for the musical show "Smiles" which is to be given at the Painted Post High School auditorium next Thursday and Friday evening. There are over 100 who will take part and the production promises to be one of the best home talent production ever seen in this section. The show is being given under the auspices of the Montour Lodge F. & A. M. of Painted Post.

Some of the best talent in Corning has been secured for the production, and the leading parts will be filled by Mrs. Raymond Velie, of Painted Post, and G. Lauriston Walsh, both of whom made big hits in the American Legion Hurley Q's last week. The show is replete with tuneful melodies and pretty dance numbers.

The story of the plot is centered around a mole. Two noblemen come to this country to search for the lost baby heir of the throne of Slavocia. The heir was stolen 25 years previous and the only clew the searchers had is that the missing person had an unusual birthmark, a mole in the shape of a crown on the shoulder.

Mrs. Margaret Lauriaux, manager of a roof garden, but known to her old friends Katie and Mike Dooley; as Maggie O'Leary informs the gentlemen that her daughter, Peggy, who is in love with Dick Vande Vgrift has a mole on her shoulder. The noblemen fall desperately in love with Peggy, who tell them that it is her mother who has the mole. Katie decides on hearing that the job is worth money claims he is the missing one. After being deceived four times the noblemen find the missing heir who later is seated upon the throne of Slavocia.

The part of Mrs. Lauriaux is taken by Miss Katherine Lynn, while Peggy her daughter, is portrayed by Mrs. Velie. Katie Dooley, wife of Mike is a part that is capably handled by Miss Elsie Clute. Miss Elaine Teufroeck and Ida Bentley are two young lady dappers that figure in the plot.

Mr. Walsh has the leading male role in the part of Dick Vandergrift. The male comedy roles are taken by George Hanrahan, the well known local Irish comedian and the part of Mike Dooley, and Clifford Matson is seen as the Jewish stick. Jack Marteile, of Corning, has been selected to take the part of Marquis DeRothschilde a French nobleman, one of the most difficult roles in the show. His costume, a Prince Albert and Tuxedo combination. Dan Penfield, as Englishman of distinction will be played by Alfred Ransil. "Hardboiled" Dooley, wife of Mike and Katie Dooley, is the only juvenile part and will be handled by Duncan Gage. Miss Marion Smith has the laugh producing part of Bridget, the cook for Mrs. Lauriaux.

The Masonic orchestra consisting of Mabel Bailey, Ralph Dickens, Harry Miller, Percy L. Smith and L. D. Kimble will furnish the music for the show.

MENTAL CLINIC TO BE HELD HERE WEDNESDAY

Dr. Currie, of the Willard State Hospital, will hold a mental clinic for all people troubled with nervousness in any form at Corning's Hospital Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Consultations with Dr. Currie are free.

Deaths-Funerals

Adrian Bedient

Erford Adrian Bedient, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Bedient, of the Town of Corning, died at the family home, Friday evening, October 22, 1926, at 6 o'clock, following an illness of two weeks' duration, of diphtheria.

Erford was born in Tyrone, September 8, 1917. He had lived in the Town of Corning for the past three and one-half years.

Both his mother, Mrs. Bedient, and his sister, Brevadiene, aged 11 years, suffered attacks of diphtheria from which they are just recovering.

Erford is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claire Bedient, two sisters, Brevadiene, aged, 11, and Roselyn, aged seven; one brother, Joseph, aged four; and three grandparents, Della Bedient, of Painted Post, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Curtin, of East Third street, Corning. Mrs. Bedient was formerly Miss Frances Curtin of this city.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home and was private. The Rev. A. F. Townerman, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

EMPLOYES IN STORES AND FACTORIES WILL SUPPORT CHEST DRIVE

Factory and Store Managers Confident Workers Will Aid in Worthy Campaign Project

That the people in the factories and stores of Corning and Painted Post are desirous of proving their interest in civic endeavors was the consensus of opinion of a large meeting of factory and store managers and presidents held at the Community Chest Headquarters, Erie and Pine street, Friday afternoon.

Marvin Olcott, general Chairman of the Community Chest Campaign in presenting the object of the meeting, said: "There is no doubt that the average man and woman who is employed in the factories and stores of Corning and Painted Post would make a generous subscription to the Community Chest if given the opportunity. Heretofore we have not reached them, which, in itself is doing them an injustice. The Community Chest is everyone's job. There is no group which is responsible for maintaining the character-building and charitable agencies. It is something that we all must feel, down in our hearts, deeply obliged to support."

Plans were laid so that every man and woman who could not be reached in the regular factory canvass will have the opportunity of subscribing through his or her employer's subscription list.

Each one will be requested to share in the fund to the amount of a day's pay for a year's charity. Team organizations will be built up within the different institutions.

A meeting of these organizations will be as Community Chest Headquarters, Friday, October 29th, at which time a full explanation of the Chest and the participating agencies will be outlined. Various members at the employers' meeting yesterday stated that men in their plants would enthusiastically respond to the solicitation. It was agreed that the pledges of the employes could be deducted from the check by the employer or paid to an official sub-treasurer; this to be at the choice of the individual employee.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the employers of Corning and Painted Post, here assembled, endorse the Community Chest plan as the most economical and effective system of raising and distributing moneys to fund the eight participating agencies:

Therefore we recommend:

1. "Solicitation at place of employment by authorized employers.

2. That all employes' pledges be collected by deduction from check by means of an official sub-treasurer to be appointed in the company; this as the employe may elect.

3. That each employe in Corning and Painted Post be asked to contribute not less than one day's pay.

4. That a special pledge card be furnished by the Chest.

5. That the company executive appoint a person to serve as team captain for the company.

As the plan calls for voluntary subscriptions, all those present at the meeting were emphatic in declaring that no employe be forced to subscribe if he did not so desire. Letters will be mailed out to the few factory and store managers who found it impossible to be present at the meeting.

48 ARRESTED DURING MONTH

Public Intoxication Results in 16; $144 in Fines are Collected

Mrs. Howell Commends Younger Generation; Not Going to Dogs But is Being Sent, She Declares

When asked if she thought the younger generation was "going to the dogs," Mrs. Alfreda Howell, child psychologist and home counsellor, who is conducting a series of lectures and talks to girls and women in the city, said that she thought "the younger people had been picked on."

Mrs. Howell has spoken before the Parent-Teacher Associations in both school districts in the city, before the Corning Mothers' Circle and also before the high school girls Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock under the auspices of Corning Woman's Club, a mass meeting of all women in the city will be held in the First Methodist Episcopal Church to hear Mrs. Howell in her final lecture. Mrs. Charles C. Corwin will act as the presiding officer of which Mrs. W. H. Proctor is chairman. Mrs. D. A. Loupe will be at the organ.

Mrs. Howell has been in this work for several years, working with girls in high schools, colleges, and factories, she has a broad understanding and knowledge of present conditions.

In her lecture Sunday afternoon she will offer many valuable suggestions as to how girls may avoid the pitfalls facing the modern generation, which she declares is in greater danger than any other generation of girls that have ever been in. Mrs. Howell is in great demand for her lectures are not only inspirational to mothers and all who are interested in the preservation of the morals of the community, but she is an interesting and forceful speaker.

Continuing her interview concerning the fallacies of the younger generation, which Mrs. Howell has a better opportunity of learning than even the most alert parent, she said, "The older people have been critical for many years, I feel that they have been so for the very reason that we so frequently pick on some one else—to cover our own indiscretions.

"The young people of today are not originators. With all their vices, they have not originated a new sin, nor any new vices. They have only imitated the older people.

"However, the situation is one of danger. In their imitation of older people and their reaction to the almost unnatural stimulation that surrounds them, they are in greater danger than the young people ever have been in before.

"The influences and moral standards have been so lowered in America and this has so affected the moral tone of our population that I feel that the situation is more dangerous than it has even been.

"Historians have noted me how this generation compares in my viewpoint, with the days of Nero and the decadence of that time. If we read history aright, the decay of the moral fibre of the nation is that age affected the adults. In these days we hear of the sins and vices of the adult population, but the children and youth of the nation. But in America, we find these things affecting young people and affecting them younger, younger and younger.

"No, the young people of today are not going to the dogs. They are being sent!

"The young people are being exploited as never before. I believe that the moving pictures are responsible for a large part of the delinquency among girls and boys of this land. The automobiles also are a great factor in this delinquency," she said in answer to a query, "but we cannot blame the automobile manufacturers. The right or wrong use of an automobile comes within the province of the parents."

In reply to another question, she said, "The radio is the only modern invention of recent years that has tended to preserve the home for the younger generation by keeping them at home. It tends to keep the entire family at home and thus preserve the home life of the nation as nothing else of recent years has done.

"Returning to the question of the automobile, if parents would take the children out in the car and go some place interesting, it would do more than anything else to keep the family together and yet satisfy the craving of the young people for some place and do the things that other people are doing."

MINOR MOTOR MISHAPS HERE

Slight Damage Done and No One Injured According to Police Reports

There were two minor automobile mishaps at Gibson last night and this morning and both were reported to the local police. But slight damage resulted.

Ray Murray of Corning R. D. 2, stated that he was driving north on College avenue and had started to make a left turn into a building line station when a car bearing license number 4F-79-50 started to pass him and ran into his car. This occurred at about 7:30 o'clock this morning.

F. E. Dutton, also of Corning R. D. 2, was driving on College avenue about 1 o'clock this morning when a car approaching in the opposite direction ran into his car. Both machines were parked, stopped at the time and no damage resulted.

TO INCREASE HI-Y CLUBS

Membership in County to be Raised from 200 to 400 it is Decided

The high school Y. M. C. A. boys have decided to increase the membership of the Hi-Y Clubs of the county from 200 to 400. This decision was made at a very enthusiastic meeting held here Wednesday, October 20.

The Steuben County Y. M. C. A. has been active in building up this work for more than six years and the Hi-Y work is now being administered through a council of high school fellows, presidents and representatives of their clubs, under the direct leadership of George Hyatt, of Corning, as adult chairman.

The general program of these clubs is based upon service to the school, to the church and to the community. Some of the apparent results are the finer spirit of sportsmanship and fair play in these clubs, a higher standard of scholarship and the development of qualities of leadership in a large number of boys. It is hoped to be awarded to the best Hi-Y Club in the county, at the end of the present school year.

A team of older boys and men is to visit each club very soon to help lay out a definite program which will make for more live and effective administration of this work. Secretary Chamberlin put his shoulder to the wheel here to increase the number of clubs from the nine which are at present organized until every high school of the county has an effective club.

CANANDAIGUA — In United States district court a suit brought by Fred Richardson against the Iroquois Indian Trailer Motor Coach Company, Inc., of Buffalo, to recover damages for the death of Richardson's wife in a peculiar accident near Clifton Springs about a year ago, was settled after the forenoon had been spent in taking evidence. The woman was hit by a big passenger bus running empty.

GLASS SERVICE FOR THE QUEEN

Product of Hawkes Used at Two Dinners Given in Her Honor

Her Royal Highness Queen Marie has not visited Corning and probably will not do so during her visit to this country, but nevertheless Corning talent and Corning workmanship has served the queen well twice.

Her entertainment at the home of Judge Elbert H. Gary, of New York, last evening marked the second dinner attended by the queen at which the service was glass from the T. G. Hawkes & Company cut Glass plants.

The first time a service from the local plant was used in the queen's honor was at the dinner in her honor at the White House. The service used there was installed 45 years ago and the various pieces that were broken have been replaced continually since then by the local concern. The White House service is a pattern peculiar to the United States government, some which appears the government coat of arms.

In speaking of the service manufactured for Judge Gary, Samuel Hawkes stated this morning that he thought it one of the finest, if not the finest service, that had ever been produced in America. The service is of rock crystal glassware and the design most artistic. Both pieces of Judge Gary's monogram so placed that while it is perfectly distinguishable, it does not mar the pattern but rather adds to the artistic result of the ensemble. The design itself is an intricate pattern that presents a graceful appearance. The service consists of 225 pieces.

The complete services in both of the styles used at the White House and at the home of Judge Gary added an air of distinction to the tables of which Americans could justly boast. The services attracted comment in metropolitan papers because of their beauty added to the fact that they were distinctly American.

WILL COMPARE CITY PROPERTY

Referee Folger Here in Case of Mr. Sebring for Review of Assessment

Referee Paul Folger of Rochester, was in Corning today in connection with the certiorari proceeding of Jacob Institute O. Sebring for a review of the assessment on his West Second street property. No testimony was taken today but the referee, accompanied, visited various sections of the city and selected 25 pieces of property at random for a comparison with the Sebring property.

At the last hearing in the case in court ago, Referee Folger announced that he would select 100 pieces of property as a comparison of tax rates in the city, 75 of these were from the assessment roll of 1921 the year in which the action was started. To do this he took the assessment roll to Rochester and came home with the secret the remaining 25 properties.

Mr. Sebring brought the action on the ground that his property was assessed too high and since 1921 no taxes have been paid on the property in question. At the last hearing in the case, the testimony was introduced by Mr. Sebring to the effect that all of the other homes of the city were too highly assessed in comparison with other properties.

The Sebring property has been assessed at $30,000 and according to testimony of real estate men as introduced by Mr. Sebring the property is worth only between $12,000 and $16,000. Referee Folger will submit the list of 25 properties he has personally selected at a later date. Attorney Justin V. Purcell and City Attorney John C. Wheeler appear in the interest of the city in the proceeding.
