TWO MISSING FROM CAMP ON LAKE GEORGE

LAKE GEORGE, Nov. 20.—(AP)—L. D. Greene, of the New York, Ontario and Western railroad, and John J. Eden, Hartman estate superintendent, both of Orange county, left their camp on Lake George last Sunday in a motorboat and have not been seen since. A third man is believed to have accompanied them. The three intended to cruise among the islands at the Narrows.

A visit at the C. H. Buck cottage, which the men used as a camp for hunting and fishing, today revealed that their luggage was still in the building, and it is believed here that their boat was capsized in a squall and that the men have been drowned.

Henry Sisson and Walter Harris, who are familiar with the lake, are searching for the men and the boat, a steel craft with a "kicker" motor.

ONLY EIGHT OF SIXTEEN MEN BELIEVED KILLED IN TANKER EXPLOSION ACCOUNTED FOR

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Painstaking search of the cooling ruin of the Norwegian tanker Mantilla, torn apart by an explosion in its hold while in drydock at Sparrows Point, early today had accounted for only eight of 16 men believed killed.

A check made by Captain Nils Danielsen indicated that the death toll included 12 of the Mantilla's crew of 35. Four unidentified bodies were apparently those of oilmen. The other bodies recovered were believed those of employes of a ship cleaning company. Of these the body of Amiel Petersen of Baltimore was identified.

Of the two score injured receiving hospital treatment several had slight chances of recovery, physicians said. Many injured went to their homes.

Accidental ignition of gas generated from oil that remained in a fuel tank when the Mantilla went into drydock was believed the cause of the blast which ripped the vessel's steel plates like tissue. Flames licked from the fissures, searing workmen from the docks and drydock scaffolding.

Rescue workers who penetrated billows of smoke which blanketed the drydock after the explosion found disabled men frantically attempting to escape from advancing streams of burning oil. Many were taken out with their clothing afire.

Thorough search of the interior of the vessel was impossible until several hours after the explosion.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Nov. 20.—(AP)—A night's rest in the Essex county jail prepared Mrs. Fannie Soper, on trial here for the murder of her husband, Deputy Sheriff Henry Soper of Boquet, for the ordeal of cross-examination today. District Attorney O. Bryon Brewster took up the entire morning session of court with close questioning of the woman who is a defendant now for the second time, having been convicted of the crime a year ago.

The first part of the cross-examination was devoted to efforts on the part of the district attorney to make Mrs. Soper recall an interview he indicated he had had with her a hort time after Soper was shot to death as he lay on a couch in the kitchen of the Soper home, Mrs. Soper first indicated that she did not recall such an interview. Mr. Brewster questioned her more closely, and finally asked:

"Do you mean to say that you have forgotten that interview "

"No." Mrs. Soper replied, "I haven't forgotten, but you did not talk to me on that occasion."

FIRST OF TRIO CHARGED WITH MURDER OF REV. HALL, MRS. MILLS TESTIFIES ON BIRTHDAY

COURT HOUSE, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Taking the witness stand on his birthday, Henry Stevens, charged with his sister and brother, with the murder of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, September 14, 1922, today told a jury here today that he was at his home at Lavallette, N. J., more than 50 miles away, that day and night.

The first of the trio of defendants to testify said in reply to his counsel's first question that he was 57 years of age today. After sketching his life, a portion of which was spent as a salesman and demonstrator for concerns dealers of shotguns and powder, he was brought in his recital to the day when his brother-in-law, the Rev. Edward W. Hall, and Mrs. Mills were killed.

The witness said that he spent the morning "downtown" and fished in the afternoon and evening. Mrs. Stevens was in New York, he said, but the cook was present when he had the evening meal at home about 6 o'clock.

During the early evening he said he went to a neighbor's house to tell him that the fish were biting and also weighed a six pound blue fish for a friend.

Mr. Stevens said that he was thoroughly familiar with shotguns and knew something of cartridges for all arms. He declared that he has not fired a pistol in 25 years and has not owned one for about the same length of time. He bought a .38 calibre automatic pistol for Mrs. Stevens, he said, in 1924.

Stevens denied stories of state witnesses as to his movements. He was not in New Brunswick when Mrs. Mary Demarest told of seeing him the day after the killing in Perth Amboy, and was not near the scene of the slaying a year later, as testified to by Mrs. Anna Hoag. He said that at the time former

HOOKUP OF 1,000 MILES IS TESTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Super power—the hooking up of electric generating companies for the sharing of current—daily spins its intricate web of interlaced wires.

Electric lamps in Boston were lighted yesterday with current provided by Chicago, and a Florida cow may yet by milked by current relayed from the tumbling waterfalls of Minnesota.

A dozen companies participated in a 1,000 mile test hookup yesterday, but the opinion of Robert E. Dillon, head of the regenerating department of one of them, the Boston Edison Company, 500,000 volts would be required for economical operation of a line this long, which is too much to be practical at present.

On the Pacific coast there is an 1,800 mile hookup, with 300 miles for its longest transmission, for which 220,000 volts are required, the highest powered line now in operation, Mr. Dillon says. This Pacific system connects Vancouver with San Diego and Yuma, 1,000 miles away, and at Seattle is tied in a line to Billings, Mont.

TYRANNY IS CONDEMNED BY POPE PIUS

ROME, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Pope Pius in his encyclical published today condemns the "bloody tyranny" suffered by the clergy and faithful in Mexico, exhorts them in other lands to continue prayers in behalf of the Mexicans, and expresses faith in the final victory of the church.

He enlarges upon two themes, the increasing violence of the persecution, including attacks on young women, and the growth of treacherous, though peaceful, resistance.

He examines especially "the bitter character of the so-called political constitution of 1917 and the intolerable way in which the conditions of the Catholic church have been revived and enforced by the recent and even more drastic law and by its violent application, accompanied by the greatest abuses of authority, reaching bloody tyranny."

The principal excesses of tyranny, recited by incontestable testimony, he says, have been directed not only against holy places and persons but also against those citizens who are most openly Catholic, and who, therefore, are suspected of aversion for the sacrilegious laws of their rulers.

The description of conditions in Mexico, the encyclical says, recalls the atrocities of the worst periods of persecution during the French revolution, whose martyrs the pontiff recently glorified, thinking also of their imitators, the martyrs of Mexican persecution."

STATE DEPARTMENT OF FARMS AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Fresh receipts of barrelled apples were limited. Early morning trading was slow and the market without material change. Hudson Valley grade A 2 1-2 inch Baldwins wholesaled through the stores of commission merchants at $2.50@$3.25. Rhode Island Greenings of the same size and grade commanded $3.50@$4.25 for cold storage stock and $2.50 @ $3.50 for common storage. The total commercial production of apples for the entire country is forecasted at 40,000,000 barrels and is nearly one third heavier or 10,000,000 barrels greater than the five year average. It is interesting to note that New York state apples are of excellent quality, taking the crop as a whole. Considerably over half the winter fruit in that state will come within the A grade.

WHO GETS THE MONEY YOU EARN?

Economy looks like an up-hill game when you first begin, and sometimes it is an up-hill game but it is the road to prosperity, and if you can persevere in your small economies you will find this out. Your extravagance does not draw interest. Some day you will pay interest on your present extravagance.

If you put that money in the bank now, you can some day afford to buy the luxuries you crave without missing the money.

Reception Conditions

Reception conditions last evening bore out the weather man's prediction of a snowstorm. The atmosphere was rather unsettled and a considerable amount of static made reception of many stations rather noisy.

However, if the radio fan chose his stations carefully a much finer entertainment was available. A unique and unusual program was had from WLS from a Chicago O'clock. Charles Wakefield Cadman, famous American composer, gave a program of his own composition and was himself at the microphone.

A representation of a variety show of 1890 was given by WJZ, which also was entertaining.

Walter Damrosch, familiarly known as the "Dean of American conductors," will wield the baton tonight when the New York Symphony Orchestra presents a program through a group of stations beginning at 9 o'clock. Rossini, Grieg, Wagner, Debussy and Pierrie are the composers represented on the programs, which will be heard through stations WEAF, New York; WFI; WCAE; WWJ; WSAI; WTAM; WGN; KSD and WDAF.

STEALING OF CHICKENS IS CONTINUING

HORNELL, Nov. 20.—The wholesale thefts of chickens that have been bothering the farmers of this locality for weeks is being continued. More than 100 prize Rhode Island Reds owned by Farley Robinson, who resides near Loon Lake, were stolen last night.

Similar thefts are being reported practically every other night from some point in the western end of Steuben or the eastern section of Allegany counties. It is apparently the work of a well organized gang of thieves that has an outlet for its booty. Estimates place the number of chickens stolen during the past three months at 2,000.

There is always more or less chicken stealing but of late it has reached such proportions that farmers are becoming alarmed. It is possible that a vigilante committee will be formed in the sections that have suffered the most.

WAR On WASTE!

THE SINCLAIR LAW OF LUBRICATION

for every machine of every degree of wear there is a scientific Sinclair Oil to suit its speed and seal its power

SINCLAIR OILS

A powerful weapon in Sinclair's "War on Waste" is the Sinclair Law of Lubrication. This law tells the motorist that his engine has a "degree of wear" which requires just the right grade of oil "to suit its speed and seal its power." And he should change the lubricating oil in his car to fit its changing "degree of wear."

In following this Law of Lubrication, Sinclair dealers are rendering a real service to motorists. There is a science behind it—there's a real service behind it. There is a "War on Waste" behind it—a war on inefficient and destructive operation of machinery. Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil increases the efficiency and prolongs the life of the engine! It helps the motorist maintain economical transportation.

Just another service rendered by the men at the Red and Green pump to help the motorist get more mileage from his car.

Commending the Supervisors

The Board of Supervisors in regarding the Sheriff's disputed prohibition enforcement bills as a closed incident have taken a position both dignified and logical.

There has been some evidence of an attempt to stampede the board into action through manipulation of public sentiment but the public has refused to respond and the sentiment is plainly lacking.

The duties and responsibilities of a supervisor are even more important toward the taxpayers than those of a sheriff.

The board of supervisors is a county unit. The legislature is to the state and Congress is to the nation.—tod

Sheriff Page has had his day before the county supervisors and it has been a full day. They have examined his claims respectfully and carefully and declined to spend the taxpayers' money in the manner which the sheriff approves.

Recently the national Prohibition enforcement department has emphatically declared against ruthless and spectacular methods or actions which tend to violate the common rights of citizens. The shotgun type of raider is going out of style.

Chief Justice Marshall on Prohibition

Chief Justice John Marshall's views on prohibition, expressed a short time before his death to a young clergyman who advocated "constitutional prohibition," are presented, "for the first time," by Matthew Page Andrews in November Current History Magazine.

This foremost American jurist, according to Mr. Andrews, while admitting the social evils and political corruption resulting from intemperance, declared that "the evils which would flow from any attempt at Federal interference would far outweigh them."

He expressed his belief that such legislation would be an "unjustifiable restriction upon personal liberty and an infringement upon the sovereignty of the States in violation of the principle of local self-government, for the preservation of which the participants in the Revolution had risked their all; and that there was as much danger in giving such powers to a Congress in Washington as it would have been for the colonists to have yielded the powers claimed by King and Parliament."

He emphatically asserted that "any attempt to enforce sumptuary legislation on so large a scale would lead to bribery and corruption on a still larger one."

OPTIMISM

To The Editor:

Optimism is the belief that God rules the universe. In other words, "whatever is the best." Often a few cheering words, spoken sincerely, to the sore, discouraged, even to the point of despondency, is like a draught of sparkling cold water to the thirsty.

Every heart has its own burden, laid there perhaps by ourselves, or given to us to bear, by one "Whose love passeth all understanding."

How do we bear this trouble? With the smile and courage of optimism? Believing God knows, and cares, even as he notes the "sparrow's fall," or like the pessimist and cynic, do we believe the world altogether evil, beyond almighty power to save?

To quote, "There is good in the worst of us and evil in the best of us." Why should the pessimist give to an overburdened world a message written with a pen dipped in poison or a tongue dripping venom? It helps no one, and the world isn't any better because they write or speak. The world loves an optimist. McLeod beautifully expressed this sentiment when he wrote:

"Keep your heart free from hate, your mind from worry, live simply; expect little; give much; sing often; pray always; fill your life with love; scatter sunshine; forget self—think of others; do as you would be done by.

Optimist.

Rap at Rotary—Eating—The New "Lost Art"

Eating in America, moans Thurston Macauley in the December pages of the Forum, is becoming a lost art. The European invariably spends two hours or so in the middle of the day, glad to relax and forget his cares. But the American business man feels he is losing money if he lingers over his lunch. When he can dash into a restaurant for a hurried snack sufficient to sustain him until dinner.

American wives are blamed for the excess of tea-rooms where diners of minute proportions are served. Men are not necessarily averse to visiting attractively gotten up eating places but it is almost too much to ask them to go hungry simply for the sake of batik hangings and yellow candles.

Mr. Macauley adds a bit of personal experience from his newspaper days.

"One of the few rare occasions when the American business man will not bolt his food and run is the weekly Rotary or Kiwanis luncheon. As a cub reporter on a newspaper in a thriving manufacturing city, I was regularly assigned to "cover" the local Rotarian luncheons. At first I was elated. Newspaper men's salaries are notoriously little: one good meal a week, at any rate. Every week the food was just the same. It was most unappetizingly prepared and invariably cold by the time it was set before me. Every week the same booster songs were sung. Every week the same insipid "pep" talks issued forth from the lips of some local cracie—a garage owner one week, an insurance salesman another week, and an undertaker the next. When an even greener reporter appeared to relieve me of this assignment I experienced a tremendous sense of relief."

NEW HAVEN—If this carting away of goal posts by supporters of winning football teams continues, various logical developments are suggested by the Yale Alumni Weekly. For instance, the selling of organ pipes in the historic Woolsey Hall by debaters who defeat Yale; the carting away of ice from a hockey game and the cut grass in the Thames after a boat race.

BALTIMORE— The Noonans seem to be good football players and fighters. Mike, a member of the City College eleven, was suspended for something or other, and there was a row in the board of education about it. Dr. William Burdick, advisory director of physical education, says he got a blow from James Noonan, father of Mike, and then brandished a chair to prevent Mike tackling him.

NEW YORK—Cheap and sensational publicity, in the opinion of Miss Sarah Butler, is one of the greatest handicaps that Governors Ross and Ferguson and other women in American public life have faced. In Europe that is not the case, she argues, and American statesmen should make the press take women in politics for granted. ## AUDITING OF INCOME TAX RETURNS IS CONSIDERED

Taxpayers May Be Notified Just When Their Returns Shall Have Been Checked

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Publicity Correspondent for The Evening Leader
Copyright 1926 By The Evening Leader.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Plans are being considered by the treasury department whereby it may be possible to notify taxpayers just when their income tax returns shall have been audited. Many business institutions for example have been seriously inconvenienced because they have assumed that their returns were correctly made only to have them suddenly reopened two or three years later when they had felt confident the matter was closed.

Under the present system a taxpayer files his return and that is the last he hears of it unless there is some mistake made. With the average taxpayer it makes little difference when his return is audited but large business institutions, it is of importance to know whether the books can be closed for each year. Sometimes a mistake in income tax auditing on the part of a company means an extra assessment which works hardship because it may be asked for during a year when business was not so good as in the year it should have been paid originally.

The whole problem of the treasury, in its expedite the auditing of the returns so as to minimize this kind of inconvenience. It lately has been called to the attention of officials, however, that there is no reason why the business institutions which have made correct returns should not have this information as quickly as possible.

The cost of sending a communication to every taxpayer is considered by Secretary Mellon to be relatively small matter if indeed there is no other obstacle to the process. One of the difficulties of course, will be that the treasury does not always finish auditing the returns and reserves the right to reopen consideration of a certain return if a new line of thought develops with respect to the income tax returns of a particular type of business or industry. This however, is diminishing as the internal revenue administration grows each year more familiar with the intricacies of modern business. Some times the delay in auditing is due to ambiguities in the new laws and sometimes to the haziness of the returns themselves, thus requiring consultations with the taxpayer or his representative.

Generally speaking, the number of returns which seek to evade the law are a small minority. Up to now the treasury has had to make a quick examination of many returns and if on the face of it there appeared to be something wrong the government has asked the taxpayer to waive his rights under the statute of limitations so that the time for further consideration would not be limited.

THE BAD NEWS SPREADS

Bad news travels like the wind;
It always leaves good news behind.

—Peter Rabbit

Funny, isn't it, that it should be so? But it is. I know of nothing that can travel any faster than bad news. For some reason or other, people delight in passing on bad news. You would think they would take much greater delight in passing on good news, but good news travels slowly compared with bad news. So it was that in almost no time at all, it was all over the Green Meadows and through the Green Forest, and even way up in the Old Pasture, that Mrs. Grouse had been killed by a hunter with a terrible gun.

Sammy Jay told Reddy Fox in just what part of the Green Forest the dreadful thing had happened

At first, the friends of Mrs. Grouse were slow to believe it, but when they heard that Peter Rabbit had seen her shot, and had watched the hunter run to pick her up, they just naturally had to believe it. So they shook their heads and said how sad it was, and how they should miss Mrs. Grouse; and what a dreadful thing it was that hunters with terrible guns should be allowed in the Green Forest.

And the little people who lived on the Green Meadows, when they heard the dreadful news, began to weep. They hadn't felt it necessary to watch out for hunters with terrible guns, although it was now the hunting season. You see, they had felt quite safe on the land of Farmer Brown. But if a hunter with a terrible gun could shoot Mrs. Grouse in the Green Forest, he might appear on the Green Meadows with that terrible gun. Bob White looked worried. He and Mrs. Bob warned their children to stay together and to be sure to keep perfectly still if they should see a hunter with a terrible gun on the Green Meadows. "By remaining perfectly still, you may escape being seen," explained Bob. "If you are seen, some of you will be sure to be shot just as was poor Mrs. Grouse. Dear me! How she will be missed!"

When Reddy Fox over in the Old Pasture first heard the news, he flew into a great rage. You see, he had always felt that some day he was going to be smart enough to catch Mrs. Grouse. So he felt that this hunter with the terrible gun had robbed him of Mrs. Grouse. He expressed his opinion of that hunter, but as a matter of fact, that opinion wasn't much different from that of all the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. But after his anger had cooled down a little, Reddy became thoughtful. It was Sammy Jay who had brought him the news. "Did you say that Peter Rabbit saw the hunter pick up Mrs Grouse," inquired Reddy.

"No, I didn't say so," replied Sammy Jay. "He saw the hunter shoot and bring her down out of the air. Then he saw him shoot at her on the ground and run forward to pick her up. So, of course, he got her."

"Yes, of course," replied Reddy. "Of course, he got her. Where did you say all this happened?"

Sammy Jay told Reddy Fox in just what part of the Green Forest the dreadful thing had happened. "Thank you, Sammy," said Reddy. "Now I know just what part of the Green Forest to keep away from."

Now, what Reddy really meant was that he knew just what part of the Green Forest to visit just as soon as he got a chance. You know, there is no shrewder head in all the Green Forest and all the Green Meadows than that of Reddy Fox. "Peter didn't see Mrs. Grouse picked up," muttered Reddy to himself when he was alone. "She may not have been killed at that. It is type 1 pneumonia and sends with the report a very effective serum which usually effects a rapid cure.

What would the laboratory have been worth to you if these cases had been in your family?

HOW TO KEEP IT.

By Experts of The Staff of Gorgas Memorial Institute

By I. W. BREWER, M.D.

I have frequently been asked the question—"What does the county laboratory do for the people?" The answer is—"The modern practice of medicine is a very complex business. The up-to-date physician wants more information than can be had by an inspection of the patient, counting the pulse and listening to the heart and lungs through a stethascope. He wants to know something of what is going on inside the patient. In many cases he needs to make tests to show how the kidneys, the liver and the stomach are doing their work. Before operating he desires to know something of the chemistry of the blood and whether it will clot in the usual time. If his patient has a sore throat he desires to know whether it is diphtheria. If the patient has pneumonia, it is most important that the cause be shown for if it is because of one type of pneumonia bacillus there is a most effective serum that will restore the patient to health almost immediately.

These many questions can only be answered by a painstaking laboratory examination which takes more time and skill than the busy practitioner can have. He must have some one to do it for him. Then there are many questions regarding the prevention of disease which must be decided by the laboratory. Water must be analyzed, milk must be studied, antitoxins, serums and vaccines must be kept on hand under proper conditions so as to be available for immediate use. All of this service can be performed by the Steuben County Laboratories.

Possibly there are many citizens of the county who have not had occasion to utilize the laboratory but there is no telling when it's services may be needed. If there were no County Laboratory, a little of the work could and would be done in the state laboratory in Albany, but the report would not be available for several days.

Let the person who doubts the value of the laboratory picture the following cases from his or her family doctor's case book. Here is a bright child suddenly taken with a headache, pain in the back, chill and vomiting. The physician makes a diagnosis of inflamation of the covering of the brain and spinal cord. However, he must know that a sample of the inflamation for if it is caused by a certain germ he can obtain a serum that will cure the case. The laboratory can tell him just what is the cause and can furnish him with the serum.

Turn to another page and you will find this: A woman in apparent good health is taken with a chill, pain in the chest and short, catchy breathing. The doctor knows she has pneumonia but which of the several types of pneumonia? He sends some of the sputum to the laboratory and after several hours of hard work during which two white mice have been destroyed the laboratory reports all. She may have been only wounded and have hidden so that hunter couldn't find her. In that case, I might find her myself," Reddy licked his lips hungrily.

The next story: "Reddy Finds Some Feathers."

SEEKS DAMAGE IN ACCIDENT

Miss Cecelia M'Donnell, of Niagara Falls Brings City Court Action

An automobile accident at Erwin on October 10 in which four cars were damaged and in which one of the drivers was arrested and later released, will be aired in City Court as the result of a damage action started by Miss Cecelia McDonnell, of Niagara Falls. The action is brought through the law firm of Arland, Pratt & Pratt against George Hurst and Miss Anna Hurst of this city.

According to reports made by all of the interested parties immediately following the accident and which reports are filed in the complaint a car owned by J. F. Swan, of this city, had stopped in front of a refreshment stand. This car was followed by one driven by Edwin Drake, of Renova, Pa., and by Miss Hurst both proceeding west. It is claimed that Miss Hurst in an attempt to pass collided with the car of the plaintiff, Miss McDonnell, which was proceeding in the opposite direction and which in turn smashed into the Swan car and the Drake car struck the group which blocked the highway.

State Trooper Bailing who was on duty nearby started an investigation and as Miss Hurst was the only driver unable to produce a driver's license she was placed under arrest. When taken to Painted Post she was able to prove that she had filed application for license and had already paid the fee and sentence was suspended.

MRS. MOSIER GIVES PAPER

Interesting Meeting Is Held By W. a R. Club At Home of Mrs. Derrenbacker

Members of the W. a R. Club were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Theodore Derrenbacker, of Houghton Circle Thursday afternoon. Sewing was enjoyed preceding a short business session. At this session, Mrs. R. Bertrand Mosier read an interesting paper she had written on the Pilgrims and the first Thanksgiving.

Beginning with the time of Queen Elizabeth which she described as a time when people quarreled more over religion than anything else, she told of the forces that drove the Pilgrims from their native England to Holland. Then she described the discontent with Holland, where they could worship as they pleased but could hand down their cherished English customs and traditions intact to their descendants, and which country they finally left for the wilderness of America.

After telling of the many discouragements and heartpreaks they found here, she described the first Thanksgiving feast, where the feasting lasted for three days and where Pilgrims and many of their early foes, the Indians, met in friendship.

Following the reading of this paper, a delicious luncheon with menu apropos of the season was served. The salads were dainty fruit baskets, composed of fruit salad held in baskets made of salted wafers bound together with yellow ribbons. The desert was individual pumpkin pies topped with whipped cream. The table was attractively centered with a bouquet of yellow, lavender and white chrysanthemums, tied with huge yellow bows.

The next meeting of the organization will be held at the home of Mrs. Artemus Hedges, of Pershing street, and will be a Christmas party.

UNKNOWN MAN GRABS WOMAN

Miss Mary Dean Manages To Free Herself and Escapes In Neighbor's Home

Miss Mary Dean, of 20 Warren street, received a bad scare last Sunday evening when she was seized by a man who had concealed himself behind a tree on East William street but fortunately she was able to escape and run to the home of a neighbor.

Miss Dean was returning to her home about 8 o'clock, by way of East William street, and as she arrived in front of the house of Howard Dygert, the man who had been hiding behind a tree stepped in front of her, barring her way and seized her.

Miss Dean screamed and escaping from his grasp, ran upon the Dygert porch and the grabber followed her. Fortunately the Dygert doors were at home and Miss Dean was able to gain entrance to the house before the man seized her again. Mr. Dygert and a friend quickly rushed outside in search of the man who had seized her, but he had disappeared.

Miss Dean failed to take close notice of the man because of her fright but she stated today that he was about six feet tall and had on an overcoat and cap. She was unable to get a clear look at his features. Miss Dean was accompanied home by Mr. Dygert.

A brother of the girl, Francis Dean, unaware of what had happened to his sister, passed by the place and when the street a very few minutes later and arrived home shortly after the frightened girl. He did not pass any suspicious persons on the street.

There is a rumor among the residents of East William street that an Italian girl, who resides in that section, and whose name is not known to them, was seized a few nights previous nearly a block from where Miss Dean was grabbed. She was also able to escape.

Neither young woman reported the matter to the police, whose attention has not been called.

A number of years ago, a grabber or a number of men who seized women who were on dark streets unaccompanied, were operating in Elmira, but the old fashioned hat pin which was then worn to keep the hat on a woman's head, soon put the grabbers to flight. A woman who had to walk on dark streets alone, carried the trusty weapon in her hand and a number of men were painfully wounded, according to report. The hat pin is nearly a thing of the past, however.

Dress Up For Winter

It is true that girls dress well, and men get careless though they really need to be careful. But both need good clothes for winter, what with the many social functions indoors, and outdoor sport apparel being largely relegated to the attic.

The older generation may smile at the 18-inch trousers, but the young men of now season are responsible for the styles—and wide trousers are no more amusing today than the old ascot necktie would look now.

However, what we started to say is this: Any young man or woman who needs more clothes for winter than they have the ready money to pay for now, should call to see us. A regular payday and a reputation for paying bills promptly have always been our main, almost our only, requirements.

SESQUI WILL REMAIN OPEN IN DECEMBER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The Sesqui-Centennial exposition is to remain open one month longer than the original plans called for.

To give the directors time to study the proposal that the fair be operated again next summer the board has decided to extend the closing date from December 1 to January 1.

The action was taken after the directors had received a report last night from the special committee appointed by Mayor Kendrick urging that the exposition be re-opened in 1927. Members of the committee said that the success of its plan depended upon the raising of $6,000,000, of which it was suggested that $2,000,000 should be contributed by the federal government, $1,000,000 by the state; $2,500,000 from individuals and corporations, and $500,000 from concessionaires and exhibitors.

URGE PENNSY SHIPPERS TO COOPERATE WITH ROADS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Officials in the state bureau of markets today urged shippers to cooperate with railroads in every possible way to avoid a shortage of freight cars. They advocated heavier loadings of cars. If possible, prompt unloading and ask that shippers, when ordering cars give their destinations that cars may be returned to their "home" roads as quickly as possible.

Unespite record-breaking car loadings during the past month, there have been very few embargoes and practically no car shortages, a statement by the bureau said. "The railroads have managed to keep rolling stock in good repair and car distribution is better and more equitable than it has ever been before. This condition must continue indefinitely, however, because with such continued heavy freight movement repairs to equipment will become greater and considerable rolling stock will be tied up in repair shops.

JOSHUA RENEWING THE COVENANT

Lesson Text—Josh. 24:1-25

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1926

Copyright 1926 By The Evening Leader.

GOLDEN TEXT—Choose you this day whom ye will serve;... but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Israelites Make a Promise.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Covenant at Shechem.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Taking a Stand for God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value of Covenants.

I. Joshua Rehearsing the History of the Nation (vv. 1-13).

This was his farewell address, the last message to the people. He began with Abraham's breaking with his religion, homeland, relatives and friends, at the command of God, and traced their history in Egypt, their deliverance at the hands of Moses and Aaron through the wilderness journey, and showed God's providential dealing in the crossing of the Jordan at flood tide, and their marvelous blessings now in the land solely by the favor of God.

II. The People Elect the Lord as Their God (vv.14-24).

Joshua knew that the people were liable to lapse into idolatry, therefore he reviewed before them the history of God's goodness to them, and appealed to their sober choice as to whether they were going to remain faithful to him.

1. He appealed to them for a rational consideration and judgment (v. 15).

He placed before them four candidates upon which they could vote according to their relative merits:

(1) The Lord.

(2) The gods worshiped by their ancestors in Chaldea.

(3) The Egyptian gods.

(4) The gods of the Amorites.

Having placed before them these candidates, he urged them to make a rational choice.

2. His own example in the matter (v. 15).

He followed his appeal with his own example. He told them that his mind was already made up. He associated his household with himself. He knew just where they would stand. His decision was not a hasty one. It had been talked over at home, therefore he voiced the united sentiment of his family.

3. The response of the people (vv. 16-18).

Joshua's earnest appeal, accompanied by his own example had its desired effect. When they calmly considered the claims of the Lord as against the other gods, they saw the overwhelming evidence in favor of the God of their fathers.

They assigned the following reasons for their choice:

(1) The Lord brought us out of Egypt (v. 17.).

(2) He did great signs in our sight (v. 17).

(3) He preserved us in all the way we went (v. 17).

(4) He drove from before us all the people (v. 18).

It would have been very foolish, not to say criminal, after they had witnessed all this at his hands to have turned Him down.

4. Joshua reminds them of who God is (v. 19).

Wishing them to think more seriously and deeply upon the matter, Joshua drew a somewhat dark picture of God's attributes which were most unattractive them.

(1) He showed them that God is a Holy God.

(2) That He is a jealous God. He could not therefore tolerate a rival.

(3) That He will not forgive.

He did not mean by this that He was an unforgiving God, but that His nature was such that unless they followed Him fully, He would become the means of their destruction.

5. Joshua demands sincerity on their part (vv. 20-23.)

He wished to have practical proof of their profession. He no doubt knew full well that some had idols yet in their possession.

6. The people's position (v. 24).

They cannot avoid their determination to serve God and obey His voice.

III. The People Enter Into a Solemn Covenant (vv. 25-28.)

This is the clinching transaction of the meeting at Shechem. They entered into a formal covenant. Joshua wrote down their agreement in a book where it would remain a permanent witness against them. As a further help, he took a large stone and set it up as a witness. These would serve as barriers against their lapsing again into idolatry.

NO OTHER SUSPECTS

Abe Goldstein and his business partner were watching a movie when a burglary scene appeared.

"Ikey, Ikey, you know I forgot to lock our safe tonight," whispered Abe, "I must go right now."

"Sit down, sit down," commanded Ikey. "Why worry the safe ain't locked? We're both here, ain't we?"

And try to light them on the box
With naughty little scratches.
No, never do they touch a match

SYNOPSIS

Molly Shannon, student in the State University, feels that she has compromised with life because she permitted Stephen Renfro, an efficiency expert, to kiss her, though he hasn't proposed marriage. Attending a concert with her landlady one evening, she is shocked to see Renfro in the company of "Millionaire Dilworth's daughter." With Renfro are Gregory Cochran, the "big lawyer," and others. Filled with humiliation and jealousy, she finds the remainder of the evening a nightmare.

At the first intermission, Molly made good her escape.

That night was marked by a fiery crash. She never spoke to Stephen about it; never let him know even that she had gone to the concert. A poor ruse for saving the last shreds of her self-respect. Then, too, she did him injustice. He had a right to go where he pleased and with whom he pleased. She had no hold on him other than his half-pitying, half-condescending kindness of the unacknowledge. He had, it was true, made love to her, beautiful, intense love; but not in any vulgar, tangible way that you could put your finger on and say he meant this or that.

Then came the crisis. She turned from the telephone one morning with a rapt, luminous face. "Stephen has asked me to go to the theater with him," she said, trying hard to keep the tremulous exultation out of her voice, "to-morrow night!"

Of a sudden, she grew numb. The receiver dropped from her hand. "But I haven't anything to wear . . . !" The despairing afterthought was almost a wail.

"You've got to have something, that's all," Mrs. Parker mumbled.

That afternoon she came to Molly's room with a letter in her hand. She seemed not quite her normal self; flustered and flurried as though she had just finished doing battle with some powerful enemy. "The Lord has provided," she announced solemnly. And before Molly's incredulous eyes—she was always suspicious of some chicanery about answers to prayer—five crisp new ten-dollar bills were spread impressively upon the bed.

Thirty dollars, Mrs. Parker figured absorbedly on the back of her letter as they rode down in the street car, would buy a very good suit; those were the days when a suit could be bought for thirty dollars. Five more would get a nice blouse, then five for shoes. . . . Hum—that left only ten for hat and gloves and maybe a pair of silk stockings.

CHAPTER X

"Uh huh . . . !" Stephen let out a prolonged, impressed whistle as she entered the parlor next evening, trying her level best not to look self-conscious. "Where did we come by all the glad rags?" Laughing, he caught her by the shoulders and revolved her slowly at arm's length.

"Do you like them—really?" she asked anxiously. She had known at once that there was something else was not entirely satisfied. Perhaps, after all, the shape of the blouse she hadn't felt sure about that.

But his hearty tone belied the critical cast in his eyes. "Looks like a million dollars, doesn't she!" He turned to the little fairy godmother, who hadn't for the life of her been able to resist peeking in to see how he was taking it.

That evening was one of Molly's brief periods of perfection. She and Stephen departed and returned in a taxi—unheard-of elegance among the girls, who were wont to awestruck from upstairs windows. Stephen was resplendent in full evening dress, just as he had been that night in the box. The play was "Sapho," with Olga Nethersole. Molly, who had never seen a good actress nor a well-staged production before, sat spellbound, enthralled by the emotion which she herself managed to inject into the melodramatic, old-fashioned piece. That seemed enough for one evening. To have Stephen also—to walk down the aisle with him, to let him help her off with her coat, to sit beside him, listening to his humorous comments and interpolations, his fascinating reminiscences about the wonderful plays and players he had seen in New York—It was almost too much happiness.

It was well she tasted her small triumph while she could. Next morning Miss Brian, the instructor who had charge of the nurse scholarships, asked her to stay when class was over. Molly followed, trembling, into her office and seated herself in the chair indicated. Miss Brian did not speak at once, but sat, eyes cast intently somberly through the window by her desk, troubled lines about her mouth and across her wide, white brow. Finally she turned with one of her capable, practical motions.

"My dear," she began kindly, "I've watched to see that you're not looking well."

Molly, who had been growing tensely rigid, relaxed, relieved, startled, surprised. "I am, though," she said. Indeed she had never felt so well in her life—exuberant and sparkling—and this in spite of her sleepless night.

Miss Brian looked at her thoughtfully. "Your name came up at a little faculty meeting the other day," she went on, "and I was disappointed—we were all disappointed—to learn that your work for the year has fallen considerably below your usual standard."

She waited, as if hoping that Molly herself would say something.

When she made only silence, she proceeded hesitatingly. "My dear, I'm going to run the risk of having you think me a very tiresome, meddlesome old woman. . . ." She broke off and sat drumming finger tips absently against the desk. "About this Mr. Renfro—I feel I must speak to you."

At the name, at the somehow chilling inflection of "Mr. Renfro," Molly's heart took a sickening lunge.

"Of course none of us know anything about him—that is, that matters so much—she was looking not at Molly, but at the spring landscape spread beneath her—"but—I'm afraid the truth is none of us like him. He seems cynical, egotistical, a poseur, and then—there's the way he has behaved to you. . . ."

Molly, who had been fastened on the fingers twisting in her lap, "Was that discussed at the faculty meeting, too?" she asked, faintly. "I'm afraid it was. I'm afraid I am not really a member of the faculty at all, yet it appears he's been making that an excuse for not—taking you out."

Molly leaned forward, her racked head in her eyes. "But he has," she protested eagerly.

Miss Brian nodded, still without looking at her. "I know—that's what I particulary wanted to speak to you about." She hesitated again, as a surgeon might hesitate to plunge the saving knife into warm, unanaesthetized flesh. "About the play last night—you know, I suppose, that he had invited Miss Dilworth and a half dozen of the rich society girls with whom he is constantly seen—before he invited you?"

Molly's face turned whiter than the handkerchief worried into ropes by her fingers. "Why—did they refuse?" The words came on small, convulsive gusts of breath.

"They did not consider the play—quite decent. The social leaders of the town had pronounced against it, you see," Miss Sarah Cochran, who strikes the note in such matters. Her son, you know, is on our board of regents. . . ." Miss Brian digressed, compassionately. "And, by the way, you'll be interested to hear that he is the man who gives the rural scholarships. In fact, he's done a great deal for the university, but he doesn't like much said about it. . . ."

"But—the play didn't seem to me indecent. . . ." Her eyes were fixed still on the fingers in her lap; her voice was little more than a moan.

"I'm not saying it was. The point is, he asked you, an innocent young girl to whom he had pretended to be kind, to go to a play which his friends considered indecent. And—there was not a member of the set he aspires to in the theater; at all events, not a feminine member." She paused to choose her next words with exquisitely cognizant of the small misery in the white, averted face. "He asked you to go because he knew they would not be there. He could save the expensive tickets he had bought and at the same time—throw you over."

She leaned forward and laid a kindly, large hand on Molly's cold ones.

ALL HIGH GRIDDERS AND DANSVILLE RED JACKETS TO CLASH HERE TOMORROW

INVADERS HAVE NOT LOST A GAME THIS SEASON; LOCALS ARE ALL SET FOR THE FRAY

Unless the All-High management secures some post season games the Corning fans will have their last chance to see the big orange team in action this Sunday when they will back up with the fast Dansville outfit the only team that endangered the All-Highs record last year. The All-High men started off their season last year with this team and were held to a scoreless tie and the following week played here and again the game ended in a scoreless tie. Since that time both teams have added strength to their teams and it looks as if the score will be close again this year.

The All-High men are holding indoor practices this week because of the weather and are working mostly on new plays and plenty of signal drill. Tuesday night they bounced the ball around on the American Legion floor while Wednesday and Thursday the workout was held at the Central Hall. The team will have a rest for the remainder of the week. Coach Lynch having gone to the teachers' convention in Binghamton.

Sunday's game will be the last chance for the Northsiders and the Southsiders to yell in common as the next game in the city will be a turkey game in which the city will divide up and yell its lungs out for the prospective members of the future All-High teams.

After having a vacation for the latter part of the week the All-High men are in the pink of condition for what is expected to be the closest game of the season. All during the week there has been no heavy workout and the practices consisted mostly of signal drill. Every man on the squad is ready for the big "go" and the fans can expect one of the best games of the season after the two teams line up at Pyrex Park at 2:30.

The Dansville Red Jackets have played a schedule equally as hard as the All-High's and have come through the season without a mishap. This is just what the Endicott Antlers boasted when they came to the Crystal City and now after playing three games with the Big Orange team from Corning they have two defeats. All the home fans are confident that the Red Jackets will be the second team the All-High will upset.

When the Red Jackets held the All-High to a scoreless tie last year they had a good strong eleven but this year they claim to have a much stronger aggregation and the reports from their home town are greatly in favor of a win for the undefeated team. The Dansville showing to date is due directly to the playing of its two star backfield men Rectenwald and Campbell. In all of the contests this year these men have had wrought havoc on the line of all the opposing teams. The All-High however has undisputed claims to one of the strongest lines in the state and so far this year no team has been able to cross the All-High line for an earned touchdown.

The line up:

| Henderson | Left End | Cushing |
| Hall | Left Tackle | Summers |
| Fries | Center | Wisner |
| Youngs | Right Guard | Taylor |

| McNinde | Right End | Miles, Hicks |
| Pruner | Quarterback | Sheedy |

ADDISON HIGH DOWNS ELMIRA

Coach O'Brien's Hoopsters Score 35-24 Triumph Over Outfit From Queen City

ADDISON, Nov. 20.—Addison High opened its season last night with a hard fought victory over the Neighborhood House Cubreers of Elmira. The final result was 35 to 24.

In the first two quarters both aggrevations had a hard time locating the basket and the half ended with the count knotted at 7 points. Both teams played a tight defensive game with plenty of good floor work but little basket shooting in evidence. In the final quarters Coach O'Brien placed exactly the same combination on the floor that run up 17 victories and but one defeat last season. From then on the Addison High five showed a brand of offensive play superior to the Queen City outfit, ringing in 11 field goals and making good six out of 10 free throws.

Taken as a whole last evening's win was extremely auspicious. The Currents came up with a team that boosted some of the best of Elmira's amateur ball tossers. Not only that but it was composed of players that averaged far older and more experienced than the representatives of Addison High or any other high school outfit in the county. Also every one of the local boys was outweighed, Hewson, Addison's clever left forward, being about 50 pounds lighter than his opponent. Despite this he managed to lead his teammates in the matter of scoring. Hewson dropped in four of the two point variety and five from the charity line, a total of 13 points.

Bazarnick, Elmira's pivot man, was the big noise for the visitors. He rung the bell six times from the field and was successful in his one attempt from the 18-foot mark. The fact that he was pitted against D. Grange, high scorer for the localities last year aggregation, gives one an idea of his worth to the Chemung County invaders. Nevertheless D. Grange showed up well, hooking three field goals and one foul shot. Towner, the high school's husky guard, shouldered the burden of the outfit's defensive duties. He did his usual good job of it, thus enabling both Hubbs and Whitmore to follow the ball up the court. Whitmore contributed a couple of two-pointers and Hubbs, although failing to contribute a basket, made an excellent showing in his initial appearance in an A. H. S. uniform.

John Grange, right forward, displayed mid-season form. He was second only to Hewson in the number of points made and led the entire team in field goals by dropping in a total of five.

Now that the Addison outfit has tucked away a victory in its initial appearance every effort will be made to make this win the nucleus of a winning streak. With the Corning Eagles playing here next Wednesday the Crystal City five will, it is expected, not give much difficulty unless it is considerable stronger than in previous years. Yet providing the Corning team adds a couple or more of former Corning Free Academy or Northside High first team men it will no doubt put up a real battle. As yet, however, the personnel of the aggregation as it will appear in its tilt with Addison remains a secret with the exception that Coach "Beaner" Allen has promised that he is negotiating for new men. Whether Coach "Beaner" himself will trot out on the court as a member of his squad is something in the way of a mystery to Addison fandom.

The score follow

N.H.S. and C.F.A. Men Who Will Clash in Annual Battle at Pyrex Park on Thanksgiving Day

RALPH "LINDY" LINDBLOM
Quarterback N. H. S.

Ralph Lindblom, N. H. S. field general is 17 years of age, tips the scales at 124 pounds and is five feet eight and one half inches tall.

This is "Lindy's" first year on the team but in spite of his handicap of inexperience he has been playing a fair game. Lindblom is the lightest man on the outfit and although a heady quarterback is too small to shine as a ball carrier.

He is a fair tackler and a good safety man. This is his third year in school and he has already won his "N" as a member of last year's baseball team. He will undoubtedly be a candidate for the basketball team.

JAMES "JIM" FAULISI
Quarterback, N. H. S.

James Faulisi who sometimes officiates at quarterback or half, is 18 years of age, weighs 150 pounds and is fiv-efeet nine and three-quarter inches tall. "Jim" is a veteran and tried his hand at the signal barking berth a few times last season.

Although he has not been a regular member of the quartet, he has played a majority of the time but he does not generally start in the backfield. Although he has a tendency to fumble the ball, he is a good runner when he gets started and galloped 60 yards for a touchdown in the Wellsboro game. He will undoubtedly see service Thanksgiving day.

CAPTAIN
FRANK "MAC" MCRANELS
Quarterback C. F. A.

Quarterback on the Corning Free Academy football squad is held down by Frank McFranels, veteran of three Academy teams and captain of the eleven.

Frank played his first game for the Academy three years ago when the hillsters set back the Hornell team 89-0. He played end in this game but since that time has been calling signals.

"Mack" is not credited as being a brilliant quarterback and there is a possibility that DeSilva will replace him in the annual game Thursday.

McCranels is a fine broken field runner and is a fair linebucker. He pulls an occasional end run and once he is started he is sure to make a good gain. He played the best game of his career at Elmira and was mentioned by the officials in charge of the game as a potential all-state man. He made many gains of 20-25 yards and his fine work was an outstanding feature of the contest.

Captain McCranels is 18 years old, weighs 155 pounds and stands five feet six inches tall. He will be playing his last game for C. F. A. as he is a senior and is slated to graduate in June.

He, like the other members of the backfield, is a track man and he placed third in the 440 yard dash at Bath last year. He also plays basketball and last year was a member of the junior class quint. He is out for the varsity squad at present and stands a fine chance to make the team.

Bazarnick, 1 out of 1; Desocio, 1 out of 1.

In the preliminary game the Bush Bearcats, captained by Bob Bush, won an easy victory over Phil Hickey's Heedless Hoopsters. Bush's team ran up 15 points and held its opponents to 2.

The score:

| Bush Bearcats | Field | Foul | Total |
|---|---|---|---|
| Bush | 3 | 0 | 6 |
| C. Hickey | 2 | 0 | 4 |
| Rice | 0 | 0 | 0 |

HARVARD-YALE AND NEW YORK NEBRASKA GAMES OUTSTANDING GRID BATTLES

LAST OF BIG THREE BATTLES TODAY; COLUMBIA ENDEAVORS TO CONTINUE SPOTLESS SHEET

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP)—With few opportunities remaining to view leading college elevens in action, fandom of the East flocked to cleat scarred fields today to make the most of the waning football season.

Although absent marks appeared against several familiar names on the roster, particularly Pennsylvania, Cornell, Pittsburgh, Penn State and Columbia, the age old spectacle of Harvard battling Yale in the bowl at New Haven was sufficient to make the day a success.

The color and drama of an ancient feud renewed for the last time in the name of the historic big three drew 78,000 people to Yale's massive structure. Hotels were jammed, roads clogged, and 92 special trains poured their human cargoes into New Haven, despite four early season losses for both the Crimson and the Blue and Princeton's complete subjection of both in previous big three contests this year.

Three other conflicts, one an intersectional classic, furnished the counter attractions. New York University, carrying the classification of one of the East's few undefeated or untied elevens against Nebraska at Lincoln, hoped to sweep aside the last barrier to an unblemished record over the strenuous objects of the Cornhuskers. Georgetown, boasting an army that pressed Navy to the limit to win, engaged Fordham in an attractive engagement of leading Jesuit school rivals. The undefeated record of Lafayette suffered its last assault of the year at Easton, Pa., where a battered Lehigh host planned to rise to new heights to dispose of the arch rival.

The West Virginia Mountaineers had a man sized opponent in Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh but other eastern leaders bided their time against minor foes before final appearance in major conflicts Thanksgiving day.

THE BIG TEN CHAMPIONSHIP IS AT STAKE

Yost Counts on Aerial Play To Win for Michigan; Northwestern Is Favorite

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The big ten championship was at stake today in two of the five games winding up the Western Conference football season.

Yost counted on aerial play handicapped by finger numbling weather to pull Michigan's title chances through at Minnesota, while Northwestern, the other undefeated eleven in the race, was much more of a favorite to win over Iowa.

Victory for both spelled a title tie and even defeats for both promised equal ranking at the top of the big ten percentage, but the championship was the cost of defeat for either.

Ohio was at Illinois to fight for next place, in a snow drifted stadium, Indiana was at Purdue and Wisconsin was at Chicago. Indiana and Chicago sought their first conference conquest of the Fall.

78,000 Fans Fill the Yale Bowl For Annual Harvard-Yale Battle

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A capacity audience of 78,000 will fill the [illegible] to watch the Yale-Bulldog and the Harvard-Crimson in the 45th esplode of their traditional football rivalry.

Both teams are announced to be fit and ready. The playing field is in perfect condition, despite the recent rains.

To date Yale has won 23 of the 44 contests, Harvard 15, and 6 games were tied, including that of last year when the Crimson held Yale time after time in the very shadow of the goal posts.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE BALL! BY FEG MURRAY

Most football coaches teach their charges to fall on a loose ball, preaching the safety-first doctrine in preference to taking the risk of losing the ball by trying to scoop it up and run with it. But many big games have been won by some alert youngsters who took a chance and picked up a bounding football and raced to fame and glory with it despite the coach's instructions.

Mr. Sam White, of Princeton, was one of these, but he prepared for his two big gridiron moments by long hours of practice on the football field after his team mates had gone to their dinners. But Sam was rewarded for his perseverance in learning how to scoop up a loose ball, and, because of his ability to do so, beat both Yale and Harvard in 1911. In the Harvard game, White grabbed a fumble on his own fift-eenyard line and sped down the field to a touchdown. In the Yale game, two weeks later, he repeated his stunt, this time dashing over sixty yards through a muddy field to win once more for Princeton.

It was a fumble in this year's Penn-Chicago game that brought up an interesting point which will cause the football rule-makers to do some tall thinking the next time they assemble. Murphy, the Penn quarter-back, was tackled heavily in the corner of the field, just as he was apparently about to score a touchdown. The ball bounded out of his arms, across the goal line, and then hopped over the sideline when it was extended on into the end zone. According to the rules, a ball fumbled in the field of play belongs to the team which last touched it, and shall be brought in fifteen yards from the spot where it crossed the side line. So, as it was Penn's ball fifteen yards in from where it crossed the side line, it was in the end zone, and hence a touchdown.

Question: what is to prevent a runner from purposely rolling the ball ahead of him and out of bounds when he is being tackled close to the side line, and in so doing scoring a touchdown, as in the above case, or gaining a first down, or putting his team in a better position for the next play?

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion of the world, not only whipped Carl Duane, his third New York challenger in a year, in Madison Square Garden last night, but he cracked all drawing card records for a man of his weight in doing so. Morgan and Duane drew 14,260 fans into the spacious arena who paid $50,363 to see the fight, far surpassing the receipts of any past junior lightweight attraction. Morgan received 37 1-2 per cent of the gate.

New York University's first undefeated and untied eleven in the history of the school, bumping against Nebraska today in the final effort to keep the slate clean for the season, has brought the school suddenly into the sport spotlight. "Gosh, I didn't know the school was still running until you got this team," an alumnus wrote back when he read of the elevens' exploits in far western papers.

Five members of the famous Yale eleven of 1891 celebrated the 34th anniversary of one of old Eli's greatest combinations with a dinner in New York last night. The team, iron men of their time, played the Harvard and Princeton games without a substitution and scored 490 points while keeping the Blue goal line clear of enemy cleats. Stanford, center; Winter, tackle; Barbour, quarterback; Bliss, halfback and McCormack, fullback, attended the reunion.

San Francisco. Fidel Labarba, Los Angeles, flyweight champion, beat California Joe Lynch, San Francisco, when Lynch was disqualified for holding, four.

San Diego, Cal. Young Harry Wills, an Negro, scored a technical knockout over Archie Walker, New York, one.

Yale Alumni Weekly Objects To Tearing Down of Goal Posts

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Tearing down goal posts by victorious visiting football teams is looked upon by the Yale Alumni Weekly as "very useless and small boy sort of business." Such practice, it says, "deserves to be ended by popular vote of the grownups before some bones are broken." Yale so far this season has been forced to erect three sets of goal posts.

ALL-HIGH MEN HAVE ONLY 2 MORE GAMES ARRANGED; MAY MEET TEAM FROM SCRANTON

Locals Receive Challenges From Pennsylvania Team, Champion Eleven of Northeastern Pennsylvania, and Post Season Game May Be Arranged By Manager "Joe" Palme

The Corning All-High football team is planning to play at least two more games this year according to announcement made today by Manager "Joe" Palme, who also stated that if the weather permitted two or more additional games would be scheduled. The two remaining battles on the slate are listed with the Dansville Red Jackets here Sunday and the Glenwood Knights of Geneva here the following week which according to present plans would close the season November 28.

Manager Palme has received two challenges, one from Auburn and one from Scranton. The manager of the Auburn outfit requested that a game be arranged for Thanksgiving day to be played at Corning. J. J. Mitchell, the manager of the challenging outfit, was undoubtedly unaware of the fact that Thanksgiving day is always featured in the Crystal city by the the annual clash between Northside High School and Corning Free Academy.

Mr. Mitchell stated in his letter that the Auburn team is one of the best in this part of the state and has clashed with some of the fastest aggregations in Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Geneva, Seneca Falls and other cities in that section. The Auburn line averages between 175 and 180 pounds and the team carries 25 players and would undoubtedly prove a good drawing card for the locals. If arrangements can be made later in the season and the weather remains fine, it is possible that Manager Palme will sign this aggregation.

Scranton Wants Game

The other challenge comes from Scranton and the merits of the team is explained in a portion of the letter which follows:

"The Pine Brook Tigers of Scranton, Pa., would like to meet the best first class football team in Corning at Corning on any Sunday that is still open on the local team's schedule. The Tigers is the only team in Northeastern Pennsylvania who can claim the Championship for three consecutive years, and boast of some of the best men in their corner of the state. Among the line up can be found some of the following well known men: Clifford, Grassl, Flaherty, Ruddy and McGraw of St. Thomas, Lapskanski of Pittsburgh, Mossad of F. & M., LaBar of Lafayette and Snyder, Murray, Kelly and Barrett who are more or less well known as Professionals. The management would like to hear from the manager of the Corning team as they have heard a lot about the team from the Southern Tier, and think they can take their measure. If interested call or write E. V. Gaughan, care of Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., Penn & Olive, Scranton, Pa., or call Scranton 6191 any time during the day."

According to Mr. Gaughan, the lineup presented by the Tigers is one of the best available and as the men from Scranton claim the championship of Northeastern Pennsylvania, they are undoubtedly worthy foemen for the Corning team.

Championship Involved

A battle with this aggregation would involve a crown, the winner being in a position to claim the Championship of the Southern Tier, now held by the All-High team, and the championship of Northeastern Pennsylvania, held by the Tigers.

Manager Palme, speaking in behalf of the team, expressed himself as not unwilling to annex another title and it is quite probable that a game will be arranged, the logical date being December 5. Mr. Palme reasons that the Tigers, district champions should be reckoned with before the Auburn team, which holds no title.

May Play Bingo

The Antlers, from whom the locals wrested the Southern Tier crown last week at Endicott, are booked to clash with the Binghamton prospects this week and the Prospects' manager has notified Manager Palme that if the Bingo team downs the Endicott men, an offer for the locals to play at Binghamton will be made.

This battle would necessarily have to take place the following Sunday and if this offer is accepted, the game with Geneva will have to be cancelled. The Prospects were trimmed early in the season here at Corning but the Manager of the Bingo team through a home town newspaper claimed the following Monday that it was the second team that was sent here.

Manager Palme kept his faith with Corning fans by immediately severing all relations with Binghamton following the announcement and these relations will not be resumed unless the Prospects prove to the satisfaction of the locals that they are worthy of another game.

ILLINOIS-OHIO STATE—At Urbana. On the season's showing the dope here all runs for Ohio State, beaten only a point by Michigan, but Zuppke will have a defense ready that will bother and annoy even Ohio State's fast and heavy attack. Ohio State should win through a better set of backs and a line just about as strong. This contest will also be one of the best games of the year.

PRO FOOTBALL WILL NOT PROSPER IS OPINION OF PRINCETON GRID COACH

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20—(AP)—"Professional football will never have the hold upon the American public that the college game has," said Bill Roper, Princeton coach, today. Roper spoke at the luncheon in honor of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

"The college players go into the game and give everything because of their sentiment for their alma mater," said Roper. "The professionals play for money, and players will do more for sentiment than they will for any materiel gain."

Touching on the recent break between Harvard and Princeton, Roper said "it was an ill wind that blows nobody good," and mentioned the game arranged between Pennsylvania and Harvard.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and of the minimal payment by the parties of the second part to the party of the first part of the sum of Six hundred fifty dollars ($650.00), the first of said annual payments to be made on or before November 24, 1926, and a like annual payment of Six hundred fifty dollars ($650.00) on or before November 24 of each and every year during the period of this contract,

1. The said parties of the second part shall provide a sufficient number of suitable and proper cans or metal receptacles for the accommodation of all persons within the City of Corning who shall have occasion to use the same as provided for in Section 1 of said Garbage Ordinance. Said garbage cans shall be of suitable metal, water tight, provided with a close, properly fitting metal cover, and not less than twenty (20) inches high, nor fourteen (14) inches in diameter at the top, thirteen and one-half (13½) inches in diameter at the bottom.

2. Said parties of the second part shall cause said cans to be regularly distributed and delivered to all persons whose garbage is to be gathered, pursuant to the provisions of said Garbage Ordinance, and shall keep the users of said cans supplied with the same so that at all times they shall have a can ready for use.

3. Wherever a can with its contents is removed from the premises of the user an empty can shall be left in its place.

4. Said cans shall be thoroughly cleansed and disinfected by said garbage collector when emptied, and oftener if for any reason the same become offensive or unsanitary, or when so ordered to be done by the Health Officer or Sanitary Inspector of said city.

5. Said parties of the second part shall at all times keep the cans together with all wagons, trucks, and other means of removing and disposing of said cans, and garbage in a clean, sanitary condition, and the same shall be at all time subject to the approval of the Health Officer of said city.

9. The said parties of the second part shall at all times keep true and accurate books of account of the can service of said city, giving the names and street addresses of all users of cans, and the accounts kept with such users and books of account shall be open at all times to the examination and inspection of the Health Officer, the Sanitary Inspector of the Board of Health, the Mayor, City Attorney or any Alderman of the City of Corning.

11. It is hereby expressly agreed that should the parties of the second part fail to fulfill in the performance of this contract, or any of the provisions thereof, and shall be and remain in default for a period of ten (10) days, then this contract and all the rights of said parties of the second part thereunder shall at the option of the said party of the first part be and become null and void, and the parties of the second part shall forfeit all of its rights thereunder.

12. By Alderman Beck—

Resolved, That the report be received and bills paid as audited.

Seconded by Alderman Wheeler. Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Aldermen Couch, Devine, Beyea, Towne, Wheeler, Hood, Beck, O'Brien, Reagan, McKinney, Earing, Cole, Reynolds, Pachall.

Nays: None.

Alderman Reagan, of the Lighting Committee, recommended that an incandescent light with a long arm be installed on the corner of East River and Ferris Streets, explaining that this is a very dark spot. He also recommended that the light on the corner of East Third and Conhocton Sts. should have a long arm in place of the present gooseneck and further suggested that the lights on the new Pine Street bridge be cleaned up and be made more effective.

By Alderman Beck—

Resolved, That the report be received and recommendations adopted.

Seconded by Alderman Earing. Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Aldermen Couch, Devine, Beyea, Towne, Wheeler, Hood, Beck, O'Brien, Reagan, McKinney, Earing, Cole, Reynolds, Pachall.

Nays: None.

Alderman Earing, Chairman of the Public Improvement Committee, reported that he had made an investigation of the way other cities handled their paving propositions in regard to the method of paying for same, etc. He found that all cities, with the exception of one village, were handling this question the same as Corning. Included in the cities he had obtained information from were Chicago, Rochester, Buffalo, Hornell, Binghamton and Syracuse. He said he could not see at this time where any change could be made.

Alderman Hood remarked that he had received a report from the Conference of Mayors which showed a few cities had a different system than that employed by Corning. Alderman Hood further stated that his principal idea in bringing this question up was not so much to change the method of payment as it was to adopt a more systematic plan for paving a certain number of blocks each year.

By Alderman Reagan—

Resolved, That the report of the Committee be received and placed on file.

Seconded by Alderman McKinney. Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Aldermen Couch, Devine, Beyea, Towne, Wheeler, O'Brien, Reagan, McKinney, Earing, Cole, Reynolds, Pachall.

Nays: Aldermen Hood, Beck.

Reports of the City Chamberlain, City Judge, City Clerk, City Sealer, Overseer of Poor and Librarian for the month of October were read.

By Alderman Reagan—

Resolved, That the reports be received and placed on file.

Seconded by Alderman Reynolds. Adopted unanimously.

A communication from the Board of Public Works stated that street conditions which had been referred to said Board had been taken care of, but in order to take care of water in front of the Palme residence it will be necessary to put in storm sewer. Upon investigation it was found that Fox street is not in a dangerous condition. Alderman McKinney said that he thought the storm sewer on W. Second St. was very necessary, and offered the following resolution:

By Alderman McKinney—

Resolved, That this communication be referred back to Supt. Drake and the B. P. Works for investigation, and for an approximate estimate of the cost for this storm sewer, and to have a covering put across the culvert at W. First and Fox Sts.

Seconded by Alderman O'Brien. Adopted unanimously.

A communication from the Board of Public Works stated that an estimate prepared by Mr. W. O. Drake, Supt., for year July 1, 1926 to June 30, 1927, which was approved by the B. P. Works and recommended to the Budget Committee contained an item of $2,500 for widening of Monkey Run Bridge and build a sidewalk on south side of same, and that said recommendation was disallowed by the Budget Committee. West Fourth Street was taken care of in the early season with oil and stone from Second to Third Sts. On Fourth St. to State St. the ditch was cleaned, street graded and rolled.

By Alderman O'Brien—

Resolved, That the matter of widening $2,500 Monkey Run Bridge and build a sidewalk on south side of same be referred to the Budget Committee for investigation and report at the next meeting.

Seconded by Alderman Reagan. Adopted unanimously.

A communication from the Board of Fire Commissioners stated that they had passed a resolution asking the B. P. Works to submit plans, specifications and estimates for alterations in Fire Station No. 2 to the Mayor and Common Council as soon as possible, for housing the new pumper which will arrive here about December 1st. Mayor Rood urged that immediate action be taken in this matter and the following resolution was offered:

By Alderman Reagan—

Resolved, That this matter be referred to the Budget Committee to act in conjunction with the B. P. Works on this proposition, with power to act.

Seconded by Alderman Cole. Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Aldermen Couch, Devine, Beyea, Towne, Wheeler, Hood, Beck, O'Brien, Reagan, McKinney, Earing, Cole, Reynolds, Pachall.

Nays: None.

A statement from George Haar, Overseer of the Poor, subscribed and sworn to, stated that in regard to his authorizing grocerymen to give people anything they wanted, this is incorrect, as what he authorizes are actual necessities such as provisions and groceries, and expressly instructed that luxuries of any kind were not to be given. Mr. Haar in addition stated Cole has misunderstood or misconstrued the information given him relative to this matter.

By Alderman McKinney—

Resolved, That the communication be received and placed on file.

Seconded by Alderman Reagan. Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Aldermen Couch, Devine, Beyea, Towne, Wheeler, Hood, Beck, O'Brien, Reagan, McKinney, Earing, Cole, Reynolds, Pachall.

Nays: None.

Alderman Earing said that he did not approve of the present method of making taxpayers taking five years to pay their share of the paving tax, if they were unable to pay all the first year. Mayor Rood stated that he was not aware that such was the case, and was of the opinion that taxpayers should be allowed to pay in less time and not be required to pay the full five years' interest. Mayor Rood was appointed to investigate this matter.

Alderman McKinney stated that at a previous meeting he had brought to the attention of the Council the need of having copies of the City Charter made, and that the matter had been referred to the Printing Committee with power to act. He now suggested that the Committee hold up its work and the charter be revised before it is printed. This brought out considerable discussion and Mayor Rood stated that he knew of but one charter which is held by the City Attorney, and he suggested that copies be printed before any revision is made. Alderman Beck said that it would take months to revise the charter and would require a public hearing and action by the State Legislature.

By Alderman McKinney—

Resolved, That the Mayor appoint a Committee consisting of the City Attorney, Members of the Police and Fire Commissions, and members of the Council to go over the charter and make such changes as are necessary.

Seconded by Alderman Cole. Lost by the following vote:

Ayes: Aldermen Couch, McKinney, Cole.

Nays: Aldermen, Devine, Beyea, Towne, Wheeler, Hood, Beck, O'Brien, Reagan, Earing, Reynolds, Pachall.

Alderman Couch said that the memorial in front of the Clock Tower is a disgrace on account of its dilapidated state, and that it should be taken down and an appropriate metal tablet put in its place; also a new clock installed in the tower.

Mayor Rood advised that this matter is in the hands of a Committee who are investigating same, but are not ready to report.

Alderman O'Brien called attention to the condition of the sidewalk on the east side of State St. between Fourth and Fifth Sts. and said that repairs should be made.

By Alderman O'Brien—

Resolved, That this matter be referred to the B. P. Works.

Seconded by Alderman Reagan. Adopted unanimously.

Alderman Beyea brought up for discussion a plan to change the period of tax collection from October to April.

Mayor Rood explained that this would necessitate changing the fiscal year from July to January and that taxes would have to be collected for a year and one-half at one time in order to make this change.

Alderman Beyea moved as follows:

By Alderman Beyea—

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to investigate and ascertain what can be done along these lines.

Seconded by Alderman Couch. Adopted unanimously.

Mayor Rood appointed the following: Aldermen Hood, Beyea, Reynolds and City Attorney Wheeler.

Alderman Devine suggested that the one-half per cent fee for the collection of taxes for the first 30 days be eliminated, as an inducement to make early payments. No action was taken on this.

By Alderman Reynolds—

Resolved, That the meeting adjourn to November 8, 1926 at eight P. M.

Seconded by Alderman Towne. Adopted unanimously.

JUSTIN F. GILL,
City Clerk.

I hereby approve the foregoing minutes of the Common Council, each act, resolution and ordinance therein set forth.

H. A. ROOD,
Mayor.

SAYS PART OF LAWS SEVERE

Judge Newman Comments on the Baume Crime Statute Now In Effect

County Judge Bertram L. Newman, of Chemung County, is of the opinion that the life sentence feature of the Baumes criminal law although too severe for blanket application, is all right in some cases. He believes that the court should have certain means for discrimination between felonies which are truly vicious and those that are not so severe.

"Judges generally consider the Baumes Law as too severe for application in all cases," Judge Newman stated. "Personally, I believe that there are many cases where it is applicable, but not in all cases. I do believe, however, that there has been too much sympathy shown by judges to prisoners in instances where the law has effected sentences.

"A law which would permit of a life sentence but not make it mandatory except in certain very vicious crimes, might work out to greater advantage. However, it is quite evident that a man who has been convicted of three felonies will not reform after having served a short time for the fourth felony. If he has not learned his lesson earlier the chances are he will never be able to keep clear of the law."

Judge Newman was asked for his views of the law following the account of a unique case in New York City where Judge William Allen was compelled to sentence a negro truck driver to life imprisonment after having been sentenced him to only 18 months. The man's name was Frank Redding. He had committed three felony offenses previously. Judge Allen regretted that he was compelled to impose the sentence.

Redding was sentenced to Sing Sing on Sept. 30. When he arrived at the prison, Warden Lawes, through fingerprints, learned that the prisoner in 1910 was sentenced in Swarthmore, Pa., for burglary, and that in 1924 and 1925 he was arrested in taxicabs which he had stolen while under the influence of liquor. The warden sent a telegram back to Judge Allen for resentence as an habitual criminal under the Baumes law, which went into effect July 1, and the judge requested Edwin J. Cooley, head of the Catholic Charities Probation Bureau, to make an investigation and report at the arraignment.

"You may be what is termed an habitual criminal," said Judge Allen to the prisoner, after reading the report, "but you do not seem to be of a vicious nature. You're not a hold-up man, nor is it recorded that you ever resorted to burglary or robbery in this city. I am very sorry, but I am compelled to add the prescribed sentence I imposed and resentence you under the Baumes laws.

"Some people may say that you had your opportunity and should have known better than to get into trouble after your experience in Swarthmore. Well, you did seem to keep out of trouble from 1910 to 1914, and probably you got into trouble then because you had been drinking. However, the case comes squarely under the Baumes law, and I must sentence you to State's prison for the term of your natural life."

"I am going to ask Louis Fabricant of Fabricant and Collings, the voluntary defenders, to place this case on their docket for future consideration. My sentence of this defendant on Sept. 20 last showed clearly what I thought the offense deserved in the way of punishment. If I had known about this Swarthmore case, I might have given Redding a little heavier sentence, but I am not sure I would have done so had there been no Baumes laws in existence. I rather think there will be a number of cases similar to this which will come up for consideration at some future time."

Car Should be Prepared for Winter; Driving Need Not be More Expensive Than Summer

If it is true that we are in for a long and severe winter, as has been predicted, those who expect to use their cars during the next five months had better take the necessary steps to protect their cars from the rigors of winter and avoid greatly increased expenses. There is no reason why motoring through the winter should cost the car owner one nickel more than in the summer.

Automobile manufacturers long ago realized that the average motorist cannot be persuaded to take decent care of his car and for years their efforts have been to protect automobiles from abuse, to make them "fool proof" in a way and to some extent they have succeeded.

But this does not relieve the owner of all responsibility of fitting his car for winter use. There are some things which the manufacturer cannot do for him. The all-important thing during the cold weather is to make sure that the water in the cooling system cannot freeze. Unless the owner wants to risk having cylinder block, he will either have to empty the radiator every night or whenever a long stop is made in cold weather, or anti-freeze solution must be put into the radiator.

Alcohol, up to now the most popular, has advantages and disadvantages which everyone who ever used it, knows well. Then there are several new ones, including glycerine, which everyone who ever used it, knows well. Then there are several new ones, including glycerine, which everyone who ever used it, knows well. True, it must be the right kind of glycerine; it must be free from acid and alkalie, in a word it must be glycerine which has been prepared for radiator use. A fact that will interest motorists is that it will not evaporate and once the proper solution has been placed in the radiator all that will be necessary is to add a little water now and then, as long as all the water connections are being kept tight.

Racing an engine to get it warmed up on a cold morning and running it for any length of time with the choke open are two of the high crimes of motoring that are costing car owners heavily every year. The oil in the crankcase congeals during the cold weather and will not circulate unless the choke many of the parts will run without lubrication until the oil warms up and flows more freely.

This applies particularly to the cylinder walls, pistons and bearings and if they are damaged an expensive repair bill can be expected. The same applies to a motor that is being run with the choke open. This injects a larger amount of gasoline into the cylinder, some of which is bound to get by the piston, taking the oil that may be on the cylinder walls with it into the crankcase and diluting the oil there.

There is only one way to avoid both of these risks and that is to run the engine slowly with retarded spark and with the radiator shutter open or closed for a few minutes before starting out. While the car is in this way slowly warmed up, the damage to any of its delicate parts, the owner wants to make sure that winter driving will not be dangerous. The totally unnecessary deaths from carbon-monoxide poisoning of automobile exhausts seem to be rather increasing than decreasing.

There are of course a number of other things that must be looked after if the car is expected to run without trouble during the winter. The carburetor should be cleaned and adjusted for a richer mixture, the water system should be cleaned before any anti-freeze solution is put in, the crankcase needs lighter oil and in very cold weather, the spark plugs should be cleaned and the fuel line cleaned out.

While the average motorist has little trouble with his battery during the summer, there is usually lots of battery trouble during the winter. Lights are used to greater extent and more power is consumed in starting the car, so that it is necessary to watch that the battery is always fully charged and that the water in the different cells is kept at the proper level.

COUNTRY CLUB CLOSES SEASON

George Hall, Get Professional, To Leave For Florida Within Few Days

Corning Country Club has just closed one of its most successful seasons and according to an announcement today from George Hall, golf professional at the club, the caddy house has now been closed for the winter.

During the year the greens and fairways have been improved considerably. The course was somewhat changed during the season so that the last five holes have an increased yardage giving an advantage for a better game. Much work has been done on the greens during the season and these essential parts of the course were never in better shape according to local golfers. Much credit is due for this improvement to Leroy C. Chunning, chairman of the greens committee and Herbert Bebbington, green keeper.

Six matches with neighboring clubs were played during the year in addition to the usual local tournaments. Two were played with Watkins, two with Elmira and two with Waverly and with the exception of the one match played at Elmira the local golfers have won every match. The tournament for the club championship was won this year by Robert S. Fish. For the first time in the history of Corning Country Club, a caddy tournament was held during the past season and the affair was such a success in various ways that the officers of the club decided to make it an annual affair.

George Hall, of Painted Post, who has served as the professional on the golf course will leave in about 10 days for Lake Wales, Florida, where he will be assistant professional at the Highland Park Club. He will be assistant to Eddie Kuhn, the professional at Glen Springs, Watkins, during the summer months.

LOCAL LODGE GIVEN PRAISE

Golden Link Members Commended by State Inspector, Mrs. Lillian Youngs

Golden Link Lodge No. 101 of the B. of L. F. and E. received high commendation from Mrs. M. Lillian Youngs, of Port Jervis, official state inspector, who visited the lodge Friday.

Sessions were held in both morning and afternoon in the Odd Fellow's Temple. Following the morning session, which began at 10 o'clock, the lodge held a luncheon at Stanton's Hotel, at which Mrs. Youngs was the honored guest. The meeting was resumed in the afternoon.

Mrs. Youngs found it necessary to make very few corrections in the ritual and expressed great satisfaction with the work of the local organization. Mrs. Clifford Cushing, Jr., president of the entertainment committee announced that she is not a candidacy for the presidency on the 1928 Democratic ticket.

His name has frequently been mentioned as a possible entrant in the presidential race but when asked about the matter he said:

ADVOCATE BOY PATROL WORK

Older Boys Aiding Younger In Crossing Streets Eliminates Accidents

The School-Boy Patrol idea, which has been operated for some time under the auspices of motor clubs in various communities, has developed results which justify the application of the principle on a nation-wide scale, according to a statement issued from the National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association today.

This statement was broadcast following an analysis of the experiences of affiliated A. A. A. clubs which have cooperated with school and civic authorities in establishing Patrols in the schools in their territory.

"Without exception," said the A. A. A. announcement, "it can be stated that wherever the idea has been put into effect and given a fair trial it has not only contributed to the development of the safety instinct among school children but has actually saved many lives and prevented many injuries. No civic activity of motor clubs have proven more worth while than this one."

The following clubs, which are conducting a School Patrol department in connection with their safety activities, have charge of the position of the national motoring body: the Chicago Motor Club, a member of the movement; the Detroit Automobile Club; the Carolina Motor Club, Greensboro, N. C.; District of Columbia Division of the A. A. A.; Automobile Club of Northern Michigan, Saginaw, Mich.; Cincinnati Auto Club; Akron Automobile Club; Automobile Club of Philadelphia; Automobile Club of Berkshire County, Pittsfield, Mass.; and the Automobile Club of Utah.

Commenting on the results, Thomas P. Henry, President of the A. A. A. said:

"The experiment has proven successful. Wherever the older boys in their school have been given responsibility for protecting the younger children in crossing the streets at the peak hour of traffic, accidents are being reduced. Apart altogether from this very practical and much desired result, the plan has made a wonderful contribution to the development of the safety instinct among school children and has helped materially to put across the idea of safety as part of the curriculum.

"The idea of selecting the boys, or the girls for that matter, who stand best in their work and general conduct, for patrol duty is a splendid training for future citizenship. The leaven passes through the school mass and in addition to the fact that it helps to save lives now, we can feel assured that the child who is taught the value of his own life and life is not likely to develop into a careless motorist or pedestrian."

The A. A. A. Executive said that school authorities and civic bodies of various kinds have given splendid cooperation to the clubs that have been responsible for the initiation of the movement.

ANOTHER AUTO BATTERY TAKEN

Sneak Thieves Remove It From Car of George Hanrahan at Erie and Pine

As yet the police have been unable to solve the problem of how to deal with sneak thieves in this city and the work of stealing automobile accessories continues. During the past few weeks there have been almost daily reports of such thefts and despite the fact that the officers of the police department have been instructed to investigate suspicious actions on the part of any one near an automobile, the culprits responsible for the loss to many automobile owners continue their work.

Another case of a battery being stolen from an automobile was reported last evening. George Hanrahan, of East Pulteney street, left his car parked near the American Legion Hall last evening and when he returned to it found that the battery had been taken. Chief Eckess is of the opinion that the various thefts of the past two or three weeks have been committed by the same persons.

Although efforts are being continued to catch the thieves Chief Eckess issues a warning to all automobile owners to take every precaution against theft when parking their cars. In the past, motorists have left the objects sought by sneak thieves but during the past three weeks, spare tires and batteries have been the accessories taken from cars.

RAILROADS PRESENT ARGUMENTS IN PLEA FOR SALARY RAISES

Conductors and Trainmen Ask Approximately 20 Per Cent Increase; Decision of Board Soon

Eastern railroads, affected by the request of 89,000 conductors and trainmen for approximately 20 per cent increase in wages and certain changes in rules, have presented their arguments to the arbitration board at New York and decision of this board is expected awaited by railroad men of Corning.

The proceedings before the arbitration board began on October 26 and terminated on November 13. The demands of the railroad workers were published in The Evening Leader shortly after the proceeding was started and the answering arguments of the eastern railroads as submitted by John G. Walber, vice-president of the New York Central railroad and chairman of the conference committee of the railroads is now given to the public. There remains, if granted, it is claimed, would add about $28,000,000 to the annual operating expenses of the eastern railroads.

According to the agreement to arbitrate, decision must be rendered within 45 days. This makes the final day for the decision December 12. This date may be extended by the agreement of both parties to the arbitration.

The controversy this arbitration board will settle started last February when the conductors and trainmen presented their demands to the eastern carriers. The roads denied them and the matter was finally before a conference committee representing the men and the carriers. No argument resulted and the dispute was referred before the Board of Mediation provided in the Watson-Parker act, which became law last May. This board was appointed by President Coolidge and it began its inquiry in August. Late in that month the arbitration agreement was signed by representatives of the men and the roads and both sides appointed representatives in compliance with the law. On October 4 the Board of Mediation appointed two neutral arbitrators.

Exceptional or purely local conditions are not proper grounds for reaching conclusions Mr. Walber brought out in his argument before the board. In through passenger service high speed main line trains are impressed on the minds of the employees to the exclusion of the very much greater number of passenger trains which consist of only a few cars and rarely only a few passengers he said.

Likewise in local freight service, he continued, the runs on which an exceptional number of cars or an exceptionally heavy tonnage was handled, the impression might be that it take little account of runs on which there were only a few cars or in which a relatively considerable mileage of low train-lead were involved.

Mr. Walber cited the exhibits covering the actual earnings of the employees in through passenger service. Exhibit No. 43 showed that out of 2,412 through passenger conductors in Eastern territory only 217—or 13.14 per cent—earned less than their monthly guarantee of $200, $31—or $1.45 per cent—earned between $200 and $250 per month, 900—or 37.31 per cent—earned between $250 and $300, 201—or 8.33 per cent—earned $300 a month and over.

He then referred to exhibit No. 45 showing that out of 1,466 baggagemen in through passenger service on the Eastern railroads only 141—or 9.62 per cent—earned less than their monthly guarantee of $140 $45—or 3.03 per cent—earned between $200 and $250 a month, 24 earned over $250 a month.

He next referred to exhibit No. 44, which shows that out of 3,691 brakemen engaged in through passenger service on Eastern railroads only 545—or 14.5 per cent—earned less than their monthly guarantee of $141 per month, 710—or 19 per cent—earned between $151 and $170 a month, 1,425—or 39 per cent—earned between $170 and $200 per month, 668—or 18 per cent—earned between $200 and $250 a month, 2 earned $250 and over.

"Surely," said Mr. Walber, "there could be no intelligent basis that conditions under which through passenger service is performed on the Eastern railroads such as to provide adequate, fair, but liberal compensation for these classes of employees. These exhibits show all the conditions of the service performed, whether viewed from the hours per month, days per month, mileage, average per day or any other particular phase, they demonstrate that the conditions of employment and earning possibilities are most favorable.

He then took up the question of paying conductors additional time for making out their reports after they had finished their runs. He showed that in short turnaround and commuter passenger service there was an average of three hours, this off-duty twenty-three minutes for which conductors and trainmen are paid. The responsibility of making a report is a part of the functions of a conductor for which he is paid a higher rate of pay. In practically all forms of service, in most cases ample time is available on the trains for the greater part of the work required by the conductor's report. On most railroads the conductor is allowed until the following day to complete and file his report. Hence, the request for extra pay is unreasonable and should be denied, he stated.

With regard to the proposed requirement that there must be a brakeman in addition to the other members of the crew on every passenger train that carries either baggage, mail or express, he claimed that the employees had introduced no evidence whatever in justification of this demand. He stated that the position of the railroads that actual conditions and the nature and amount of the work to be done on such trains should control the makeup of their crews. The railroads "strenuously object to such arbitrary requirements as would result from the proposed rule," he said.

With reference to the request to classify as a local train every freight train making more than one stop, Mr. Walber showed that the average speed per hour for freight trains has been increased during recent years; and that the railroads have an economic motive of their own in not requiring through freight trains to make unnecessary stops. He cited the large purchases of powerful locomotives in recent years, together with larger tenders and water tanks, this entire investment being intended to increase the speed and tonnage of through freight trains. These heavier locomotives do not have to make the frequent stops for water and these smaller locomotives have to make. As a result, brakemen and conductors do not have to get off their trains so frequently. They thus have not only less work to do, but a reduction in the hasards of their occupation Mr. Walber claimed.

With reference to yard operation, after citing the table showing the actual compensation of the employees engaged, Mr. Walber pointed out that many of the witnesses produced by the employes' organization testified that there were many men who remained in yard service because they were not willing to assume the responsibility of the higher positions in road service. He referred to exhibit No. 46 which showed 8,626 yard mea who worked part time as conductor and part time as brakeman. The ability of these yard men to work part time as conductor is evidence of the fact that their seniority position would entitle them to bid in regular road service assignments according to the chairman.

Away-from-home Expenses

With reference to the away-from-home terminal expenses of conductors and trainmen, Mr. Walber cited the testimony of a number of the employee witnesses, showing that a large proportion of the through service of the Eastern railroads is so arranged as to leave the employee his layover at home. Even on the large number of passenger trains operated between New York and Buffalo, the conductors and employes on these runs were home about two-thirds of their time, according to their own testimony he said. Mr. Walber argued that it is impossible to make any general increase to cover away-from-home terminal expenses which would apply largely to employees who have no such expenses.

Mr. Walber then brought out that bulletin No. 6 of the United States Department of Labor cited by the employees, also included many other forms of labor just as comparable to the railroad employees as those which they have cited whose rates of pay were not comparable with those received by railroad employes. He further pointed out that the figures in this case show the actual earnings of railroad employes, whereas the figures submitted do not show the actual earnings of the employees with whom comparison is made. He also pointed out that the rates of pay in the bituminous mining industry had been established in part because of the large amount of time within the year in which the employees had no work.

He further stated that builders seem to be helpless with regard to building costs and are simply transferring these costs to the users. Railroads are not in a position to pass the costs on to their users, regardless of their reasonableness, because their charges to the public are regulated by national and state commissions, he said. He also pointed out that the volume of traffic fluctuations in the volume of traffic do such conditions of irregular employment as to provide adequate and regular employment to obtain in the railroad industry.

Not Piece-workers

With reference to the contention that the conductors and trainmen were piece work employees and therefore entitled to increased compensation as their trains produce increased transportation, Mr. Walber said:

"We desire to point out that there is no similarity whatever between piece work operations and the operation of a train. In piece work operation in the shop, the employee contributes to the time of operation; many piece work operations are paid on the basis of time; other piece work operations are paid unit prices for a given job. These employees can increase the output through their own efforts. The employees in engine and train service have nothing whatever to do with the output. The piece of work is fixed; the total run must be made. The employee has nothing to do with the number of cars to be handled in freight or passenger service, the number of passengers carried, or the number of tons handled.

With reference to conductors and trainmen having participated equally with engineers and firemen in increases in compensation, Mr. Walber pointed out that these increases had been as follows:

"Increase in average compensation per hour, 1925, as compared with 1922.

| | |
|---|---|
| Engiemen and firemen | 6.1% |
| Conductors and trainmen | 6.4% |
| All other employees | 3.9% |

Average for all employees 4.4%

Mr. Walber concluded:

The interstate Commerce Commission has decided that rates shall be fixed so that they shall return in the aggregate 5½% for a given rate making district and that under the "individual carriers are entitled to retain 6% if earned before any recapture takes effect. One of the representatives of the employes stated that in his opinion, 5½% was not sufficient; still after years of adversity, when many of the roads in this district barely earned their fixed charges and when very few earned the 5½%, and while the carriers in the Eastern District in the aggregate did not earn 5% in 1925, they are now being asked to increase the wages of these employees.

"The testimony shows the effect of a comparatively slight recession in business on the earnings of the carriers; it also shows that the earnings per ton per mile are gradually and steadily decreasing.

"There is continuing pressure from the public for further reductions in freight rates and passenger fares.

"Consideration of all the circumstances involved in this case, the high earnings which these employees are now receiving as demonstrated by Exhibits 43 to 60, inclusive, and particularly the preferred position of conductors and trainmen as related to other classes of employees, as shown in Exhibit No. 34, forces the conclusion that no increases in the rates of pay of these classes of employees can be justified."

WELLSBORO HI HAS FINE A. A.

WELLSBORO, Pa., Nov. 20—The following have been elected to hold offices of the newly organized Athletic Association at the Wellsboro High School.

President Welles Clark. Welles is a senior this year, and is a great lover of athletics. He plays both basketball and base ball and should make a good president. He has a lot of work to do but it is being done.

The Vice Presidency is filled by Lawrence Erwin who is another lad who likes athletics. Lawrence is a senior and is doing much to make the Association a success.

The secretary's department is handled by Edward McCarthy who is aggressive and willing to keep his end up. Edward was one of the star football players, but due to an accident last summer is unable to take part in games which sure is hard on "Ed."

The treasurer is Miss Pitzonki, and her assistant is William Buttaro. Miss Pitzonki is a teacher of the school and is very popular especially in girls' basketball. The receipts are many but leave it to Miss Pitzonki and William to record them.

These members have proved to the school that they can do the work that is put upon them and are making a success. It seems that more interest is taken in athletics this year. May be it is due to the social end of the Association.

The members joining have the privilege of attending a social meeting every month where dancing, card playing and a discussion of affairs in general are enjoyed. The social end has put a great spirit into the school.

AROUND THE EMPIRE STATE

Motor cars still whiz through Chestertown, but children, dogs, chickens and livestock have learned to keep off the highway and are not confined as they were upon a certain day 20 years ago.

It was July 16, 1906, the occasion when 100 automobiles touring for the Glidden trophy, cherished prize of the motor car's infancy, that the smaller animals were ordered confined and children kept from the roads. A photograph on the wall of a bar-room still bears testimony to the momentous day. It reads:

"WARNING

Strong Appeal in Red Cross Poster

THIS new American Red Cross poster, the work of Lawrence Wilbur, is regarded as one of the most notable of Red Cross Roll Call posters since the world-famous "Greatest Mother in the World" design of war days.

More than 150,000 copies of this new poster, displayed in every county of the United States, will be used to call attention to the enrollment campaign of the American Red Cross, for 1927 membership. For this purpose the Red Cross will launch the Tenth Annual Roll Call of members on Armistice Day, November 11, and continues the appeal until Thanksgiving, November 25, this year. Through membership the Red Cross derives support for its varied activities from the duty of extending relief in disaster, to the equally important service for disabled veterans, together with many other responsibilities which are obligations of the organization under its charter from Congress.

NO APPLICATION AS YET FOR POSITION OF COMMISSIONER OF TAX

Mayor Rood Announces Appointment Will Probably be Made for First Meeting in New Year

Corning's new department of assessment and taxation as created by Common Council under an ordinance adopted in September, 1925, will become effective on January 1, 1927. This ordinance provides for one commissioner in place of the present board of three assessors and as yet no action has been taken toward the appointment of an official for the position.

Mayor Harry A. Rood when interviewed today stated that the appointment would undoubtedly be made at the first meeting of Council after the first of the year. He further stated that as yet he has received no formal applications for the office although it is generally understood that there are at least three candidates for the position.

The adoption of the ordinance creating this new department was passed during the administration of Mayor James P. Hallahan who had long urged such action. It meant the culmination of legislation which he has sponsored for over a year. This new ordinance was adopted under the provisions of Chapter 300 of the laws of 1921 and could not take effect until after the expiration of the terms of office of the three assessors who were holding office at that time. The ordinance provided, however, that no successor should be elected to succeed those whose terms expired after the law was adopted. Munson B. Dowd and Robert F. Simmons were the retiring assessors in December of last year but under the ordinance they held over until the expiration of the third assessor, James Chambers, whose term will expire on December 31, this year.

Under this new law three elective offices are eliminated and the appointment of the commissioner of assessment and taxation is made by the mayor subject to the confirmation of Council. This commissioner will be the only officer of the new department and his term of office shall be subject to the pleasure of the mayor as provided by law. The salary of the office will be $2,000 yearly but this sum is to cover the entire expense of the department. The commissioner may be removed from office for misconduct or misfeasance in office.

The plan for such a department was one that Mayor Hallahan recommended in his first annual message to Common Council in January, 1924, and one which he consistently urged on various occasions. Finally in August, 1925, a committee was appointed to investigate the feasibility of the plan and this committee was made up of Aldermen Reagan, Beck and Uri Mulford, and City Attorney Ferris. When this committee reported favorably on the plan it was brought out that 15 cities of the state were then already working under such a system and that they had found it successful.

There was an old fashioned Adirondack bee recently at North Thurman for the purpose of repairing the sheds of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

It is usually the preparing of a big dinner that is the woman's share in church affairs. In this instance, however there was a shortage of men so the women not only prepared the noon meal but assisted the men in carrying lumber and doing other heavy work.

Despite the shortage of men, dusk found the sheds repaired and ready for several more years service.

People live long in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wells recently celebrated, the sixty-fourth anniversary of their marriage. They have passed all their lives in the valley at the base of Lavery Mountain in the Gord section of northern Warren county.

Both are hearing the century mark, but are active and happy.

So plentiful have deer become in this section that they wander lonely around residential portions of Binghamton.

A fawn, about the size of a large German dog, strolled serenely down Tompkins street, in a thickly populated portion of the city, a few days ago.

The animal crossed through gardens, jumped fences, trotted across river flats and made its way to a patch of woods, south of the city.

It has just been estimated by the New York State College of Agriculture and the Geneva experiment station, that apple growers in western New York were saved $200,000 in spraying and dusting materials this season through spray service information that was sent to fruit men.

The largest item in the saving was on material ordinarily used for aphid or plant lice control. This past season the increase owing to those who used the spray information was $45 each.

Where injury from aphids has occured it was generally in localities and on varieties which were not considered free from danger. Some localities were not free from aphids and had to use the regular spray precautions. This was true especially in the Hudson Valley.

President of Lions Made An Honorary Indian Chief by White Horse Eagle

John L. Thomas, president of Corning Lions Club and treasurer of Corning Glass Works, was made an honorary Indian chieftain by Big Chief White Horse Eagle, of the Onago Indian Tribe, at an intercity city Lions meeting held in Elmira last evening. There were 10 members of Corning Lions and two Corning guests present at the gathering which included representatives from Corning, Binghamton, Hornell, Sayre, Pa., and Elmira.

After a most interesting talk, the Onago Indian Chief in giving tangible evidence of his friendship towards the whites conferred several honorary chieftainships. He named Mr. Thomas as Chief Tosa-Ka-Sha meaning in the Indian language, "keeper of the gold and silver." Thomas gave a short talk at the dinner.

The Indian Chief, who was recently featured in some motion picture scenarios including "The Covered Wagon" buried the tomahawk for peace with the declaration, "Whatever my ancestors have done and whatever your ancestors have done in the past is all forgotten and we now are all one great American family."

Big Chief White Horse Eagle is 104 years old according to his calculations and said that he expects to live to be 1,000 or more. He attributes his longevity to the fact that he never stays dying but instead studies about living and how to enjoy life. He told of the tests he passed when 14 years of age to become a chief. He referred to his acquaintance with all presidents of the United States from Abraham Lincoln to Calvin Coolidge, expressing a particular fondness for Theodore Roosevelt who he said made his mother a substantial gift for having the largest American family—11 boys and 11 girls.

Members of Corning Lions Club who attended were: John L. Thomas, Harold Richardson, Harry Caflin, Frank Irving, Percy L. Ross, Fred Tanner, Russell Searles, Clarence Button, Roy B. Lapp and George W. Pratt. The two Corning guests were Francis Jones and Arthur Windle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(AP)—Heavy buying of Baldwin Locomotive, which advanced over eight points to 148 3-4, the highest price in seven years, overshadowed all other developments in today's brief session of the market. Most of the other standard industrials rallied in sympathy, although bear traders succeeded in uncovering a few weak spots in scattered sections of the list. In view of the absence of many traders, who were out of the city attending football games, trading was in fairly heavy volume.

The rise in Baldwin was accompanied by the announcement that the road had just received an order for 75 locomotives from the Pennsylvania railroad. General Motors, which was heavy early, rallied sharply, in sympathy with a three point rise in Mack Trucks. U. S. Steel common also received better support.

The brisk demand for Federal Light and Traction, which moved up over two points to a new 1926 price, was associated with rumors of open market buying for control. Sugar shares continued to move up in further response to the higher commodity prices and the downward revision of sugar crop estimates. A sudden inquiry for Continental Baking 'A' also attracted considerable attention. Renewal of selling pressure against Electric Refrigeration sent that stock to a new 1926 low at 29 1-4.

Further accumulation of the St. Paul issues and a five point jump in Pittsburgh and West Virginia featured the trading in railroad shares. The Kansas City Southern, the first road to report its October earnings, showed a decline of $46,198 in net income compared with the same month last year, which was somewhat of a surprise on Wall street. The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Selling of the motor shares contrasted with further buying of public utilities, tobacco and specialty issues at the opening of today's stock market. General Motors opened a point lower but Radio and Reynolds Tobacco "B" showed substantial initial gains.

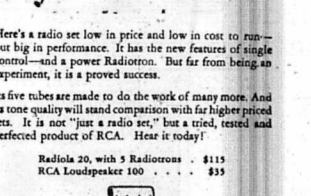

Heavy buying of Baldwin, which was quickly bid up to a new 1926 high at 143 1-2 turned the course of prices upward before the end of the first hour. Points of strength quickly developed in the motor, farm implement, amusement and mercantile shares, as "shorts" who had sold stocks freely in yesterday's late trading, rushed to cover their commitments. Tobaccos were accumulated on a large scale on the prospect of record breaking holiday business. Case Threshing Machine, which was under pressure earlier in the week, rallied nearly 3 points above yesterday's final quotation, and Mack Trucks, Woolworth, Warner Pictures "A," Liggett and Myers "B" and Du-Pont sold one to 2 1-2 points higher. Another jump of ten points in French francs, bringing the demand rate to 3.88 1-2 cents, or within a quarter cent of the year's high, stirred the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held firm around $4.84 3-8.

THE TOLEDO, PEORIA and Western Railroad Corporation has been formed in Illinois for the purpose of taking over the property of the Toledo, Peoria and Western railway purchased at a foreclosure sale in connection with its receivership. George P. McNear, general manager, announced that no merger negotiations were under way and that the road would continue to be operated as an independent line.

A GOOD DEMAND for steel bars, plates and sheets is reported from the Chicago district, steel jobbers, expecting November business to compare favorably with that of October which was unusually good. Inquiry for structural material out of stock has been well maintained although there has been some slowing down in construction work.
